Adm. Nimitz Silent on Progress in Okinawa Fight

GUAM, June 6 [Wednesday] (AP)—In new blockading sweeps of the Korea coast, Privateers of fleet air wing 1 exploded a large Japanese oiler, sank three small cargo ships and damaged a small freighter on Monday, a fleet bulletin reported today.

The successful attrition of enemy shipping between Asia and Japan, forcing the Japs to resort to a circuitious route farther north, points up one important objective of the Okinawa invasion. That is to close more tightly a shipping blockade ring around Japan.

Today's bulletin reported only scattered aerial actions and, for the first time, omitted all mention of the fighting on Okinawa, at present in its closing phase.

Mentions "Adverse Weather"

The nearest the bulletin came to reporting the situation on Okinawa, where the Japanese have been compressed into the southern one-thirteenth of the island, was in saying there was "adverse weather" which prevented enemy air activity on Monday.

The aerial harassment of Japanese shipping between Korea and Japan thru the Tsushima and Korea straits has forced the Japanese to use a longer route thru Manchuria to supply forces on the mainland.

The only traffic moving between Korea and Japan at present must sneak in darkness or bad weather.

Strike Off Honshu Island

Planes of fleet air wing 18 sank three small enemy cargo ships and damaged three off the Japanese main island of Honshu on Tuesday. Other planes attacked a naval station and other installations in the Kuriles Monday.

The bulletin said the British fleet, which has been in coördinated operations with the United States Pacific fleet, primarily concerned with the southern Ryukyus, had lost a total of 70 officers and men killed or missing and 34 seriously wounded.

American 10th army troops fought Japanese resistance pockets on muddy Okinawa as an official "well done" from Fleet Adm. Nimitz indicated the island's conquest may be completed within three or four days.

Pressed in Three Pockets

The Japanese were compressed in three pockets on the remaining 38 square miles of Oroku and Chinen peninsulas and the southern tip of the island.

The message from the commander in chief of the Pacific ocean areas congratulated Lt. Gen. Buckner's 10th army soldiers and marines on their rapid advances of the last few days.

"The manner in which the 10th army is exploiting the destruction of the principal enemy forces and the main enemy positions on Okinawa is most gratifying," Nimitz said.

HOW U. S. UPSET ODDS IN BATTLE OF LEYTE GULF

The part of navy flyers in the greatest sea battle in history—the battle of Leyte gulf—is told in four articles beginning today. The battle, which resulted in the destruction of nearly half of the Japanese fleet, was won thru flyers' heroism, which saved a group of baby aircraft carriers.

BY CHARLES BALLENGER

Just as dusk was blurring the outlines of Siargao Island, about 30 miles southeast of Leyte, a group of navy pilots, bone weary after 14 months of constant combat in the Pacific, filed into the ready room of the escort carrier Sangamon. They were to get their briefing for a target combat patrol the next morning in support of Gen. MacArthur's landing in Leyte gulf.

Capt. J. M. Carson

It probably would be the same type of strike the flyers in this carrier group had been making in support of every landing since the invasion of Tarawa. They had participated in some 14 separate actions.

The carrier intelligence officer, Lt. Phillip A. Ray, a likable chap from San Francisco, Cal., who received his share of kidding because of a receding hairline, came into the room, charts and reports under his arm.

Jap Naval Forces on Move

"Altho we are still scheduled to fly cover for MacArthur tomorrow," he said, "you gentlemen will be interested to know that guerrilla forces and others have reported large Jap sea forces moving in the South China and Sulu seas."

This was Oct. 23, 1944. It was the first official word these fighting pilots of the CVE [escort carrier] group received of the battle which in the next two days was to develop into the greatest naval engagement in history.

In less than 12 hours the men in that room and in rooms like it in 16 CVEs scattered in three groups around the entrance to Leyte gulf were to engage a major portion of the Japanese fleet. It was to be a battle which always will rank near the top in naval annals for sheer audacity, heroism, and fighting spirit.

Kit Carson Tells Story

The tactical details of the great battle—now officially called the battle of Leyte gulf—are explained by Capt. Joseph M. [Kit] Carson, who at the time was chief of staff of the carrier groups and now is commanding officer of the Glenview naval air station. Briefly it was this:

The Japanese launched a three

A FINE TIME TO BE THINKIN' OF SARDINES!

Evelyn Nesbit, Actor Quizzed in N.Y. Slaying

New York, June 5 [Special]—Murder in a Park av. setting with operatic and cafe society overtones today had the police homicide squad searching for clues by questioning celebrity friends of the victim's wife, including Evelyn Nesbit of the famous Harry Thaw case and Carlyle Blackwell, matinee idol of the silent films.

The slain man was Alfred E. Langford, 63, wealthy textile and leather executive. He was killed by a .38 caliber bullet as he stood in the foyer of his suite in the Hotel Marguery talking to two men who had asked to see his wife, and whom she had refused to receive.

The wife, wealthy in her own right and known as a "Lady Bountiful" to a number of singers and musicians whose careers she has aided, is the former Marion Mayer Grimes, 70, daughter of a retired public utility magnate. She and Langford were married three years ago.

Callers Go Unidentified

Jacob Grumet, chief of the homicide division of the district attorney's office, said tonight that after questioning at least 80 persons the authorities knew no more than when they started about the identities of the two short, dark men in topcoats who called at the Langford suite.

One of their most promising leads, however, came from Miss Nesbit, who described herself as a close friend of Mrs. Langford and said she was present on one occasion when an unidentified man demanded money from her. Detectives recalled that at least twice in the past Mrs. Langford had summoned police when men made demands on her for money. Miss Nesbit, former model and show girl, was the central figure in the slaying of Stanford White by Miss Nesbit's husband, Harry K. Thaw, and Thaw's subsequent trial in 1906.

Police interrogated Carlyle Blackwell late in the day. Several years before her marriage to Langford, Mrs. Langford and Blackwell were reported engaged.

Fails to Hear Shot

Insistence by Mrs. Langford that she heard no shot at the time her husband was slain was one of the puzzling facts of the case. She told police that she and Langford were in the bedroom of their apartment when their attention was called about 9 p. m. to a sound at the outer door by the growling of "Wenny," their black Pekingese.

Langford went to the door, she said, and returned to tell her that two men wanted to talk to her about Raphael Diaz. Diaz was a former Metropolitan opera singer and a protege of Mrs. Langford. He has been dead nearly two years.

Mrs. Langford said she told her husband to tell the men she didn't know them and wouldn't see them. He returned to the hall and shortly afterward she heard what she described as a "thud." When Langford failed to return after a few minutes his wife stepped from the bedroom to the hall and found him on the floor fatally wounded. He was dead when a physician arrived.

An elderly elevator operator was able to give only a vague description of the Langfords' callers. He said they did not use the elevator to leave the hotel and it was presumed they fled down one of two available stairways.

Police said they intend to question as many acquaintances of the Langfords as they can find. They said this would be a lengthy job as Mrs. Langford knew hundreds of people in New York cafe society and in the world of art and music. Scores of names found in a telephone memorandum book in the apartment were being checked.

'Pop,' 101, Full of the Dickens, Says Fiancee

Racine, Wis., June 5 [Special]—When James Augustus Cooper, 101 years old, gets thru with his day's work of trimming trees next Saturday he's going to take his third bride at a ceremony set for 6 p. m.

"I may be just a little late but I'll try to make it on time," Cooper today warned his fiancee, Mrs. Julia Wespatet, 62. "I've got to trim 16 trees on the north side of town but I'll hurry home and wash up and try to get here on the dot."

They sat on a davenport with their arms around each other in Mrs. Wespatet's home as they talked of their plans for a bright future together. Cooper is a spry little man, about 5 feet 7 inches tall, with a flowing mustache, good head of hair and a spritely humor. His bride to be is white haired, plump, matronly, and good natured.

"Full of the Dickens"

"Pop's full of the dickens most of the time," she told interviewers.

Asked how they came to decide on marriage, Cooper replied:

"Well, we were both all alone. We knew each other, we live only a couple of blocks apart, and thought it would be a good idea."

Naturally he was asked to what he attributed his longevity.

"Good living and good women," he shot back quickly. "I don't use glasses except when reading and my hearing is so good I can hear a rat run across a carpet. My father lived to be 107 and my grandfather to 115.

Reception in Saloon

"If more men would wear big mustaches like mine, they would live a long time too. You know hair is hollow and there's a connection of blood vessels between the lip and the top of the head."

Mrs. Wespatet had been a waitress at a local lunch place until a week ago when she became engaged to Cooper and he told her she would have to quit her job.

He said his first wife died in 1868, his second in 1923. He has lived here for 51 years but was born in Buffalo, N. Y. Mrs. Wespatet's first husband died in 1941. She has five grown sons and daughters.

Conceding that he likes "a little nip now and then," Cooper disclosed that the wedding reception Saturday night will be held in a local tavern.

4 NATIONS SIGN GERMAN RULE PLAN; CRISIS REACHED AT FRISCO PARLEY

U. S. and Britain Refuse to Yield on Veto Issue

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

San Francisco, Cal., June 5—The controversy over the veto power in the international security conference developed tonight into a world crisis of far reaching implications.

The next 48 hours in the opinion of many of the statesmen assembled here will be the most critical for the conference to construct a new league of nations to enforce peace and for the future welfare of the world. It is expected that the next 48 hours will determine:

1. Whether the door is to be opened for soviet Russia to rule the world.
2. Whether there is to be a world peace league with or without Russia as a member.
3. Whether the peace league will be completed here or at another conference later.

Showdown on World Rule

The controversy between the United States, Great Britain, France, and China on the one hand and Russia on the other over the veto power, important as it is in the world peace plan, is now revealed to possess a far greater significance.

It is really a showdown between the United States and Great Britain on the one side and Russia on the other on the question whether the soviet union is to continue unchecked in its domination of other nations. If Russia wins the battle of San Francisco it is the opinion of the British and Americans that the way will be open for the soviet to gather Europe into its grasp and to reach out for other fields to conquer.

Truman Unyielding

The American delegation, with the support of President Truman, has taken an unyielding stand against Russia on the veto question as the test of future relations with the soviets. Stalin has been served with notice to agree or disagree with the American stand. The Americans are supported unqualifiedly by the British and the Chinese and less enthusiastically by the French. Also lined up in support of the Americans are the overwhelming majority of the smaller countries.

President Truman has been the moving power in the development of this American policy from the start. To discuss and formulate it was the real reason that the President recalled State Secretary Stettinius to Washington for three days a fortnight ago. Mr. Truman is guiding the moves of the delegation daily and presumably is laying the situation before Stalin thru Harry Hopkins in Moscow.

Gist of Controversy

The veto controversy is this:

Russia contends there was an agreement of the Big Three at Yalta that under the voting procedure there adopte even the discussion of an international dispute by the peace league's security council could be vetoed by any one of the Big Five powers not a party to the dispute.

The United States and Great Britain assert there was no such

REPORT SOVIETS SEIZED 16 POLES IN U. S. TRUCKS

BY WALTER TROHAN
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., June 5—An eyewitness story of the soviet arrest, with the aid of American lend-lease trucks, of 16 leaders of the Polish underground was being studied in official circles tonight.

Arrow locates Prasskow

The details of the arrest constituted the first official information that has been received about Polish democrats since Russian Foreign Commissar Molotov casually announced at San Francisco they were being held for diversionary activities against the Red army.

It is not known whether the 16 leaders are alive. Polish sources here believe the leaders may have been killed and that in that event they will be tried posthumously, not an unusual soviet procedure.

Were Alive March 30

Reports that the leaders had been killed around March 16 had been given some credence in the capital. According to the eyewitness story, which reached here today, the men were alive as of March 30.

According to the official account, the 16 Poles, who had been fighting German occupation of their mother country since Sept. 1, 1939, notified the Polish government in exile in London they had been approached by the Russians for a consultation on the broadening of the Polish government.

For 10 days the London government, which is recognized by Britain and the United States, and the Polish leaders discussed the basis for conversations looking toward the formation of a Polish government with representation from Lon-

OVERSEAS TRIBUNE FIRST NON-MILITARY PAPER IN GERMANY

BREMERHAVEN, Germany, June 5 (AP)—The first American nonmilitary newspaper to be printed in Germany — the Chicago Overseas Tribune — rolled from the presses in Bremerhaven today for distribution to the four United States armies of occupation.

Larry Rue

Larry Rue, veteran Chicago Tribune foreign correspondent, said that 5,000 copies were printed on this week's test run, but that next week's edition will reach 20,000.

The Bremerhaven edition of the Chicago Overseas Tribune is identical with those issued in the Hawaiian Islands, Canal Zone, the Philippines, and India.

A German civilian staff handles the publication here under Rue's direction.

First Meeting of Control Council Ends Abruptly

BY DREW MIDDLETON
[New York Times Correspondent Representing the Combined American Press]

BERLIN, June 5 (AP)—Gen. Eisenhower, Marshal Zhukov, Field Marshal Montgomery and Gen. De Lattre de Tassigny met today in this wasted and silent city and signed a joint declaration announcing assumption of supreme authority in Germany by the governments of the United States, the soviet union, Great Britain and France.

The declaration was signed at 5:55 p. m. [central European time] this afternoon in the dance hall of a rest home for Red army officers which the Russians have built beside the Spree canal in the Koepenick section of Berlin.

Immediately afterward the four military leaders with their principal political and military assistants held the first meeting of the quadri-partite allied control council which will govern occupied Germany.

Reds Balk; Meeting Ends

The meeting ended abruptly, however, when the American, British, and French representatives learned that the soviet member of the council, Marshal Zhukov, was not empowered to do more than sign the declaration and did not wish to discuss the organization of the control council or its methods of procedure until all outstanding questions have been settled.

The principal question which the Russians have in mind is the dispersal of the forces of the two principal western allies, the United States and Great Britain, until American troops move out of parts of the proposed Russian zone of occupation and the British troops withdraw from area east of the Elbe which they now occupy. Zhukov, who leaned heavily on the council of M. Vyskinsky, deputy commissar for foreign affairs, thruout the meeting, is unwilling to discuss anything further.

The dispersal of divisions in the American and British areas cannot be completed until the boundaries of the various zones of occupation are announced by the four governments concerned.

The entire signing ceremony took only 25 minutes. Zhukov then requested the heads of delegations to accompany him out onto the veranda overlooking the River Spree for a private consultation.

Next Meeting Date Not Set

Originally, it had been expected that this meeting would develop immediately into the first session of the allied control council for Germany. It had been thought likely that the council would immediately start discussing where it should make its permanent headquarters, if Berlin proved impossible. Zhukov made it clear, however, that he had no instructions from his government to carry on any further discussions until the withdrawal of American troops from the zone of Germany to be occupied by the Russians is completed. It was agreed in principle, therefore, that further meetings should be held at an early date, but no specific time or place was set.

The Russians had prepared one of their now famous banquets, but both Eisenhower and Montgomery said they must return to their headquarters tonight. Shortly before 7 p. m. the meeting broke up and the leading delegates drove back to Templehof air field for the return flight.

Ike Returns to Frankfurt

Thus the day, which began with such high promise, ended in frustration. After a brief chat with the other council members over some vodka, Eisenhower left Berlin for his headquarters at Frankfurt at about 7:30 p. m. The supreme commander had expected that the declaration would be signed at noon today and called a meeting for tonight at Frankfurt.

The signing of the four power declaration originally had been set

Restaurants Face Red Point Cut

Washington, D. C., June 5 (AP)—Food rations of the nation's hotels and restaurants will be trimmed for July and August to bring them more closely in line with the point purchasing power of housewives.

The cut, to be announced by the national OPA soon, will affect allotments of meats and fats, canned fruits and vegetables, and sugar, it was learned tonight.

The reductions, which are expected to hit hardest at quality restaurants and hotels which serve large portions, will be 20 per cent for meats and fats, 12 to 15 per cent for fruits and vegetables and 20 to 25 per cent for sugar. Differences in the classification of these institutional users account for the range.

OPA's decision to order the cut follows numerous complaints from housewives that public eating places have been receiving a disproportionate share of the limited food supply, it was reported.

This is the new schedule, as compared with 50 blue points and 50 red points a month granted to household consumers:

Based on 90 meals a month a person, hotels and restaurants which do most of their own baking will receive about 58 red points a month. Other eating places will get 63 points. The current institutional ration is 72 points.

The allotment for canned fruits and vegetables will be trimmed from 63 blue points to 50.

The new sugar allotment can be compared only on a percentage basis, since sugar is not rationed under the point system.

VEGETABLE MENUS HERE

Chicago restaurants will be forced to adopt vegetable menus if point cuts reported to be planned for restaurants and hotels are officially confirmed, Donald Kiesau, executive vice president of the Chicago Restaurant association, said last night.

Wrong Man Shot as Mussolini Aid

BY P. E. BRIQUET
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

CHIASSO, Switzerland, June 5—The mystery surrounding the supposed execution of Attilio Terruzzi, one of the fascist hierarchy, has been cleared up. It appears that the man executed as Terruzzi at the time Mussolini was shot, was a bystander who resembled the lieutenant general of militia in the neo-Fascist regime in north Italy. The real Terruzzi has since been sentenced by a court martial to 30 years' imprisonment.

When Mussolini and his companions were shot and then hanged head downward, at the end of their last flight, a man closely resembling Terruzzi was noticed in the crowd surrounding the scene.

The furious partisans dragged him out, shot him against a wall, and hanged him with the others. A dispute arose, however, among those present as to whether it was the real Terruzzi or not.

Another gruesome incident of this mass execution was the way in which Achille Starace, former secretary general of the Fascist party, was killed. He was brought, alive, before the corpses of the others, and compelled to recognize and then kiss them, one by one. Then he was shot, and hanged next to Mussolini.

for noon but was delayed somewhat by the late arrival of the British and French parties.

A further hitch occurred when the Russians sent a soviet foreign office official to Eisenhower's villa to say that Russia desired to make last minute changes in the wording of article 10 to avoid offending Japan.

This article reads: "The forces, nationals, ships, aircraft, military equipment, and other property in Germany or in German control or service or at German disposal, of any other country at war with any of the allies, will be subject to the provisions of this declaration and of any proclamations, orders, ordinances, or instructions issued thereunder."

Flies to Berlin

Gen. Eisenhower flew from his headquarters at Frankfurt to meet with the commanders.

Ambassador Robert Murphy, Gen. Eisenhower's political adviser during the campaign on the western front and head of the political division of the United States group control council, Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, Eisenhower's deputy on the council, and Vice Adm. Robert L. Ghormley, head of the council's naval division, accompanied Eisenhower.

Also in the party of about 60 officers and GI's were Maj. Gen. David M. Schlatter, deputy chief of the headquarters air staff, Brig. Gen. Byron L. Milburn, the United States group control commissioner, and Lt. Col. Ernest R. Lee, Eisenhower's aide.

Nine Planes Carry Party

Gen. Ivan Sokolovsky of the Red army and Gen. Polutnik Bersarin greeted Eisenhower on sun splashed Templehof air field as the general's ship and eight other transport planes landed. A Red army band struck up the Star Spangled Banner and the Russian national anthem while the American and Russian officers stood at salute.

"It is a tremendous honor for me to be here and to greet commanders of the great Red army which did so much to bring the German to his knees," Eisenhower said in a brief broadcast over the Russian radio.

The American commander inspected a guard of honor of Siberian infantrymen drawn up in a long line on the apron of the air field. Later Russian troops marched past and Eisenhower took the salute.

The American commander's temporary headquarters is a spacious white villa surrounded by several smaller villas. Gen. Clay, ambassador Murphy, and other members of the party also will stay there.

The long convoy of limousines which carried the American party drove thru a dead and silent city. The only persons on the streets thru which the automobiles traveled were sentries and smartly uniformed Russian women military police, who guided the party with signal flags of bright yellow and red.

Reich Is Allied Protectorate

SUPREME HDQ., ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCES, Paris, June 5 (AP)—In the most drastic terms ever dictated to a defeated power, the joint allied military control council has assumed all responsibility for the military, civilian and economic administration of Germany and has declared null and void every vestige of authority created by Hitler's third reich.

The declaration virtually wiped out Germany's status as a nation and left it an allied protectorate.

Whittle Germany's Size

The terms whittled Germany down to its pre-1937 borders, shaking loose Austria, the Sudetenland and all other territories formerly occupied by Germany and left the door open for further alterations of its frontiers.

The council ordered German prisoners utilized as mine removal squads and laid full responsibility on the civilian and military personnel for turning over all fugitives wanted by the allied crime commission.

The declaration gave the four great powers concerned the authority of life and death over every man, woman and child in Germany. It placed at the disposal of the allies every labor union, industry and remnant of wealth left in the shattered reich.

It demanded full information on the numbers and dispositions of all German land, sea and air forces thruout the war and called for the return of every ship, gun, plane and other material remaining in the hands of German military units thruout the world.

This automatically included the personnel and equipment of secret weather stations known to be operating in the Polar regions and other remote areas.

The declaration minced no words. "Allied representatives will impose on Germany additional political, administrative, economic, financial, military and other requirements arising from the complete defeat of Germany," it said.

Agree on Control Machinery

Washington, D. C., June 5 (AP)—The United States, Great Britain, Russia, and France today announced agreement on machinery to control and impose humbling terms on the country led to disaster by Adolf Hitler.

Final disposition of Germany's territory and determination of her fate await a peace conference. Today's agreement defines the extent of joint allied military control while Germany "is carrying out the basic requirements of unconditional surrender."

The assumption of authority does not mean the annexation of Germany, a separate statement declared.

A third statement issued by the allied representatives declared their intention to consult with the governments of other allied nations in exercising the supreme authority which they assumed today.

Sets Up Control Council

The declaration set up a joint control council to govern Germany. An interallied authority was established for the "greater Berlin area" which will be jointly occupied. The office of chief commandant will be rotated among the four commandants of the respective victor nations.

Germany was divided into four occupation zones—Russia on the east, France on the west, Britain on the northwest, and the United States on the southwest. Provision was made for coöperation among the commanders in chief of the four zones on matters affecting all of Germany. Zone limits were not further described.

The agreement was announced simultaneously in Washington, Moscow, London, and Paris.

"All German authorities and the German people shall carry out unconditionally the requirements of the allied representatives, and shall fully comply with all such proclamations, orders, ordinances, and instructions," the agreement read. If the Germans should fail to comply, the agreement placed no strings on whatever action allied authorities might consider it necessary or appropriate to take.

The declaration, altho drawn up in the English, Russian, French, and German languages, was to be official only in its non-German forms.

Council May Sit in Berlin

The control council to govern Germany for the time being presumably will sit in Berlin. Its permanent location, dependent upon its vast authority over every phase of German life and such practical matters as housing facilities and office space, is expected to be one of the first items of business the council takes up.

A permanent coördinating committee will function under the council to insure uniformity thruout the four zones of occupation. The council's staff will be set up into 13 divisions to administer German affairs. The divisions are: Military, naval, air, transport, political, economic, finance, reparation, deliveries and restitution, internal affairs and communications, legal, prisoners of war and displaced persons, and man power.

Other allied nations are expected to send military missions to establish liaison with the council.

May Set Up Austrian Control

Another announcement defining joint control of Austria is expected to follow shortly. It may be tempered by the Moscow declaration of 1943 which looked toward eventual Austrian independence if the Austrians wanted it enough to work for it.

The Renner provisional government in Vienna, established recently behind Red army lines, is not recognized as a government by any power.

Clarification of Czechoslovakia's status may also be forthcoming as the joint Russo-American occupational problem there is worked out and the Czech government, which already has returned to Prague and is a member of the united nations, reëstablishes its authority.

British Taking Over Ruhr

DUESSELDORF, Germany, June 5 (AP)—British occupation forces are now taking over that part of Germany's Ruhr industrial area originally occupied by Americans and are expected to assume full control there by June 15.

Lt. Gen. Leonard T. Gerow's United States 15th army is relinquishing approximately the northern half of the Rhineland area territory supervised by Maj. Gen. Ernest N. Harmon's 22d corps, which consists of about 5,000 square miles and includes the cities of Duesseldorf, Essen, Wuppertal, Cologne, and Bonn.

FINDS BRUSSELS BELIEVES KING'S RETURN IS NEAR

BY DAVID DARRAH
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

BRUSSELS, Belgium, June 5—The people of Brussels believe the return of King Leopold III. is imminent. Premier Achille Van Acker flew to Salzburg, Austria, where the king is recuperating from ill health which grew out of his internment, and is expected back tonight with a message from Leopold, possibly announcing his decision.

Leopold's civil and military households resigned two weeks ago. These include his personal counselors. The resignations have been accepted. This eliminates two persons in the king's entourage who have been much criticized—Count Capelle, his secretary, and Gen. Van Overstaeten, his military counselor. Both urged Belgian neutrality in the war.

Popular Opinion Divided

The majority in parliament is opposed to the king's return and probably will resign if he resumes the throne, but Van Acker, tho a Socialist, and the Catholic ministers, as well as the Catholic party and many Liberals, favor his return.

Popular opinion is impassioned and divided over what is known here as the "king question." Along walls and on billboards as many signs are chalked up saying "long live the king" as there are signs demanding his abdication.

Opposed by Leftists

When the king's backers stage a demonstration for his recall they march to the royal palace, usually. They have a new salute, an arm extended with the first three fingers spread apart—the three fingers symbolizing their attachment to Leopold III.

The opposition to the king comes from the left parties, that is, the Communists and Socialists. They say there is a widespread popular movement against Leopold because he exceeded his constitutional authority as king, is anti-democratic, and by his actions encouraged the collaborationists in Belgium. They demand his abdication.

LIFE RETURNS SLOWLY TO SHATTERED BERLIN UNDER RED DIRECTION

BY JOSEPH W. GRIGG JR.
[Representing the Combined American Press]

BERLIN, June 5 (AP)—Life is returning slowly to Berlin, the shattered, devastated, half dead capital which fell to the Russians little over a month ago.

When this correspondent visited Berlin on May 8, the day of which the total capitulation of Germany was formally ratified, the city was knocked out completely. Life hardly existed. It was one vast unbelievable shambles—a nightmare desert of desolation and death.

Today the whole center of the city still is completely dead. The entire government and business area has been wiped from the map.

But in the city's outer areas and suburbs life is slowly returning with assistance from the Russian occupation forces. In one southeastern area between Treptow and Leopenick a few street cars are running again. A number of bus lines have been put back into operation.

Food stores are beginning to open again. The water supply has been restored in many parts of the city.

Even now virtually the only traffic seen on the streets is Russian army vehicles. But everywhere Berliners are riding to and from work on bicycles again. At every street corner traffic is controled by a smart Russian WAC.

REPORT DETAILS IN ARREST OF 16 POLISH LEADERS

don and within Poland as well as the soviet sponsored provisional Polish government.

Assured Safe Conduct

On March 25 the London government advised the Polish leaders to meet with the Russians. The London government reported the Russians, who invited the underground representatives to discuss Polish problems, had assured the leaders safe conduct.

On March 27, the Polish leaders arranged to meet Col. Gen. Ivanoff, who instigated the negotiations on behalf of the soviets. A rendezvous was set for March 30 at Pruszkow, 20 miles west of Warsaw.

Under the terms of the negotiations, 12 of the Polish leaders were to be flown to London for negotiations and four were to remain to discuss the formation of a coalition government with a soviet delegation.

The Russians, according to the eyewitness, promised that planes would be made available to fly the Polish leaders to London. The 16 Poles reached the rendezvous at the stated hour on March 30.

As the Polish leaders arrived several American lend-lease trucks lumbered up to the rendezvous. The leaders were herded into the trucks. They have not been seen since nor has the Polish government in London or the Polish embassy here had any word from the leaders since that date.

After the underground leaders disappeared the Polish government attempted to learn something of their fate. Inquiries were made by Britain and the United States as a result of pressure from the recognized government.

These went unanswered until Russia threw a bombshell into the San Francisco conference by casually announcing there that the Poles were under arrest.

Soviet Announcement

"The British and United States governments have been making persistent inquiries of the soviet government about the group of prominent Polish democratic leaders who were reported to have met the soviet military authorities in Poland for discussions at the end of March," an official Russian statement handed out at San Francisco said.

"They have now been officially informed by Mr. Molotov on behalf of his government that these leaders have been arrested on the charge of 'diversionary activities against the Red army.'"

In expressing fears the leaders have already been executed, official Polish circles here recalled the case of Marshal Tukashevsky. This Russian leader was executed and then tried and found guilty of treason by the soviets.

SOVIET POLICIES PEACE THREAT, —LA FOLLETTE

Washington, D. C., June 5 (AP)—Sen. La Follette [Prog., Wis.] said tonight the Dumbarton Oaks plan is a "gilded facade for the old style military alliance" and would never achieve lasting peace.

In a radio speech, La Follette suggested that the charter of the proposed organization be so worded as to prevent "paralysis" of the organization by a veto vote of one nation "determined to achieve an imperialistic purpose."

The United States, he said, should proclaim a series of basic principles stressing willingness to coöperate with the world and emphasizing refusal to support extension of slavery or totalitarianism.

Saying Russian policy in Europe "is a menace to any lasting peace," he also criticized Great Britain and France as pursuing "imperialistic policies which create the breeding grounds for future conflict," adding that Churchill's course in Greece and "his arrogant refusal to discuss any definite plans for freedom for the subject people of the British empire are also menaces to the enduring peace we long for."

REPORTS VETS FIND ENGLAND STEEPED IN VICE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, June 5—Soldiers returning to Britain after several years' absence are disgusted with the country's morals, the Rev. G. E. Durham, Liverpool, an army chaplain, said today.

"The men are disgusted because the country's morals are at the lowest ebb, and vice, stealing, and indifference are rampant in every big city, the chaplain said. "They say that they have been misled by the radio and press into thinking that every one at home was too busy for that sort of thing.

"While fighting in the jungle and desert they built up ideals that are rudely shattered on their return home."

BOYS FIND HANGED MAN

Death Toll Rises to 20 in Bremen Bomb Blast

BREMEN, Germany, June 5 (AP)—The theory that a time bomb caused the explosions yesterday in United States military government police headquarters here, resulting in 20 deaths and more than 100 wounded, was advanced in a preliminary official report released today. Five Americans and 15 Germans have been identified among the dead.

GERMANS UNFIT FOR DEMOCRACY —NIEMOELLER

Pastor Foe of Nazis Tells Dispute with Hitler

NAPLES, Italy, June 5 (AP)—The Rev. Martin Niemoeller, self-described "Hitler's own prisoner and personal enemy," said today that he vainly tried to join the Nazi navy in 1939 because "my sons were out fighting and dying for me and I think a father should die for his sons."

Rev. Niemoeller

"You must take me for what I am," said the Lutheran pastor who attacked nazism from the pulpit in 1937. A U-boat commander in the first World war, he was in a concentration camp for his defiance of the fuehrer, at the time he tried to enlist.

Released after eight years in nazi prison camps by United States 5th army troops, Niemoeller said at a press conference that he could not believe that Hitler—who personally ordered him to a concentration camp—was dead until a "reliable witness has seen his body."

"I read recently that a U-boat had been reported taken with German officers aboard, who were believed trying to escape to Japan. It may be that Hitler was trying to escape and for that reason the Nazis announced he was dead," Niemoeller said.

Democracy Not for Germans

Discussing political issues, the clergyman said that the German people "like to be governed and live under some authority" and that it might be true that the Germans were "incapable of living under a democracy."

Niemoeller said he believed that the type of democracy under which the Germans could live had not yet been found.

Four other prominent Germans who took part in the interview echoed his belief. They were Col. Herman Puender, a former reich chancellor under President von Hindenburg; Dr. Joseph Mueller, a German resistance leader of Munich; Dr. Johann Neuhaeusler, former canon of Munich cathedral, and Ulrich Goerdeler, a Stettin lawyer.

"Deceived by Nazism"

Niemoeller insisted that his opposition to Hitler was never based on political grounds. In a previous interview, delayed by censor from May 18, he said he saw in 1933 that the system of Hitlerism would lead to corruption.

"Until that time I had nourished the hope that national socialism, if it had gone the right way, might have developed into a system for creating good for the German people. I must say that I had been deceived," he said.

But the pastor added that his opposition had always been based fundamentally on religion. Under Hitlerism, he said, "if an individual creed of a person did not coincide with the state creed then his religion became a political crime."

He said that the German people as a whole "don't like to mingle in politics," but he thought they might be a "little more cautious" following their betrayal by the Nazi party.

Esteems Some Reds

For the Communists, he said, "I must say I have a great personal esteem for a lot of them." Then, shrugging his shoulders again, he said:

"Maybe there is a sort of life for Christians under communism. We shall have to wait to see. It is not my special job to say anything about this. But it is my special job to look upon all people as persons of God."

The pastor said he was "shocked and shattered" by the atrocity pictures from inside Germany, adding that he thought the great masses of the German people were unaware that such crimes had been committed by the Nazis.

The pastor said he intended to return to Germany and help the German people rebuild the country on the basis of justice and security for men of all belief.

U.S. OCCUPATION ARMY WILL USE FINE NAZI PORT

Bremerhaven Able to Handle Big Liners

BY LARRY RUE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

BREMERHAVEN, Germany, June 5—Bremerhaven, which the British have turned over to the Americans as a port of supply for the United States occupation forces, is one of the finest small sized ports in the world, according to Col. James A. Crothers, the port commander. Crothers, whose home is in Merchantville, N. J., is an authority on ports, having been a member of the port authority of the state of New Jersey and president of the American Association of Port Authorities. During the war he directed the port activities of Glasgow, Clyde, Bristol channel, and Cherbourg.

"This port, intact and fitted out with everything, can meet all port requirements," Crothers said. "It has deep water; fine docks, including dry docks big enough to handle the Europa and I believe even the Queen Mary or Elizabeth; fine large cranes, cold storage plants, and a fine laundry."

Staff Is Ready

It can easily take care of our army of occupation, having a capacity well over 12,000 tons daily, which is ample for our needs, Crothers said.

Crothers is comfortably installed and ready for the first ship. On his staff are Maj. Frank G. Strachan, New Orleans, La., acting director of operations; Maj. Charles V. Lambe, 1231 Granville av., Chicago, port engineer, and Maj. N. Hawley Vickers, Miami, Fla., executive officer. When the port gets in full stride, Crothers expects he will need between 3,000 to 4,000 civilian dock workers.

Supplies coming into Bremerhaven for our occupation forces will be transported by train to various units.

Mines Must Be Removed

While the port itself is ready to handle incoming ships, the channel still contains many mines and a delay of several days is necessary to do more mine sweeping. Officially the channel is clear for "emergency shipping" but now that the war is over no one is taking any chances. It is expected the first boats will be coming in later this week and the port will be operating full blast by June 15.

PETAIN'S HEALTH CALLED GOOD IN OFFICIAL REPORT

Finding Replies to Pampering Charge

BY ROBERT SAGE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, June 5—Marshal Petain is in excellent health. He has no infirmities, reads his notes without glasses, and has a perfect memory. Altho he is in his 90th year he remains active and looks not more than 70. He replies to questions in a firm voice and signs papers with a steady hand.

These notes on the physical condition of the former chief of state were contained in a report read today to the justice and purge commission headed by Auguste Gillot. The purpose of the report was to refute repeated charges that Petain was being pampered in Fort de Montrouge, where he is being held until his trial in Paris next month.

According to the report the marshal and his wife live in a plain prison cell.

The furniture consists of twin beds of the usual prison variety with mattresses but no springs, an ordinary desk, a small table, an armchair, and two small chairs. The adjoining cell is a small anteroom containing a small table and three chairs where Petain receives visits from his lawyers. He is permitted no other visits and receives no packages.

His meals are the same as those given the fort's personnel.

For exercise, the report said, Petain takes a half hour walk twice daily in the court yard of the fort.

Five judges today went before the Seine court of justice to face charges of intelligence with the enemy.

The five were members of the so-called "special section" of the Paris court organized on German orders in the fall of 1941 to deal with Communist and anarchist activity.

POUND OF TINSEL DECKS GOERING'S FINAL UNIFORM

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

BAD TOELZ, Germany, June 5—"I was a fool to try to fight to the end, but it was my duty to stay with my fighting men," said the commander of the Berlin garrison, Gen. Georg Hofmeister, 52, who for seven months tried to induce Hitler to declare the German capital an open city.

The general was ill and doctors who were watching him, while I talked to him, believed he would not recover. He had suffered a heart attack after his last interview with Hitler and was flown out of Berlin on April 25 to a military hospital in Bad Toelz.

Calls Goering a Buffoon

Tears wet the general's cheeks as he inquired for the latest news of Berlin and for news of a mutual acquaintance, Dr. Johannes Schmidt, a physician, whom the general rescued from a concentration camp last October. Hofmeister had assumed command of the Berlin garrison after his predecessor, Gen. Haase, was executed by the Nazis who charged him with taking part in the attempt on Hitler's life July 20.

When I asked Hofmeister if he could talk about the last weeks in Berlin he seemed to regain strength to curse "that buffoon Goering who didn't do his duty as a politician for at least a year and never has been a soldier anyhow."

What angered Hofmeister most was that on March 20, Germany's memorial day for war dead, "just four weeks before everything ended for us, Goering thought it necessary to turn up at the ceremony in a new uniform. It was beige and he wore bright red morocco shoes with it and had a whole pound of tinsel on his shoulders—that's the kind of buffoon he was."

Helped Strasser Escape

The only thought which seemed to console Hofmeister was the memory of the man [Schmidt] he rescued from a concentration camp in Sachsenhausen. "It was a shame and a disgrace," he said. "Even the chiefs of the state police knew that man was innocent. They did not dare act. But I got him out—you know that, don't you?"

Schmidt was first arrested by the Nazis in 1934 when they discovered he had helped Otto Strasser escape from Germany. They tried to kill him during the blood purge on June 30, 1934, but at that time he was hiding in a death cell of a Munich prison and they killed his namesake who was a well known music critic instead.

For a while Rudolph Hess was one of Schmidt's patients. When Hess escaped to England in 1941, Schmidt and 700 others who had some contact or other with Hess were arrested. Schmidt had not treated Hess for two years. Nevertheless they kept him in a concentration camp until he was released thru the help of Hofmeister.

MIMI FORSYTHE

Los Angeles, Cal., June 5 (AP)—Eighteen years difference in their ages proved an unbridgeable gulf, Actress Mimi Forsythe testified today as she divorced Film Producer Ben Bogeaus after two marriages and two divorce suits.

"We just don't have the same understanding," she declared, adding that she was 23 and Bogeaus 18 years older. "I have an affinity for people my own age, and Mr. Bogeaus didn't like that."

The couple married in Newport, Ky., in 1939, and again in Yuma, Ariz., in 1941, to clear up a question of the legality of the first ceremony, her attorney said. She filed a previous divorce suit in 1943, but they became reconciled for the sake of their son, Gregory, now 4.

CHIEF OF NAZIS' DENMARK ARMY THROWN IN CELL

BY EINAR CHRISTIANSEN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, June 5—Gen. Georg Lindemann, commander of German forces in Denmark, who is accused of being responsible for the execution of numerous Danish patriots, today was placed in a cell in Copenhagen citadel. His cell is next to that of Dr. Werner Best, former Nazi plenipotentiary, also accused of war crimes.

At the request of British authorities, Lindemann was arrested yesterday while strolling near his headquarters at Silkeborg. Approached by members of the Danish brigade, Lindemann surrendered willingly. He asked for permission to take leave of his staff and then shook hands with his pale and nervous officers. No nazi salute was given.

Gen. Lindemann is wanted by the Russians for alleged criminal conduct on the Leningrad front. Holland, too, has an account to settle with him.

NAVAL HISTORY MADE IN BATTLE OF LEYTE GULF

U. S. Davids Conquer Japs' Goliaths of Sea

pronged attack which was intended to wipe out the United States fleet and destroy the beachhead won by MacArthur's troops on Leyte.

The first of these naval groups came thru the Sulu sea to the Surigao strait at the southern tip of Leyte. It consisted of two battleships, two heavy and two light cruisers, and eight or 10 destroyers.

A surprise reception committee of five old battleships, most of them veterans of Pearl Harbor, and PT boats and destroyers met the Jap fleet at Leyte gulf. The battered Japs limped away with only one cruiser and about five destroyers left.

Japs Approach from North

American losses in this sector were one PT boat sunk and one destroyer damaged.

On the afternoon of the same day—Tuesday, Oct. 24—a scout plane reported sighting the northern prong of the threefold attack off the northern tip of Luzon. It included two battleships, four aircraft carriers, four cruisers, and six destroyers.

By daylight the next morning planes from Adm. Halsey's 3d fleet and surface craft, which had raced north from Leyte, had sunk all the carriers, two destroyers, and a cruiser. The United States light carrier, Princeton, had been sunk by the Japs in bombings by land based planes.

Before Adm. Halsey's race northward his carrier planes had attacked the third, or central, Jap force moving thru the Sibuyan sea into San Bernardino strait between Samar and Luzon.

Japs' Feint Fools Halsey

This enemy force, originally composed of five battleships, seven heavy cruisers, one light cruiser, and about 15 destroyers, was damaged and the Jap admiral feigned retirement. Apparently Adm. Halsey believed that the Japs had turned back into the China sea and would not endanger the 16 CVEs standing off Leyte to provide air cover for MacArthur's landing forces.

The Japs fooled the United States naval air scouts, however. This central, or San Bernardino, force which was reported steaming away from action, turned around under the cover of darkness and at dawn on Oct. 24 had emerged from the straits to smash into the northern group of six escort carriers.

This group, under the command of Rear Adm. C. A. F. Sprague, had only the protection of four destroyers and three destroyer escorts. The Japs had four battleships, seven cruisers and about nine destroyers.

The 20 Jap ships carried 16, 14, 8, and 6 inch guns capable of throwing at least 75,000 pounds of shells in salvos. The American ships had only a few 5 inch guns and some 40 mm. anti-aircraft guns.

But the courage and skill of American flyers and destroyer crews, willing to give their lives to save the aircraft carriers, proved too thick an armor even for a fire power as superior as the Japanese.

[Tomorrow's article tells of escort carrier planes flushing out the powerful Jap naval force sneaking back thru San Bernardino strait.]

6 MILLIONS FACE FOOD CRISES IN SOUTH GERMANY

SOUTHERN GERMANY, June 5 (AP)—Six million persons in the southern Germany provinces of Bavaria, Wurttemberg, and North Baden face a serious food shortage unless improved transport and imports make it possible for them to hold out until the new harvest of grains in two months, a military government report said today.

Difficulty in maintaining the daily 2,000 calory food level for displaced persons or the average 1,150 calory level for Germans was foreseen in a survey of current food stocks by the United States 6th army group.

Potato rations for the current year already have been distributed thruout the three provinces and the supply is short. Prospects for all the crops are poor.

Catholic Bishop Attacks Partition of Germany

(Chicago Tribune Press Service)

LONDON, June 5—Calling for a return to the principles of the Atlantic Charter and the four freedoms, Dr. Bernard Griffin, Catholic archbishop of Westminster, said tonight, "We are disturbed by the partition of Europe into separate spheres of control and by the complete blackout that has fallen upon eastern Germany, Poland, the Baltic and Balkan states. Recent events in Syria have shown us how far we are from a real peace."

CHINESE OCCUPY LIUCHOW BASE, GENERAL SAYS

CHUNGKING, June 6 [Wednesday]—(AP)—Gen. Yang-sen, governor of Kweichow, told a Chinese engineers' conference today that Chinese troops occupied the former American air base of Liuchow this morning.

Liuchow, a Kwangsi province rail junction, is 430 miles south-southeast of Chungking. Chinese vanguards yesterday were reported 21 miles from the city.

Army authorities at Chungking said there was no confirmation of the report the city had fallen.

Abandon Four Towns

Japanese troops have abandoned four big industrial towns in the Hong Kong area in a contraction of their holdings along the vulnerable, invasion threatened South China coast, Chinese reports said.

In an area 55 miles west of Hong Kong the Japanese were reported to have pulled out of Hoiping, Szeping, Sunqui, and Toishan, all lying between 43 miles southwest of Canton and 19 miles from the South China sea.

Chinese reports said the contraction of Japanese lines in coastal Kwangtung province had been going on quietly for several weeks, but the reports were not revealed in Chungking until yesterday.

Falling Back Near Formosa

The Japanese also were falling back under Chinese pressure along China's east coast north of the Japanese island of Formosa. In this Fukien province area, Japanese remnants from liberated Siapu, 70 miles northeast of Foochow, were "fleeing" northward toward Futing, 55 miles southwest of the port of Wenchow, the Chinese high command claimed.

Off China's east coast, dispatches claimed that Japanese troops on Yuhawan Island near Wenchow had been wiped out. Chinese repossession of the island threatened any Japanese sea evacuation from Wenchow.

SUB RAIDS JAP CONVOY; SINKS FIVE OF SHIPS

45 Minute Battle Has Nips Screaming

Washington, June 5 (AP)—Sneaking into the middle of a Japanese convoy, the United States submarine Parche blasted five enemy vessels in 46 minutes of furious fighting.

U. S. Sub Parche

The story of the exploit was released by the navy today under its new policy of disclosing as much as it deems feasible of its hitherto hush-submarine operations. Time and place, however, were not disclosed.

Under the command of Comdr. L. P. Ramage of New York, the Parche had stalked the big convoy for several hours on a stormy night. Once it had closed in for the kill, only to be blocked off by escorting war vessels.

First Two Victims

On the second run the Parche maneuvered inside the escort screen. The submarine was running on the surface when it almost rammed the first target.

The submarine swerved off a short distance and loosed torpedoes. There was a loud explosion and the ship was not seen again.

A tanker was the next victim. A torpedo knocked off her bow and she sank almost immediately.

Another tanker came into the Parche sights and again torpedoes found their mark. The ship slowed but stayed afloat.

While the convoy's escort frantically sent up flares and opened up with machine guns, the Parche found a new target—a vessel "with a sizable superstructure."

A bullseye shot amidships broke the vessel in two.

The Parche, under a hail of machine gun fire, turned on her course and again spotted the tanker it had hit earlier. The tanker's small guns laid down a hot barrage.

Sends Tanker to Bottom

Ramage, who got the congressional medal of honor for his work that night, ordered the lookouts below but himself remained on the bridge with the quartermaster.

Soon the submarine fired another torpedo into the tanker, sending her to the bottom.

The Parche then started for the biggest ship of the group. Suddenly, however, a small enemy ship loomed on the submarine's starboard bow and raced forward, apparently intending to ram. The Parche swung around almost alongside the Japanese ship but on an opposite course.

"The Japs," Ramage said later, "were screaming like a bunch of wild pigs as we cleared all around by less than 50 feet. Mutual cheers and jeers were exchanged by all hands."

Dead ahead again was the biggest ship of the convoy. The ship's bow presented a narrow target and left, as Ramage put it, only the alternative of firing "down his throat."

The Parche opened fire, however, and hit the huge ship end on, stopping it. Then the Parche swung out and scored a torpedo bullseye from the side. A few minutes later the big ship sank with a rumbling gurgle.

With dawn at hand and a job well done, the Parche sped to safety.

GREAT FIRES RAGE FOR HOURS AFTER B-29 RAID ON KOBE

GUAM, June 6 [Wednesday] (AP)—Great fires raged in Kobe yesterday, hours after approximately 450 Super Fortresses struck their heaviest blow at this sixth city and largest port of Japan at a cost of eight bombers.

The Japanese agency Domei, which had claimed 56 of the B-29s last blow at this sixth city and largwere shot down and 144 damaged, was heard admitting six hours after the last bomber turned for home that the fires were only then "gradually being extinguished."

The raid was carried out on the first anniversary of the initial B-29 strike at the enemy—a raid on Thailand's capital of Bangkok.

Three thousand tons of fire bombs plummeted into at least a seven square mile area of eastern Kobe, embracing the vast Kobe steel works, near a nine square mile area laid in ashes by two other raids in February and March. Two main railway stations, shipyards, and docks were other targets.

B-29 VETERAN TELLS OF FIRST RAID ON JAPAN

On Friday, June 15, Sgt. Richard Perkins and his wife, Lorene, hope to have a party. The affair as they are planning it will include everything that a major celebration should have except dancing. Sgt. Perkins, 24, a former school teacher but now an army air forces radio operator, can't dance yet because a Jap machine gun bullet shattered his left leg.

The reason for the celebration, Sgt. Perkins explained yesterday in Vaughan General hospital, is that June 15 will mark the first anniversary of the opening raid on Japan proper by American Super Fortresses.

"About noon on June 15 of last year we were called in for briefing at our southeast Asia base," the sergeant recalled yesterday. "Everybody went in laughing but we came out scared and quiet, for the general had told us our target was Yawata, on the northern tip of Japan."

Sgt. Perkins said that this initial raid, the first of eight on Japan in which he participated, started large fires in Yawata. The flyer, whose home is at Bedford, Ind., was wounded on Dec. 14 during a raid on Rangoon.

YANKS ADVANCE 6 MILES; SEIZE TOWN ON LUZON

MANILA, June 6 [Wednesday]—(AP)—Showdown battles for northern Luzon's vital Cagayan valley were believed nearer today as the result of the 37th infantry division's six mile advance up highway No. 5 and the capture of Aritao village on Monday.

Coördinating with the 37th's thrust into the Cagayan valley, the 33d division swung into swift movement again up Highway No. 11, which enters the valley by way of the Chico river valley far to the north. On Monday the 33d had advanced almost 20 miles north of Baguio but was meeting stiff opposition as it knifed deeper into enemy territory.

In central Luzon, Maj. Gen. William C. Chase's 38th infantry division captured the crest of Mt. Lamita in the Marikina watershed sector east of Manila.

On Mindanao Island's Davao gulf the off-again-on-again battle between the 24th infantry division and the Davao Japanese garrison flared again around Tagakpan village. The 24th captured the village after knocking out pillbox positions. This put the Yanks 11 miles inland from Davao.

SUICIDE PLANE THREAT FADES, MITSCHER SAYS

Tells of Own 2 Escapes; 1,600 Japs Downed

BY JOSEPH HEARST
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., June 5—Vice Adm. Mitscher, commander of naval task force 58, told a press conference today that Japanese suicide bombing raids are "not too serious" and are daily being reduced.

"I have been on two ships that were hit by these planes," he said. "Four of them attacked one of the ships. It is just another type of dive bombing and something we had been expecting to encounter."

Vice Adm. Mitscher

Mitscher, who has been in command of the carrier forces' Okinawa operations, said no combat ship larger than a destroyer has been sunk by a suicide bomber. Only 1 per cent of the Japanese planes that attack off Okinawa get thru to their targets, he said, adding that more than 1,600 of the enemy's planes have been shot down in this campaign.

Planes Intercept 90%

He said 90 per cent of the Jap planes are stopped by the air defense—the planes that range miles from the main force—and that of the 10 per cent that get thru to the target area 90 per cent are shot down.

Mitscher conceded that the suicide raiders have caused considerable casualties on small ships. He said these Jap planes are more accurate than our own dive bombers "because there is a brain at the controls of the projectile." Asked if a defense has been perfected against the suicide attack he said he believed "we can practically eliminate it."

Navy Secretary Forrestal, commenting at the press conference on Washington newspaper reports that the Okinawa campaign has been mismanaged by the army and that the exceptionally high navy casualties there are the result of army bungling, said that when the fighting occurs so far from home it is hard to evaluate strategy and tactics. He said the fact we have killed 65,000 Japs on the island indicates it is not easy fighting.

He said the navy air force had to remain at the island to cover the gap between the time of the invasion and the time when the army could move in and take over in force, but, he said, it could not be expected that hundreds of army planes could be moved in from dawn to dusk.

Winchell's Embarrassing 'Scoop'

Adm. Mitscher laughed when Rear Adm. H. B. Miller, navy press chief, told him many of the reporters at the conference had recently feared Mitscher had been killed.

"Yes, I understand that report was given out by Mr. Winchell [Walter Winchell, the gossip] and that it went all over the country," Mitscher said. "Friends kept dodging my wife for fear they might let it slip that I was dead, and it wasn't until I arrived in San Diego that she learned what it was all about. It was rather embarrassing."

CHILDREN PLAY WITH JAPANESE BALLOON BOMBS

Some Bags Downed by U.S. Flyers

Spokane, Wash., June 5 (AP)—Two bombs dropped from one of the Japanese balloons which have made weird attacks on the western United States were playthings of children for several days a few months ago, the Chronicle said today.

Recounting a series of incidents dealing with the balloons, the paper said the bombs were found in a timbered area by woodsmen. One was an incendiary, the other a small fragmentation bomb.

The find was not reported to authorities for 10 days, the account said. Meanwhile the woodsmen "fooled" with the bombs and later, officials reported, children even removed the arming device and detonator from the fragmentation missile.

Neither bomb exploded. Five children and a woman who were killed near Lakeview, Ore., May 5 when they found one of the balloons and accidentally detonated an explosive.

Bags Downed by Planes

The article said some of the Jap balloons were shot down when intercepted by American planes. On one occasion a plane was on "standby" when a balloon was spotted, but the big bag was too high—40,000 feet—and the plane wasn't sent up.

The Chronicle's account of balloon activity was reviewed by the office of censorship which "raised no objection to its publication."

The newspaper listed these other balloon incidents in western United States:

A sheriff disposed of one with a tracer bullet from a rifle, but it was a "hair raising experience." When the tracer hit, the hydrogen filled bag exploded, sending a flame high into the air.

One Caught by Farmer

An alert farmer "captured" one of the balloons for examination by federal bureau of investigation and military authorities. The farmer spotted it floating over his property. When it lodged against a barbed wire fence and was punctured, he ran to the spot and tied it securely to the fence.

One balloon fell on a power line, temporarily disrupting power service.

GETS 4 YEARS ON BANKRUPTCY FRAUD CHARGE

Harry Lubetkin, 45, who used the alias of Harry Sutherland, was sentenced yesterday by Judge John P. Barnes in federal District court to serve four years in prison for concealing $8,200 in assets from a trustee in bankruptcy.

Assistant United States Atty. Francis J. McGreal told the court that Lubetkin fled after the Bulkee Packing company, 612 N. Michigan av., of which he was president, was named in involuntary bankruptcy proceedings in December, 1942. The company produced a roasted bakery product.

He was seized later in San Francisco but forfeited his bond and went to New York, where he was rearrested last October.

WINCHELL SCOOPED WHEN HIS DAUGHTER WALDA IS MARRIED

New York, June 5 (AP)—"Scooping" her columnist father, Walda Winchell, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Winchell, eloped today with William Lawless of Cambridge, Mass.

Walda Lawless

Lawless, 29, a former army staff sergeant, and his bride, who is appearing in a Broadway play, were married in West New York, N. J., Winchell's New York office said.

Winchell, on the west coast, heard the news by telephone, the announcement said, and greeted his new son-in-law with: "Hello, Bill. Good luck and happiness to you. You are the first to scoop me in a long time."

OKINAWA JAPS USE NEW BOMB OF ROCKET TYPE

NAHA, Okinawa, June 4 [Delayed] (AP)—A new rocket type bomb is being used by the Japanese on Okinawa, it was disclosed today. The bomb has a distinctive high shriek after which there is a moment of silence before a heavy explosion. Other new weapons the Japanese have thrown into the war include:

The so-called "baka bomb"—a 19 foot span glider bomb released from a mother ship with a suicide pilot at its controls. In the nose of the glider is a heavy charge of explosives. A glider—fleet bulletins have announced shooting down mysterious glider airplanes.

An anti-aircraft hazard—returning B-29 pilots have reported Japanese interceptor planes getting above them and dropping what seem to be kegs with wires strung between them. They supposedly are laden with explosives to detonate upon contact and the wires are to foul up propellers.

Chicagoans also got their first look yesterday at one of the new 45 ton Gen. Pershing tanks when it was placed on display at State and Madison sts.

Today has been proclaimed "free movie day" by Mayor Kelly and Gov. Green. Purchasers of a bond of any denomination will be admitted free to movies.

Wounded veterans will speak over the signal corps' famous "299" type communications truck at the State Street Council's war bond center today, starting at 11:45 a. m. The "299" was used in the Normandy invasion. Another truck will be used at Gardiner General hospital, where other veterans will speak via radio to the State st. crowds.

LEGION SUPPORT OF DEVELOPING AIR LAWS URGED

Chicago stands head and shoulders above any other American city in its naturally favored position to become a future world aviation center, Maj. F. M. Showalter, former president of the army aviation cadet examining board here, asserted yesterday at the 25th anniversary celebration of American Legion Aviation post 651 in Hotel Sherman.

Showalter urged his listeners to back all legislation favorable to the development of aviation in Illinois and to support a program aimed at providing adequate facilities for private flyers, who, he said, will constitute 90 per cent of the post-war air traffic.

The organization paid tribute to comrades who have died in the present war and announced plans to increase its enrollment from 178 to 500 members. John Lang, commander, presided and, in behalf of the group, presented souvenir gifts to John A. Maloney, Fred H. Bowen, and Ralph Snyder, three of the post's six surviving charter members.

1,000 CHEERING YANKS RETURN FROM PACIFIC

Soldiers to Speed East for Discharges

San Francisco, Cal., June 5 [Special]—Whistles shrieked and bands played today in a rousing welcome for the first shipload of battle-tried veterans to come home from the Pacific war theater under the army's point system of discharges.

More than 1,000 soldiers—veterans of every bloody battlefield of the Pacific from Attu to Okinawa—were aboard the navy transport Bergen when it sailed under the Golden Gate bridge at dawn and nosed thru the harbor fog to tie up at a pier here.

A Joyous Occasion

For the west coast, this was the first joyous homecoming of the war. Other ships during the war years have brought back sick and wounded. These arrivals were neither. They were men who had won the right to write "finis" to their army careers by having done what is regarded by point system standards as their full share.

They lined up at the Bergen's railings and cheered as the ship docked, reaching out gaily to clutch in the direction of packets of milk and doughnuts held up by Red Cross canteen workers on the pier. A WAC detachment was on hand to pass out telegraph blanks so they could wire relatives and sweethearts of their arrival.

Most of the men were still gasping with wonderment at the fact the war was over for them. Some of them had been in the front lines only two weeks ago, with no thought of an early end to combat duties. In many cases they were hustled to embarkation ports with only a few minutes' notice.

Within 24 hours, Col. James Hogan, post commander at Fort McDowell, said, the army will move the men eastward to reception centers nearest their homes. Tonight at Fort McDowell they ate steak, ice cream, and fresh vegetables.

Four of those arriving on the transport told a correspondent they were from Chicago.

One on Way to Wed

Pvt. Louis A. Delmonte said his Chicago home is at 7542 S. Hermitage av. and that he wants to get home as soon as possible because he plans to be married. He did not mention the girl's name. He has been in the army for 50 months and served on Saipan in the early days of the invasion.

Pvt. William Chapman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Chapman of 5814 Indiana av., Chicago, told of receiving the news that he was to be discharged while on duty with a salvage crew on Guadalcanal. He had only half an hour to catch a plane.

Corp. Richard G. Hart, who wears four battle stars and landed by parachute on Noumfour Island off New Guinea, said his parents are Mr. and Mrs. Francis Hart of Chicago and that he will return to Chicago to resume his old job as a cabinet maker.

Tech. Sgt. Roy A. Bergman said Chicago was his home when he enlisted in the army eight years ago but that he married in Honolulu and plans to return there when he is discharged. He has a sister living at 2941 W. Van Buren st.

RIBBENTROP HUNTED BY ARMY INTELLIGENCE ON LONDON STREETS

LONDON, June 5 (AP)—Army investigators were reported on the alert tonight against the possibility that Joachim von Ribbentrop, former German foreign minister and last of the top Nazis still at large, might be escaping detection in London's crowded streets.

Altho there was no official confirmation of this report, a responsible source said that the army intelligence division had been cautioned that disguised Von Ribbentrop might be walking the same streets where he once strutted as the German ambassador to London.

Brig. Gen. A. J. McChrystal, head of the information, news, and censorship division of allied headquarters in Naples, Italy, said that Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, former president of the reichsbank, and Fritz Thyssen, German industrialist, were not detained at Capri, Italy, with other suspected war criminals. He added that both men still were in Italy.

CZECHS TO TRY, GOV. FRANK AS WAR CRIMINAL

LONDON, June 5 (AP)—Karl Herman Frank, former nazi governor of the German protectorate of Bohemia-Moravia, will be tried in Prague as a war criminal for the deaths of "many thousand Czech men and women," the Prague radio announced tonight.

Dr. Bohumil Ecer, Czech representative on the allied nations war crimes commission, said in a Prague broadcast that he had questioned Frank for four days at headquarters of Gen. Bradley's 12th army group and would return there shortly to continue the interrogation.

The Czech official quoted Frank, who succeeded the notorious Reinhard Heydrich as nazi chief in the Czechoslovak provinces, as expressing surprise that he was listed as a war criminal.

Harvester Plant Loses Plea Against Pay Ruling

Officials of the tractor works of the International Harvester company were ordered by the regional war labor board yesterday to comply with an arbitrator's ruling involving 35 employes, members of the CIO United Farm Equipment Workers' union. The arbitrator held there should be no distinction between wages paid for major and minor repair work in one department. The company had contended the arbitrator exceeded his jurisdiction.

CHURCHILL FIRM FOR QUICK BIG 3 PARLEY ON SYRIA

Rejects French Demand for 5-Way Talks

LONDON, June 5 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill stood firm today for immediate mediation of the Syrian-Lebanese dispute by the United States, Britain, and France in the face of a formal French request for a "Big Five" conference on the entire middle east question, with Russia and China also sitting in.

The action today of the French council of ministers in Paris in approving Gen. De Gaulle's proposal for a "Big Five" meeting will necessitate a formal reply from each of the four nations to be invited, but there appeared to be little doubt of Britain's attitude. Russia and China would be adde dto the conference under France's proposal and the Arab states also would be invited.

Giving the house of commons a first hand report of the recent fiery exchanges betwcen himself and De Gaulle, Churchill said that a five power conference on the dispute would "certainly cause a great deal of delay and require very careful consideration on many grounds."

"Grounds" Not Revealed

What those grounds were the prime minister did not say, but the British foreign office has taken the view all along that the immediate concern both of London and Washington, D. C., was to protect the vital communications line thru the middle east for the war against Japan.

Altho so far a neutral in the Pacific war, Moscow has expressed hope that the Levant crisis would be settled quickly. The Kremlin has made no specific suggestions on the form the negotiations should take.

With blunt words Churchill denied De Gaulle's allegations of last Saturday that the British had stirred up the Syrians.

"Far from stirring up agitation in the Levant states, our whole influence has been used in precisely the other direction," he said. "Most strenuous and successful efforts had been made by the British minister in Beirut [Beyrouth] to produce a calmer atmosphere in which negotiations could be conducted for settlement of outstanding questions between France and the Levant states.

Denies Britain Seeks Syria

"We have done our utmost to preserve calm, to prevent misunderstandings and to bring the two sides together."

Britain has no designs against the French in Syria, he said.

"We recognize France's position, but that does not mean that we have undertaken to enforce that special position. We do not intend to steal the property of anybody in this war except in respect perhaps of our enemies, and that not for our own benefits."

Much of the heat that developed between Britain and France over the past week end was the result of a diplomatic fiasco, Churchill disclosed. His note to De Gaulle announcing that the British intended to intervene in the fighting in Syria was announced by Foreign Secretary Eden in commons by mistake 45 minutes before it was received by the French leader.

No Discourtesy Intended

"I need hardly say that no discourtesy was intended," Churchill said, but added that "it was a pity" De Gaulle failed to notify the British government that he had ordered French commanders in the Levant to cease fire until some time after the order was given.

The whole trouble, the prime minister said, was touched off by the landing of French troops in the Levant. He said he had cautioned De Gaulle it would cause trouble. He denied that Britain had given the Syrians and Lebanese arms before the disturbances broke out.

Britain, Churchill said, had "absolutely no ambitions of any kind in the Levant states," and was ready to withdraw all troops the moment France and the two states effected a treaty.

Turkey showed strong signs of interest in the dispute. The Istanbul press declared the Turkish government should be represented in any international conference summoned to settle the controversy.

238 Killed in Syrian Town

BEIRUT, Lebanon, June 5 [Reuters]—Casualties in the small town of Deir-Ez-Zor, which lies on the Euphrates river and on the eastern border of the Syrian desert, totaled 238 killed, 700 wounded, and 80 missing during last week's disturbances in Syria, it was reported in a dispatch from Aleppo today.

The village of Hassineh was demolished in the fighting, the dispatch added. The number of casualties there was not known.

Levant Wants Part in Parley

DAMASCUS, Syria, June 5 [Reuters] — The feeling is growing thruout the Levant states that to insure a satisfactory settlement Syria and the Lebanon must be represented at discussions between the big powers. There was no indication that either state has been invited.

THE QUESTION

If you could ask one question with the assurance that the full truth would be revealed, what would that question be?

WHERE ASKED

State and Madison sts.

THE ANSWERS

Mrs. Robert Wolski, stenographer, 8911 Muskegon av.—This question is probably in the minds of a lot of people. We have been told the answer, but as yet we have no proof that it's the truth. What I'd like to know is: "Is Hitler really dead?" Since no one has found his body it's rather hard to believe.

La Verne Papero, student, 3151 Sunnyside av.—My questions would be about the cigaret shortage — such as: "Where do all the cigarets go that are manufactured? If cigarets can be manufactured why can't they be well known brands instead of all odd brands on the market?" But mainly I want to know: "Where can I buy a carton of cigarets?"

Jack Diana, draftsman, 9223 S. Merrill av.—What I'd like to ask and get the answer to is: "Will Japan retreat to Manchuria when her home islands are invaded or will Japan be defended to the end?" Or maybe I should put it this way: "Will we invade Japan from China or from the islands we have captured?"

Richard Cyborski, assistant foreman, 10633 Yates av.—This is probably what every one would like to know more than anything else right now. I think we want to know because I think we should know: "Is Russia going to join the United States and Great Britain in the fight against Japan?"

Melvin Baer, assistant manager, 3270 Lake Shore dr.—"Where and when will the next meeting of the Big Three be held?" I'm curious to know where, but on second thought, if I can ask only one question, I would be more interested to know the answer to this—"What is going to be discussed at this meeting?"

Corp. Ernest Riedl, 2318 S. Sawyer av.—I've been in the army for a little more than two years. I have traveled all over the country from one place to another. There's one perplexing problem I'd like to know the answer to: "Is she or is she ain't my baby, or does absence make the heart grow fonder of some one else?"

LABOR APPEALS TO BRITAIN FOR 'PLANNED' ERA

LONDON, June 5 (AP)—Clement R. Attlee, leader of the Labor party, called tonight for a new war for economic freedom and promised the British people a victory as complete as the one over Germany if they gave the government "the will and the power to act."

He opened the Labor party's campaign for the general election on July 5 in a radio address.

"The Conservative party believes the basis of our economic activities must be what they call private enterprise, inspired by the motive of private profit," he said.

"The Labor party, on the contrary, believes that if you want certain results you must plan to secure them—that in peace, as well as in war, public interest must come first."

Replies to "Gestapo" Speech

Attlee's address was an answer to Prime Minister Churchill's speech for the Conservative party last night. Churchill said the socialist policy of the Labor party was "abhorrent to the British ideas of freedom" and no socialist system, as advocated by the Labor party, could operate without "some form of the Gestapo." Attlee replied:

"He gave such a travesty of the policy of the Labor party I realized at once what was his object. He wanted the electors to understand how great was the difference between Winston Churchill, the great leader in war of a united nation, and Mr. Churchill, the party leader of the Conservatives. He feared lest those who had accepted his leadership in war might be tempted out of gratitude to follow him further. I thank him for disillusioning them so thoroly."

"The voice was that of Mr. Churchill, but the mind was that of Lord Beaverbrook," Attlee continued.

Replying to Churchill's political police "charge," Atlee said that Australia, New Zealand, and the Scandinavian countries have socialist governments "with none of these dreadful consequences."

Cries from the Labor benches of "Where is the Gestapo?" greeted Churchill today when he entered the house of commons. Conservatives cheered him.

Press Comment on Talk

The independent Daily Express, owned by Beaverbrook, a member of Churchill's cabinet and a close adviser, said the prime minister "has challenged socialism directly and relentlessly on the issue of human freedom. He has branded it for what it is—totalitarianism, the worst 'ism' of the lot."

The communist Daily Worker headlined, "Churchill launches the Red scare."

The Laborite Daily Herald commented that "it is a human tragedy that Winston Churchill, honored as an individual of all parties, should so readily lend himself to these cheap electioneering tricks."

CHARGES FRENCH USE LEND-LEASE TO KILL SYRIANS

Washington, D. C., June 5 (AP)—Rep. Ellis [R., W. Va.] says the French have used lend-lease material in the "ruthless killing of Syrians." He adds that he thinks this country should shut off lend-lease to every nation except China.

Ellis expressed these opinions yesterday in a house speech in which he stated:

"France after a decade of political debauchery suffered an ignominious defeat. Now, before the prison pallor is off her face she is shooting down patriotic and freedom loving minorities.

"We have supplied the French with about $1,000,000,000 in lend-lease materials. We were told it was to be used to fight Germany, but now we find our tanks and bombers killing innocent people."

Borderline Anemia is a highly prevalent condition! Doctors say thousands upon thousands of men—up to one out of two women—suffer from it.

Healthy Red Blood Cells Are Needed for Energy

Many people who should enjoy life have a Borderline Anemia, resulting from a ferro-nutritional blood deficiency. Their blood cells are not red and big enough for full vigor.

Without full, health in these red blood cells, which control the amount of energy you get, you can't expect to feel alert and "on your toes."

Ironized Yeast Helps Build Up Blood and Energy

If you're threatened with Borderline Anemia—if you're tired, pale, listless—you need Ironized Yeast Tablets!

Of course, your condition may come from some other cause—so it's wise to consult your doctor at regular intervals. But, if you've a Borderline Anemia* — if you need to build healthy red blood cells, to improve your energy — take Ironized Yeast. It contains the very elements that half of us don't get enough of for red blood, for fullest energy. Insist on genuine Ironized Yeast Tablets. At all drug stores.

*Resulting from a ferro-nutritional blood deficiency.

Energy-Building Blood

This is what the doctor sees in his microscope looking at blood rich in energy-elements. Note big, plentiful red cells that carry oxygen to release energy to every muscle, limb, tissue.

Borderline Anemia

Thousands have blood like this—and never know it. Note puny size and irregular shape of red cells. Blood like this can't generate the energy you need! Only sturdy blood can give you top energy.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 60 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

CHURCHILL WON'T ASK RUSSIA TO GIVE BACK SHIPS

Vessels Unsuited to War in Pacific, He Says

BY E. R. NODERER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, June 5 — A proposal that he ask Premier Stalin to return 13 British warships loaned to the Red fleet, so they can be transferred to the Pacific for the war against Japan, was rejected by Prime Minister Churchill in the house of commons today. Nine of the vessels were former American overage destroyers.

Churchill told Laborite Ivor Thomas, who made the suggestion that Russia be asked to return the ships:

"These vessels would not be vessels we would use in the war against Japan. We send to the other end of the world only our best and newest. The Americans would not thank us if we brought older vessels.

Policy on Soviet Fleet

"I could not think of anything so ungracious as to suggest to the soviet government that by withdrawing these vessels we had any objections whatever to their having a fleet and training their men for a powerful fleet and an adequate mercantile marine fleet to travel all the oceans of the world."

Churchill listed the ships involved as the 33,500 ton battleship Royal Sovereign, and these former 1,090 and 1,060 ton United States destroyers: Brighton [formerly the U. S. S. Cowell]; Chelsea [Croninshield]; Churchill [Herndon]; Georgetown [Maddox]; Leamington [Twiggs]; Richmond [Fairfax]; Roxborough [Foote]; St. Albans [Thomas], and the nonoperational Lincoln [Yarnall]. The Lincoln was given for spare parts salvage purposes.

Merchant Ships in Deal

In addition to these ships the prime minister disclosed that the Russians also got four modern submarines as well as 40,000 tons of merchant shipping.

America loaned the cruiser Milwaukee and 20,000 more tons of merchant shipping.

The two powers made the transfers following the Teheran agreement to supply the Russians with Italian ships. The British government pointed out to the Russians that the Italian ships, which were doing good service in the Mediterranean and Indian ocean and on Atlantic convoys, were built for temperate waters and are unsuitable for northern seas.

Subsequently a new agreement was reached by which the United States and Britain turned over an equivalent quantity of ships to Russia on loan, leaving it to the peace conference to decide the future disposition of the Italian navy.

Capone Released

At the request of the state, Chief Justice Harold G. Ward in Criminal court yesterday nolle prossed a charge of murder against Mathew Capone, 35, youngest brother of Al Capone, in the slaying of Jens D. Larrison, alias Larkin, in Capone's Hall of Fame tavern on April 19, 1944. Capone had been held in the county jail since his arrest last March in a Cicero barber shop.

State law provides that a defendant must be brought to trial within four months after being arrested on an indictment.

A statement of State's Atty. Tuohy read in court by his assistant, Richard B. Austin, pointed out that the arrest of Walter [Whitey] Sanders, a bartender in the tavern who has been sought by police since the shooting, is necessary to present a case for the state.

NISCHT ATTACKS STATE'S FAILURE TO LOCATE BODY

Joseph Nischt, 30, a janitor, accompanied by guards, sauntered into the courtroom of Chief Justice Harold G. Ward in Criminal court yesterday and looked on with seeming unconcern during proceedings in connection with his indictment for the alleged furnace murder of Mrs. Rose Michaelis, 58, in the building at 6855 Clyde av. where she lived. Nischt is being held without bond in the county jail.

His attorney, James M. Burke, asked that entering of a plea be postponed pending disposition of motions which he will submit in writing June 14. Judge Ward said he would hear arguments and dispose of the motions on June 18. In these arguments, Burke said, he will ask that the indictment be quashed on the ground the state has no evidence that Mrs. Michaelis is dead. No trace of her body was found in the furnace ashes after Nischt had confessed he slugged her and stuffed her into the furnace. He later repudiated the statement.

If the motions are overruled, it is expected Nischt will be brought to trial the week beginning July 9.

PARIS, June 5 (AP)—About 3,500 of the 17,800 nurses in the European theater of operations will return to the United States for duty in army hospitals there, the chief surgeon's office at supreme allied headquarters said today.

It is estimated that 1,800 nurses will be needed in the army of occupation.

Lt. Col. Ida W. "If we can possibly avoid it, no nurse who has already seen service in two theaters of action will be sent to a third unless she specifically requests it," Lt. Col. Danielson said.

TRAIN U. S. PEACE ARMY AT HOME, VFW PROPOSES

3 Year Drilling Period for Youths Urged

BY LAURENCE BURD
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., June 5—A proposal for part time military training for American youths in peace time was advanced today as congress was warned compulsory training must be invoked to match preparedness steps of Russia and other allies.

The plan for part time training to be spread over a three year period was suggested by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, as a compromise for the more widely advocated program of one full year's training for 18 year olds.

Omar B. Ketchum, legislative representative for the V. F. W., told the house committee on post-war military policy that the V. F. W. plan calls for using the National Guard, naval and marine reserves.

The training, to be compulsory, would, he said, include weekly drills at the local armory, or other posts, plus two weeks enlistment each summer at a reserve camp.

Leaves Boys at Home

"Under this proposal," he said, "compulsory military training could be given in a boy's own community, leaving him in his home, in his job, with his family and with the opportunity to continue his education."

This program, he continued, should meet objections frequently voiced by educational groups that one year's uninterrupted training would disrupt a boy's education, delay his career, and otherwise upset his life.

The committee heard other veteran's groups, including the American Legion, and the National Guard association, support compulsory peace time training without endorsing any particular plan.

John Thomas Taylor, legislative director of the American Legion, told the committee Russia has already mobilized youths aged 15 to 16 for general military training and Great Britain is contemplating a similar program.

Calls for Realism

"The United States," he said, "must be at least as realistic in its approach to the future as are Russia and Great Britain. Unless America is prepared, the future organization for world peace will degenerate into another debating society, as did the league of nations."

Maj. Gen. Ellard A. Walsh, president of the National Guard association, said Russia has invoked peace time training as a "security" measure, and that "we have no choice" but to do likewise.

A prediction that Russia will infiltrate western Europe, and eventually this country, unless strong preparedness steps are taken was made by another witness, William R. Mathews, a marine veteran of World War I. and now editor of the Arizona Daily Star of Tucson.

Others endorsing compulsory peace time training at today's hearing included the Reserve Officers' association of the United States, the Daughters of American Revolution, and Vernon A. Eagle, a discharged veteran who lost a leg serving with the British commandos.

Archibald C. Thacher, a New York lawyer, protested peace time conscription is unconstitutional, while Harrop A. Freeman, law professor at William and Mary college, submitted a 12 page statement contending such a plan is constitutional.

FROST MISSES CHICAGO AREA; WARMER TODAY

Frost missed the Chicago area yesterday for the temperature dropped only to 37.3 degrees. A low of 45 degrees is expected tonight, marking the end of the frost danger, said Forecaster R. C. Schmidt.

Hardest hit of the midwest states is Wisconsin which had its second hard freeze Monday night with a low of 25 degrees reported at Land o' Lakes. The state reported heavy losses in tomatoes, strawberries, cabbages, and peas. In Minnesota tomatoes, peas, and beans were damaged.

BRADLEY CALLS FOR A CITIZENS' ARMY IN PEACE

West Point, N. Y., June 5 (AP)—The 146th and largest graduating class of the United States Military academy today heard Gen. Bradley, just back from Europe, urge that a permanent corps of professional soldiers, "about which we can mobilize a great citizen army," be retained as "the foundation of a system of national and international security."

This first class to enter the academy since the outbreak of war sat stiffly thru the address of the 12th army group's commander. They saw other war leaders, Gen. Clark and Lt. Gen. Geoffrey Keyes, hand diplomas to their sons, William G. Clark and G. B. Keyes.

Forty-eight generals' sons in all were among the 852 graduates.

TRUMAN ORDERS OCD ABOLISHED AT END OF JUNE

Washington, D. C., June 5 (AP)—The office of civilian defense, established May 20, 1941, was abolished by President Truman today, effective June 30. He announced several weeks ago that this would be done, since the necessity for maintaining such a protective organization had passed.

By executive order he transferred all the protective property of OCD to the commerce department and authorized Secretary Wallace to dispose of it in accordance with provisions of the surplus property act.

JAPS BEHEAD 16 FROM U.S.; STORY BY EYEWITNESS

ILOILO, Panay [Philippines], June 5 (AP)—It now can be disclosed how 16 American citizens, including 11 Baptist missionaries, were beheaded and three American children bayoneted to death by Japanese troops nearly two years ago.

[The executions of the 11 missionaries and a child were announced June 1 in New York by the American Baptist Foreign Missionary society. A spokesman said at that time that news of the executions had reached the society some months previous, but was withheld for security reasons at the request of the war and state departments.]

The savagery was displayed Dec. 20, 1943, in a peaceful mountain refuge ironically named Hopevale, "The Valley of Hope." It was a mission settlement established by the American Baptist Foreign Missionary society and faculty members of Central Philippine college near the village of Topaz in Capiz province.

Guerrilla Tells Story

Paterno H. Enano, 23, former student of the Central Philippine college, who was present at the executions, said in a signed statement that Capt. Kunoyi Watanabe, known on Panay as the "terror of China," was "solely responsible for death of the 19 Americans."

Enano said that, during the atrocities, he was employed by the Japanese as an interpreter. He later joined the guerrillas. This, in brief, is his story:

Services were being held in the Baptist mission when the Japanese reached Hopevale about 9 a. m. Sunday, Dec. 19, 1943. Japanese soldiers rounded up the Americans.

One of the missionaries, Mrs. Charma Covell, instructor at Central Philippine college, was the first to be escorted by Japanese guards from a detention house to the death room.

"We are Christian missionaries," Enano heard her say.

With her hands tied behind her, Mrs. Covell was forced to kneel with her head down.

Enano Turns Away

"I saw Capt. Watanabe draw his Samural sword as the Japanese guards stood by with bayonets fixed," Enano said.

But Enano did not want to see Watanabe strike the death blow. He turned and walked away.

"I couldn't bear to watch it. Mrs. Covell screamed."

Ten other Americans were led one by one by the Japanese guards into the death house where there was only one man with a sword—Watanabe.

In another house, five other Americans were beheaded. The bodies, charred almost beyond recognition, were found later by Engracio C. Alora, general secretary of the convention of Philippine Baptist churches.

The heads of the three children were still attached to the bodies when Enano investigated. There were indications they were bayoneted instead of killed with Samural swords.

Victims whose names were not previously announced were:

Lt. Robert King, former Iloilo business man who had been commissioned in the United States army; a Mr. and Mrs. Clardy and their sons, Johnny and Terry [Clardy was described as a former engineer in the Philippines], and two unidentified men believed to be engineers from a mining camp in the Zambales mountains of Luzon.

ANNULMENT SUIT 'TAKEN CARE OF,' MRS. GOAD SAYS

Portsmouth, O., June 5 (AP)—Mrs. Helen Goad said today she had "taken care of" an annulment to untangle a marital mixup involving her marriage to a lieutenant and an ensign.

She married Ensign Robert A. MacDowell in Long Beach, Cal., last December after the war department reported her first husband, Lt. Harold W. Goad, 29, was "presumed dead" following his disappearance on a flight over Burma Oct. 14, 1943.

Last May 4, however, the 23 year old blonde was notified Goad had been found alive near Rangoon.

WIDOW IS FOUND SLAIN IN HOME; SUITOR QUIZZED

Police last night were holding Chester Rice, 39, an ex-convict, of Hammond, Ind., in the investigation of the slaying earlier in the day of Mrs. Josephine Alice Ross, 45, twice divorced widow, in her apartment at 4108 Kenmore av. He was brought to Town Hall station early today for further questioning.

Chester Rice

Mrs. Ross' two daughters, Jacqueline Miller, 17, and Mrs. Jane Blanchard, 21, told police that Rice had been attentive to their mother, altho she tried to discourage him.

Mrs. Ross' nude body, lying on a tumbled bloody bed, was found by Jacqueline, an employe in a food store at Wilson av. and Broadway, when she came home for lunch.

Dress Tied Around Throat

A red dress had been tied around Mrs. Ross' throat with a stocking and the wounds in her neck had been drawn together with adhesive tape. The bathtub was partly filled with garments and bloody water.

The victim's marriages to John Walsh and Herbert Miller, respectively, ended in divorce, the daughters said. Her third husband, Herbert Ross, died last July.

Elmer Nelson, janitor at the apartment house, told police he saw a dark haired, well dressed man leave the building by the fire escape between noon and 1 p. m. The man wore a white sweater bearing what may have been blood stains, he said. A white sweater was found in Rice's room at Hammond.

Another Friend Questioned

Police records show Rice was sentenced to Joliet penitentiary in October, 1933, after a series of grocery and drug store holdups. He was paroled in June, 1936, and discharged from parole in August, 1939.

A friend of Rice, Louis Breitsprecher, 30, of Hobart, Ind., said he drove Rice to his home, 916 Cherry st., Hammond, between 9:15 and 9:45 a. m. after visiting several taverns. Mrs. Ross apparently was slain about 10:30 a. m.

Police also held Oscar Nordmack, 48, of 856 Sheridan rd., who said he had been seeing Mrs. Ross. However Miss Frances Ceran, 417 N. Clark st., told police Nordmack was with her yesterday morning.

CAMP TO SPEED 1ST ARMY VETS HOME FOR LEAVE

Midwest GIs to Get Paid, Refitted at Grant

BY GEORGE SCHREIBER
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Camp Grant, Ill., June 5—This army post, almost abandoned and sleeping in the sunshine of Winnebago county for nine months or more, awakened this morning with the reveille gun to what promises to be a renewed period of activity.

The staff of the camp, under command of Lt. Col. Forrest W. Edwards, started final preparations for the reception of the returning Illinois and Michigan men of the 1st army combat units which will arrive on or about June 10. The men are to be redeployed in the Pacific war theater.

Work on establishing the redeployment center has been going on quietly since last month when the war department announced units of the victorious 1st army would be returned. The officers and men will be given 30 days for rest and rehabilitation at home before again entering a training period.

Speed Up Furloughs

"We will be ready to receive the men in a style to which these combat soldiers are not accustomed," said Col. Edwards.

The job of receiving and processing the troops has been delegated to Lt. Col. Edward D. Hogan, who has prepared an elaborate plan to speed their furloughs.

"When these men arrive at the redeployment center their sole idea is to get home as quickly as possible," said Col. Hogan. "It will be a rare case in which a man will be in Camp Grant for more than 24 hours. Some will get out in less time."

The only work the redeployed man will have to do while in camp is to make his own bed. Routine camp duties such as K. P. and latrine orderly will be done by German prisoners of war. Some of these prisoners were captured in France by the 1st army.

Coffee to Greet Them

When a man returning from the European battlefields steps from a train at the camp to the music of the camp band he will walk into a huge wooden processing building where he will be greeted with a cup of hot coffee. Then he will listen to a brief orientation lecture that will tell him what will happen at Camp Grant and what to expect from his family and civilian friends.

Next will come visits to the clothing warehouses where any necessary articles of clothing will be replaced. From the clothing station he will be sent to the finance office where his pay accounts will be brought up to date and where he will receive a ticket to his home and return. Every man will receive battle ribbons and citations to which he is entitled.

Representatives of the railroads will be on hand to see that the men get out by special trains. More than 75 per cent of the homeward soldiers will pass thru Chicago.

Just before the man leaves for his furlough he will be given orders telling him the exact date to reassemble at Camp Grant and the post at which he will later undergo retraining.

REDUCE PRICES ON GREEN BEANS, NEW POTATOES

Prices of all new potatoes and several other fruits and vegetables will be lowered tomorrow under new office of price administration ceilings for the Chicago area, James F. Riley, acting director, said yesterday.

New California potatoes will go down 2 cents to five pounds for 32 cents, and all other new potatoes will be reduced 3 cents to five pounds for 36 cents. Other decreases include green beans, off 2 cents to 15 cents a pound; sweet peppers, down ½ cent to 22½ cents a pound; Baldwin apples, 1 cent lower at 10½ cents a pound, and lemons, down a cent to 12 cents a pound.

Increases include 4 cents more for new yellow onions at three pounds for 29 cents; peas, up 2½ cents to 20½ cents a pound; bulk tomatoes, 3 cents higher at 20 cents a pound, and repacked tomatoes, up 2 cents to 25 cents. Pears will be added to the list at a ceiling of 18½ cents a pound.

41 MARELLBAR CATTLE BRING $45,650 IN SALE

Forty-one head of purebred Shorthorn cattle were sold for $45,650 yesterday by William Bartholomay Jr. at the Marellbar farm near Libertyville. The figure brought the average for the calves and yearlings offered to $1,114. Marellbar Victoria XVII. was sold to H. F. Falk of Milwaukee for $2,400, the top price for females. The top bull, Marellbar Imprint, went to the Anoka farm of Waukesha, Wis., for $2,100. J. E. Halsey and Hamilton James were the auctioneers.

SAYS U. S. REDS HOLD A SWORD OVER TRUMAN

New York, June 5 [Special]—The American communists' new revolutionary line, announced yesterday by their leaders, "was designed as a policy of extortion" in preparation for the Big Three meeting of Prime Minister Churchill, Premier Stalin, and President Truman, according to the official organ of one of the city's large CIO unions, local 338 of the Retail and Wholesale Food Employes.

Ephraim Schwartzman, editor of the 338 News, predicts the shift away from a unity line "will have deep repercussions in the labor movement" and that members of both CIO and AFL communist-controled unions "will be called to strike against their employers at the drop of a hat." [The national board of the communist political association Monday denounced the harmony program and called for a "resolute ideological struggle."]

Conference Outcome Awaited

The speed of this development will depend entirely on the outlook of the Big Three conference, says the CIO editor.

"If England and America give Russia what she wants, the revolutionary policy can be held in abeyance. If Russia does not get what she wants, then the revolutionary policy will be given full play."

In the last election local 338 refused to join CIO-PAC or back the American Labor party.

Schwartzman predicted that the Communists will begin to bring tremendous pressure to push the CIO leadership into a leftist position and, "should Philip Murray and Sidney Hillman refuse to acquiesce, as they probably will, the Communists will discover much justification for criticism. This in turn may bring the right wing in the CIO closer to the AFL."

Foresees Attacks on Truman

Among the first communist moves, he said, will be a series of attacks tinius and Vandenberg will soon be on the fascist slate of the Communists," he declared.

Referring to the new line laid down for America by Jasques Duclos, French communist leader, Schwartzman says: "Those familiar with communist hierarchy do not have the slightest doubt that Duclos is carrying out Stalin's new policy against President Truman. "Stet- in the international field. . . .

"Now with victory in Europe accomplished, international communism is again taking to the field as the general staff of the mercenary army to be used for the purpose of consolidating Stalin's influence in other countries."

CAPITAL HEARS PLEA TO DROP EGG CEILINGS

Washington, D. C., June 5 (AP)—Suspension of egg ceiling prices and an increase in ceilings for heavier weight poultry were proposed to congress today as a way to combat extreme shortages predicted for later in the year.

The suggestions were laid before the house food investigating committee headed by Rep. Anderson [D., N. M.], who urged the war food administration and the office of price administration to try to get together on them.

Leon Todd, executive secretary of the national poultry defense committee, declared black markets were encouraging the sale of laying flocks for poultry meat.

A temporary removal of ceilings on eggs, he said, would raise egg prices to a level profitable for poultrymen to hold hens for laying rather than sell them for meat. It also would tend to channel eggs back thru legitimate markets, he said.

Tom Stitts, chief of the dairy and poultry branch of the office of marketing of the war food administration, said he believed poultry production could be increased 300,000,000 or 400,000,000 pounds by offering producers higher ceiling prices on roasting, or heavier weight chickens, than on broilers.

BLAME HIGGINS STRIKE ON HIRING OF EX-SOLDIER

Firm Doesn't Require Joining Union

New Orleans, La., June 5 [Special]—A strike of 5,000 union employes at three units of Higgins Industries, Inc., engaged in making landing craft for the Pacific fighting fronts, was attributed by the management today to the company's practice of giving jobs to homecoming war veterans regardless of their union status.

Meantime, the strikers, members of the AFL's metal and building trades councils, who have been idle since Sunday, held a mass meeting and decided to defy a directive issued by the war labor board last night that they return to work at once.

"The whole thing boils down to the fact that I am giving returning service men jobs without forcing them to join any union," declared A. J. Higgins Sr., president of the firm and of several other Higgins enterprises in New Orleans.

Higgins Explains Stand

"Instead of calling an election, these men just went out on strike. The issue is now squarely before the American people. The question of what industry can do with ex-service men will now be settled."

Higgins contends that the AFL unions involved no longer represent a majority of his workers and that a collective bargaining election should be held.

The unions countered with the statement that Higgins "is attempting to muddle the issue by riding the backs of the service boys by magnanimously giving them the right to work without becoming members of the union."

The war man power commission has "frozen" the work status of the men who quit, inasmuch as they are without releases from Higgins.

Defiance of the WLB return-to-work directive from Washington, D. C., was voiced by the unions following a meeting this afternoon of about 10 per cent of the idle employes. Union leaders said the men refused to work without a new contract.

Contract Canceled

The dispute began last December over extra pay, the unions demanding double pay for overtime work.

After the trouble had caused cancellation of a Higgins contract with the United States maritime commission, the company notified the unions it would not consider its contract with them valid after Jan. 1 of this year. The unions contend the contract is valid until next September.

The company's cancellation of the union contract, a closed shop agreement, was upheld by the war labor board.

L STATION DEATH HELD ACCIDENT

A verdict of accidental death was returned yesterday at an inquest by a coroner's jury in the case of Mrs. Frankie Alice Ford, 56, of 4759 N. Maplewood av., whose body was found on the Chicago Rapid Transit line tracks at the Rockwell st. station late Monday night.

RULES ON A-B GAS STICKERS LIFTED JUNE 23

After June 22 motorists will not need to clutter up their windshields with gasoline ration stickers. The office of price administration yesterday announced that when the mileage for A and B card drivers is increased windshield stickers no longer will be deemed necessary.

Rae E. Walters, regional administrator, said serially numbered coupons, introduced in A books last year, are sufficient identification for drivers, and that the work of mailing thousands of new stickers will be eliminated.

All A card drivers will get 180 miles a month instead of the current 120. B drivers who qualify will get an increase to 650 miles a month from the present 470.

C card drivers now getting 471 to 650 miles a month will be given B classifications, he said, but their mileage will not be changed as long as their requirements are not altered.

WILEY ASSAILS OPA IN CHEESE FAMINE THREAT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., June 5—Senators Wiley [R., Wis.] and Willis [R., Ind.] tonight issued statements blasting office of price administration policies governing cheese and meat supplies. Their attacks came as senate leaders prepared to open senate debate tomorrow on legislation extending the OPA for another year.

Wiley said that "OPA bungling" is responsible for a threatened cheese shortage in Wisconsin, which, he said, usually produced 50 per cent of the cheese manufactured in the United States. Price policies of the OPA have forced many grades of cheese off the market, he said.

Willis in his statement challenged Price Administrator Bowles to "make good" on his declaration recently that he wanted to lift restrictions as soon as possible. Willis urged the retention of meat rationing but the abolition of price controls on meat.

"Since the average American can get no meat anyway, except thru the black market, obviously it would do no one any more harm than he is now suffering to take price controls off meat, just to see what would happen," Willis said.

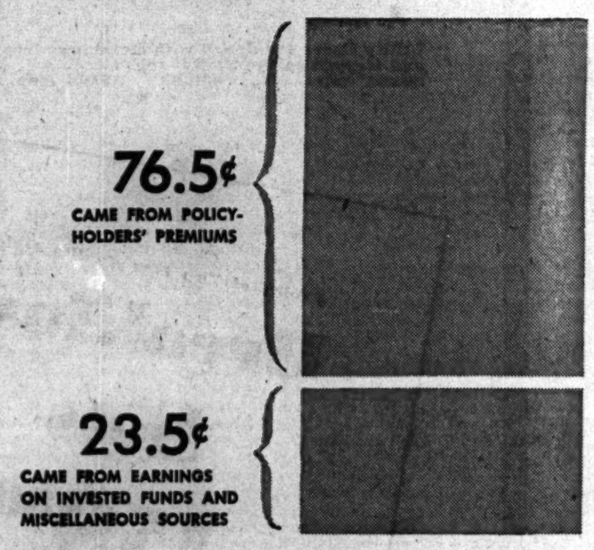
A REPORT

TO 70 MILLION POLICYHOLDERS ON THE 1944 LIFE INSURANCE DOLLAR

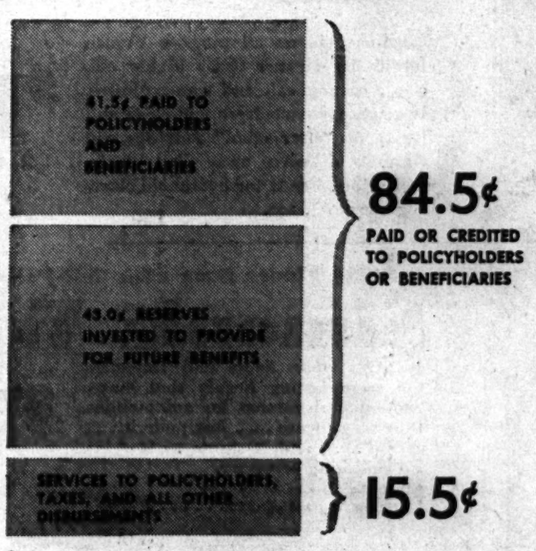
The money you put into your life insurance in the past year not only represents individual and family security to you, but is a mighty force in the welfare of the nation.

At this time, the life insurance companies in America wish to make a report to you of their over-all stewardship of these funds—explaining where they came from, and how they were used during 1944. This is illustrated in terms of the average dollar received by legal reserve life insurance companies, because this is the simplest and clearest way in which to explain the results.

WHERE IT CAME FROM:



HOW IT WAS USED:



41.5¢ PAID TO POLICYHOLDERS AND BENEFICIARIES
43.0¢ RESERVES INVESTED TO PROVIDE FOR FUTURE BENEFITS
84.5¢
PAID OR CREDITED TO POLICYHOLDERS OR BENEFICIARIES
SERVICES TO POLICYHOLDERS, TAXES, AND ALL OTHER DISBURSEMENTS
15.5¢

LIFE INSURANCE DOLLARS are put to work for the good of the individual, the family and the nation. They are anti-inflation dollars, removed from spending. For example, $3,700,000,000 was invested in U. S. government bonds (an amount equal to 82 per cent of premiums paid last year) . . . a striking example of how your dollars through life insurance funds have helped to provide planes, ships, tanks, guns, and supplies to assure final victory.

These life insurance dollars also work for the progress of the nation as a whole when they are invested as capital for industry, transportation, communications, home owners, farmers, etc. . . . and thereby help to create millions of jobs.

A TOTAL of 84.5 cents out of every dollar received was either paid out on policies or set aside as a reserve to guarantee future payments to policyholders . . . 8 cents more than the 76.5 cents in premiums paid in.

41.5 of these 84.5 cents were actually paid out to policyholders and beneficiaries; nearly $1,200,000,000 was paid to survivors at the death of policyholders; $840,000,000 was paid to policyholders during their lifetimes and $430,000,000 was refunded as dividends to policyholders.

Only 15.5 cents of each dollar was needed to cover all costs of services to policyholders, including compensation paid employees and agents; taxes; and all other disbursements.

By individual effort and thrift—through the democratic processes of life insurance—the people of America have achieved a degree of security no other nation has ever equalled. Today the average amount of life insurance in force, per family, is greater than ever before . . . but there is a still higher goal within reach. The average American through wise use of his income, can build a backlog of personal and family security more nearly consistent with the high American standard of living.

PARLEY REACHES CRISIS ON VETO WITH RUSSIANS

Truman Unyielding on Deadlocked Issue

agreement at Yalta and that under the voting procedure agreed to there is no right to veto discussion and a hearing of the parties to a dispute. The veto would apply only on the question of invoking formal investigation, conciliation or other means of peaceful settlement.

The United States, Great Britain, France and China asked Russia last Sunday to agree to the interpretation excluding the veto of discussion. Up to a late hour tonight no reply had been received from Moscow.

Gives Russia 24 hours

Earlier in the day, Sen. Vandenberg [R., Mich.], said the American delegation would issue a statement of its position within 24 hours. It was stated tonight, however, that the statement would be delayed another 24 hours to give Russia further time.

If Russia accedes to the representations of the other four powers the log jam in the conference will be broken and the peace league will be completed in about a fortnight.

If Russia refuses to yield, conference leaders say they don't know what will happen. They say their procedure will depend upon whether Russia walks out of the conference. Some are in favor of going ahead, if Russia walks out, and completing the peace league without the soviets.

Parley Might Adjourn

Others think there would be no peace league worth the name with one of the great powers left out and that therefore the best thing to do would be to avoid a break with Russia, complete such parts of the organization as can be agreed on and adjourn the conference to a future date to permit adjustment of differences over the veto power.

This was what was done at Dumbarton Oaks when the dispute developed with Russia over the veto power. The provisions for the voting procedure were left blank until the Yalta conference when they were filled in with the so-called Roosevelt compromise now in dispute here.

Russia has been extending its hegemony across Europe with a high hand ever since Stalin got the green light from Roosevelt and Churchill at Tehran. Russia has annexed the eastern half of Poland and the Baltic states, dominates Finland, has made satellites of Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia and set up communist controled governments in Romania, Hungary, Bulgaria, Austria, and the remainder of Poland. In all these countries resistance to the extension of the communist system has been stamped out by executions and deportations to the forced labor camps.

Shuns Coöperative Control

In all these territories and in eastern Germany, Russia has set at naught agreements for co-equal control by Great Britain and the United States. Even representatives of the western powers and the press have been excluded.

Incited by the soviets' communist strength is rising in Italy, France, and Belgium. The infiltration of the United States is being pushed with the communist subsidized press and even American newspapers spreading Russian propaganda.

With a peace league charter molded to suit the interests of Russia the soviets would be entrenched to protect their hegemony and armed with a vast power to extend it to the world. It is this threat of world domination by Russia that President Truman and the American delegation have challenged on the veto issue in this conference.

Showdown Planned

If Russia refuses to yield on the veto many conference leaders are in favor of carrying the issue at once into committee consideration for a showdown vote.

Joseph Paul-Boncour, chief of the French delegation, predicted that if the dispute goes to a showdown in the conference there will be only five votes for Russia, 44 against. There will be only four supporters of Russia, he said—the Ukrainians, the Byelo Russians, Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia, all Russian satellite states.

France, which has a mutual assistance alliance with Russia, will oppose Moscow "reluctantly" on the veto question, said Paul-Boncour. The position of France, he explained, is essentially that of the United States.

For the first time the Russians began showing signs of uneasiness at the running of the tide against them on the veto issue. A Russian delegation spokesman said Ambassador Gromyko, chief soviet delegate, is thinking of calling a press conference to present his government's views on the question.

"But, Mom, if we spend our summers out here I might fall for some farmer's son and spend the rest of my life milking cows!"

FRISCO TEMPLE OF CAPITALISM HOST TO SOVIETS

BY WILLARD EDWARDS
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

San Francisco, Cal., June 5—The Soviet delegation to the world security conference was feted tonight in a temple of capitalism in the heart of San Francisco's financial district.

More than 1,000 persons paid their respects to the communist emissaries at a reception in the marble-pillared magnificence of the great hall in which is transacted the daily business of the grain and marine exchanges of the city.

The Russian-American institute, an organization of Russophiles, and the Chamber of Commerce were co-hosts. The purpose was to permit the bourgeoisie to gain intimate contact with the Soviets, the upper crust of society having wined and dined them at scores of parties to the point of satiation on both sides.

Red Army Glorified

The setting was unique. The Russian-American institute had seized the opportunity to set up in the grain pit a staggering array of Russian propaganda posters and photographs, glorifying the "Red army of liberation." There was not a single reference to American or British aid in the display.

The great blackboards carrying quotations of wheat, corn, oats, rye and barley prices were obscured by huge posters. Typical was one showing a Russian soldier with a sword striking at an octopus bearing the swastika emblem which embraced all Europe in its tentacles. The Russian was all alone in his struggle and the caption stated: "Groaning under the yoke of Nazi occupation, Europe awaits the hour of its liberation."

Drinks Mediocre

A long bar had been set up and drinks and canapes were served but it was noted that a cheap blend of whisky was the only potable. There was no vodka, no champagne, no caviar such as featured the Nob hill parties for the soviets.

Headed by Ambassador Gromyko and Rear Admiral K. K. Rodionov, the soviet delegates were besieged by effusive admirers. They seemed to enjoy the adulation, being somewhat out of favor at the moment with delegates from other nations because of Moscow's delaying tactics on the veto power question.

CEMETERY BILL WINS APPROVAL OF GOV. GREEN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., June 5—Gov. Green today issued a statement urging passage of legislation to protect the public against what has been described by Atty. Gen. George F. Barrett as "the sordid multimillion dollar racket" in the perpetual care funds of cemeteries.

Barrett is sponsoring bills to set up standards for the handling of perpetual care funds, with cemetery financial records to be audited by his office. Cemetery officials would be prohibited from borrowing from the funds, a practice Barrett termed "ghoulish."

"I feel that the public is entitled to the fullest possible protection in this type of investment," the governor said, "and that proper regulatory legislation also would protect legitimate cemetery companies from the effects of unscrupulous or slipshod practices of a few operators."

"As amended, the bill would not affect the cemeteries maintained by recognized religious and fraternal organizations, or by municipalities," Green said.

JOURNEY TO A SHATTERED WORLD

BY BEN HIBBS, Editor of The Saturday Evening Post

AT the invitation of General Eisenhower, the editor of The Saturday Evening Post joined a group of American newspaper and magazine editors to see at first hand the Nazi political concentration camps in Germany.

The party arrived in the midst of Germany's collapse. Arrived to witness the scenes of utter desolation and brutal savagery, the devices of torture and death, that testify to the Nazi crime.

This is the report to America of a man who walked the ghostly streets of once great cities—now bombed to hopeless rubble. It is the stark and pitiful picture of broken humans, slinking animal-like away from the spectre of starvation. It is the cold truth about German bestiality and the almost unbelievable tragedy left in its wake. It is an eyewitness picture of the pathetic migration of millions, of a nation in the throes of death, of indescribable atrocity and misery.

It isn't a pretty picture. But it was seen and is recorded here by one who believes that this nation must know all the truth. It is required reading for all who talk and think of "propaganda", for all who must face the problem of Europe's future, for all who fight for a clean world of justice and security.

SOCIALISM ROUTED IN ONTARIO

The Conservatives won a sweeping victory in the provincial election in Ontario on Monday largely at the expense of the Socialists, whose party is known as the Coöperative Commonwealth federation. A little less than two years ago, on Aug. 4, 1943, the Conservatives were able to elect only 39 members in a house of 90. On Monday they increased their strength to 66 seats, according to incomplete returns, and thus will have better than a two-thirds majority. The C. C. F., which won 34 seats in 1943, will have something like 10 in the new house.

This is a remarkable turnover. After a war a swing to conservatism is rather to be expected, but, even so, the outcome in Ontario must have surprised all but the most sanguine among Premier Drew's following. Ontario's population is 62 per cent urban and trade union influence is strong. The leaders of the C. C. F. were counting upon the union organizations to deliver the vote as the CIO delivered to the New Deal in this country, but the hope was disappointed. The popular vote for the Conservative candidates just about doubled that of the Socialist candidates.

Ontario's election is the first significant one which has taken place in any of the allied countries since the end of the fighting in Europe. The voters were given a clear choice between private enterprise and socialism and they voted overwhelmingly against socialism. The same choice will shortly be presented to the voters in Great Britain. The Labor party there, like the C. C. F. in Canada, has its program of collectivism and doesn't make any attempt to conceal its purposes. The Labor candidates call themselves Socialists with complete candor.

Mr. Churchill in his campaign broadcast on Monday said that if Labor wins the election Britain will find herself with a totalitarian regime, ruling by decree, and the liberty of the common man will be destroyed. Naturally, the Labor spokesmen resented this statement. Herbert Morrison called it "Churchill's crazy speech." That wasn't because Mr. Morrison doesn't regard himself as a Socialist, but because he does not admit that socialism inevitably leads to totalitarianism.

Americans in recent years have never been given the opportunity to make their choice for or against the collectivists. Here the Socialists and Communists have called themselves Democrats, and Democratic leaders like President Roosevelt have welcomed Socialist support at the same time that they have expressed occasional opposition to the Socialist program. To complete the confusion the Republican candidates more often than not have also managed to talk on both sides of the question and thus have been in no position to force their opponents to declare themselves unequivocally.

It isn't hard to show that even a mannerly, Oxford accented socialism means a loss of freedom for the people who accept it. It isn't hard to show, either, that the restraints become more oppressive as time goes on. If Mr. Churchill in Britain, following Mr. Drew in Ontario, can win on a platform of political and economic freedom we may hope that the lesson will not be lost upon Republican leaders in this country. They haven't been able to win by pussyfooting and evasion, by pretending to be for and against both capitalism and communism. All of Mr. Dewey's kowtowing to the PAC didn't win him a vote, but it did succeed in alienating hundreds of thousands who would otherwise have been his enthusiastic supporters.

This country has need of a party that will be unequivocally for free enterprise and will not shrink from advocacy of sharply lowered taxes on business profits and incomes, a balanced budget, and the ending of subsidies and of bureaucratic controls over the economy. If the Republican party isn't ready to take this position some other agency will have to be improvised to do it. This country has not marched into socialism. It has wandered into it for lack of a clear-thinking and plain-speaking opposition.

TRACTION, ETC.

The outcome of the election in Chicago on Monday could have surprised no one. The judicial slate was unopposed. The success of the traction program and the various bond issue proposals was never in question.

It is to be hoped that, with the election over, the last has been heard of the absurd claim that public ownership of the street cars was made inevitable by the failures of private enterprise. The truth is that private management wasn't given a chance. Franchises were withheld. No effort was made to enable the companies to earn enough to improve their credit and thus enable them to buy new equipment and extend their services.

The people have now voted for transfer of the properties to a municipal corporation, which will itself be exempt from local taxes and will be permitted to borrow money, the interest on which is expected to be exempt from federal taxes. The municipal corporation will have the unrestricted right to raise fares whenever to do so seems expedient without having to ask permission from any one. If the private companies had been given only a small part of these concessions, Chicago's transportation facilities would be far more serviceable than they are today.

Every one in Chicago will hope that the new arrangement, if it is finally put into force, will achieve the desired results. Optimism will be tempered, however, by the knowledge that political considerations have been the bar to a sound traction system in this community for a generation. It remains to be seen whether the politicians, when they are in complete control, will have more regard for the welfare of the community than they had when they were merely in a position to obstruct.

HIGHWAY ROBBERY

Rep. Dudley Roe of Maryland called the attention of congress to the fact that Dan Tobin's plunderbund, officially known as the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, celebrated V-E day by reopening a campaign of organized highway robbery. During the period of the trouble in Europe Mr. Tobin and his hoodlums maintained a fairly circumspect behavior, the revered leader frequently mentioning labor's "no strike" pledge. They even seemed to have given up the practice of holdups as their own bit toward national sacrifice.

Now, congress was informed, the AFL teamsters' union is back at its old tricks, stopping farmers trucking their produce into Philadelphia and New York on the highway and refusing permission to proceed unless they submit to paying a union assessment of $56 for union membership. Abe Goldberg, president of Mr. Tobin's local 929 in Philadelphia, explained that if the truckers prove obdurate under these extortionate demands their produce will simply rot in their trucks.

"They must have a paid up card or produce handlers for commission merchants and carlot receivers won't handle their merchandise," said he. As a result unloadings of produce at Philadelphia are the lightest in 12 months. Representatives of 20 farm organizations on the east coast decided that there was no way of resisting the union except by diverting trucks to other markets. When some of the trucks which otherwise would have gone to Philadelphia turned up in New York they found that the union was pursuing the same methods there.

The strange thing about all this is that it has the indorsement of the United States Supreme court, which handed down a curious decision a few years ago constituting a blanket license for the union to indulge in this sort of racketeering. Seventy-two members of the union were brought to trial for perpetrating shakedowns of truckers and 27 of them had criminal records, but the Supreme court decided in effect that when they climbed aboard a truck with a blackjack to persuade the driver they per se became "employes" of the truck owner.

The OPA has contributed some good licks to the food shortage, but if Philadelphia and New York go a bit hungrier than usual they can attribute their plight to the sympathetic application of the law when it might cramp the style of Mr. Tobin, the ex-officio chairman of the labor division of the Democratic national committee in campaign years.

OUR OBLIGATION TO THE FILIPINOS

Sen. Tydings has informed President Truman that there is immediate need for the United States to render large scale assistance to the Philippines, where suffering and devastation are widespread in the wake of our campaign to drive the Japanese from the islands. The senator has just returned from a survey of conditions among the Filipinos, and he reported that the task of relief and rehabilitation is urgent.

He found that 600,000 Filipinos were dependent upon our army for food and clothing, that war damage will prevent the production of a sugar crop for three years, and that Manila has suffered destruction on a scale surpassed by no European city, not even Berlin. Hardly a house in the Philippines capital is standing. Such essentials as a water supply and transport are lacking. Debris still litters the streets and the bodies of Japs are still being extricated.

Sen. Tydings has urged the President to extend large scale loans and gifts to the Filipinos for relief and reconstruction. Certainly the people of this country will favor everything that can be done to relieve the plight of the islanders. We have embarked upon a world-wide program of relief and rehabilitation thru UNRRA, the lend-lease administration, and other agencies for the benefit of lands which have no claim upon our sympathy comparable to that of the Philippines. The islands are, indeed, our peculiar responsibility.

The population of the Philippines shared with this country the risks and trials of war. Filipinos fought with us in the dark days of Bataan and they were loyal to us thru adversity. The relations between them and us are those of friendship and trust. We are pledged to the independence of the islands within another year, and it must be our obligation not to turn them loose to chart their own course without first giving them the means of overcoming handicaps which at present darken their future.

The Filipinos are our friends and they know from past performance that this country can be trusted to prove sympathetic and generous. We must not disappoint their expectations. THE TRIBUNE is proud to recall that this is not the first time it has expressed these sentiments. Weeks before Sen. Tydings' survey confirmed our conclusion we stated that our first responsibility after the smoke of battle cleared was to rush assistance to the islands. We trust that the President and congress will promptly acknowledge the nation's obligation.

A BOOK OF NAMES

Names and their origins have been a minor hobby of this column, and so its editor rejoices in the acquisition of "Names on the Land," by George R. Stewart, which deals with the subject in terms of national geography. It is not a dictionary, but a running story of how an almost vacant continent became a paradise of name givers, inventors, borrowers, and corrupters. Its purpose follows a quotation from Francis Bacon: "Name, tho it seem but a superficial and outward manner, yet it carrieth much impression and enchantment."

* * *

"There are millions of place names in the United States," says the author, "and only a small fraction of them could be included." He has dealt with four categories: Names of national significance, names that illustrate habits or fashions in geographical baptism, names that mark the work or influence of explorers, pioneers, and founding fathers, names whose origins arouse curiosity. On a rough estimate the index contains 2,120 references, many of which reveal a cluster of names in the text. The specimens are numerous enough to keep any collector amused.

* * *

On the origin of Chicago, the author is orthodox. He speaks of the prevalence of wild onion plants on this once marshy plain which caused the Indians to refer to it as "onion place," and adds: "In 1688, when there could hardly have been doubt about the meaning, a Frenchman wrote, 'We arrived at the place called Chicagou which, according to what can be learned about it, has taken this name from the amount of garlic growing wild in that vicinity.' . . . Actually, the meaning of Chicago seems better settled than almost any other early Indian name, because the Frenchman took the trouble to record it."

* * *

Hollywood seems to have been inspired by a growth of toyon, an evergreen shrub with red berries also called California holly, when the townsite was laid out in 1887. But the name was in frequent use elsewhere before that momentous baptism.

MEN OF LUZON

(Addressed to the dead of former wars.)

Bright spirits, break your rest and stand in tribute
For Freedom's fallen sons are passing by
To join the ranks of valiant souls—who die
That men may live. Stand at attention, mute.
These are the brave who journeyed o'er the route
That you have trod, with floating banners high,
And in the vaulted regions of the sky
They take their place. Let free men bear the fruit
Of seed they planted 'mid the thundering shell
Which yet is echoing o'er their distant graves.
A thousand guns shall sound their parting knell,
A thousand ships shall scour Pacific waves;
And when our world shall chant the victor's strain,
They'll hear and know they have not died in vain.

Dawn, Dusk, and Steel Mills

If you live in the right place among the Calumet steel mills, you see the sun come up in the morning out of the lake, a row of smokestacks like prison bars across its face. It wears a triumphant smile. "Only a few minutes," it seems to say, "and I will be free—free to roam the sky for another day." You take a last look and then you forget about the sun because there is work to do.

There are ships to launch at Calumet and Pullman; ships to repair at American, and ships to load and unload at miles of docks; there's a tonnage quota to meet at Carnegie and Inland, and coke to produce at Interlake; there are tanks to fill at Standard, and electric power to produce at Stateline and Edison. Cranes swing back and forth, vehicles rumble, trains shriek and scream, and the pulsating, crashing roar becomes a strident harmony, enjoyed mainly for the prospect of pay day.

Along about twilight, when you're tired and your day's work is done and you've had your supper, you sit on the porch with your pipe and remember the sun which gave you such an eager farewell in the morning. You remember it not because you're a poet or a song writer, but because it's looking you right in the eye again, and dropping down among the smokestacks at Republic. This time you are smiling triumphantly—smiling because you know it's just a vagrant, blazing open hearth coming home to roost for the night!

ONE OF A KIND

(Adv.: "One of a kind cravats, $30 and up.")

The well dressed are wearing, I'm startled to find,
Cravats past comparing, just one of a kind;
They cost, says the ad, thirty dollars per each,
Which puts such a fad sort of out of my reach;
I find it unnerving—I ask on the spot,
Whose neck is deserving a thirty-buck knot?
Does tie so exclusive get worn only once?
The problem's elusive—or am I a dunce?
I crave a cravat; the craving's immense,
But where I shop at, they're 59 cents!

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks will answer questions of service men, veterans, and their dependents by mail if stamped envelope is sent to 435 N. Michigan av. The Tribune's veterans' bureau, 1 S. Dearborn st., Superior 0200, gives personal interviews.]

L. M. asks: "Will the time I spent in college under ASTP be deducted from the total time I will be entitled to education at government expense under the G I bill?"

Yes. You are entitled to one year of education when you have served 90 days or more plus all time spent in active service, but less any time spent in ASTP or the navy college training program. If you were in ASTP six months and then had two years of active service, you are entitled to two and one-half years of schooling.

H. R. J. asks: "Does a discharge with 100 per cent disability mean that the veteran is unable to work and earn a living?"

Determination of the veteran's disability is up to the rating board of the veterans' administration. This board is not bound by the finding of any army or navy medical board at time of discharge. If a veteran is rated 100 per cent disabled by the VA board, it is assumed he has lost all ability to perform his normal occupation. In arriving at this decision the board would decide how much normal skill a man has left, despite his injuries, and subtract from 100 per cent or normal. Veterans receiving compensation are subject to reexamination from time to time. At time of original rating, a man may be found to be 100 per cent disabled. If his condition subsequently improves, his rating would be reduced after the next examination.

PENICILLIN IN MIDDLE EAR INFECTIONS

INFLAMMATION in the nose and throat is one of our biggest medical problems. The germs responsible for these conditions are many. Unfortunately, they are prone to wander and are likely to settle in locations from which it may not be easy to dislodge them.

Most of us have heard of the tiny duct called the "Eustachian tube," which leads from the side of the throat into the middle portion of the ear. Its main function is to admit air into this chamber so that the pressure inside the drum will be the same as that on the outside. Only thru this mechanism can we accommodate ourselves to atmospheric changes such as are necessary in flying an airplane or traveling deep into the bowels of the earth.

Occasionally bacteria find their way into this passageway and cause irritation. The ensuing plugging may produce a dull sensation. When the middle ear is invaded by organisms we call the disorder "otitis media." Stuffiness may be one of the earliest manifestations but, as pus begins to accumulate, pain develops. As the amount increases, tension rises with the result that the drum bulges toward the external canal. This is what the doctor sees on examination. The victim may exhibit fever and an elevated white blood count. At this stage, the drum is usually punctured rather than allowed to rupture by itself. We depend upon free drainage to avoid spread to the mastoid area.

The sulfonamides made it possible to treat the infection before there was excessive pus formation. This often eliminated the necessity for the minor operation described. Of course, when pressure became so extensive that the membrane looked as tho it were ready to pop, surgery was still demanded, but the discharge cleared up more rapidly under sulfa therapy.

With the advent of penicillin the possibilities for even quicker cures were evident. Here was a drug which occasioned fewer reactions and no kidney complications. It was capable of overwhelming the harmful germs. It is true that it affected only certain types, but at least the most frequent offenders were laid low. In a recent navy survey, penicillin was employed successfully in 36 victims of acute ear infections and mastoiditis.

It is logical to assume that most cases will be helped by penicillin, but we must not depend entirely on this product as other methods, used in combination, will be necessary in a certain number. In other words, we have three avenues of approach: penicillin, sulfa, and surgery.

Sufferers of chronic otitis media have persistent oozing as a result of an acute attack years before. The majority are improved by keeping the parts clean, whereas others respond to one antiseptic or another. Recently Swanson and Baker instilled a solution of penicillin directly into the middle ear. In two individuals whose infection was due to the staphylococcus, drainage stopped and no sign of it has since appeared.

Medicine is making marked strides and diseases which gave us great concern in the past are losing their sting gradually thru these marvelous remedies.

OOZING GUMS

Mrs. K. writes: My gums bleed whenever I eat or brush my teeth. What could this be from?

REPLY

Usually from pyorrhea, but a lack of vitamin C may also be responsible. Have your dentist inspect your teeth as dental decay may be a factor.

HEMORRHOID

S. L. writes: I have a hemorrhoid outside the rectum which does not bleed or cause pain. Should it be removed?

REPLY

At this stage treatment is not always necessary.

STONE SWALLOWER

Mrs. R. writes: My 3 year old son swallowed a prune pit about a month ago. It has not passed. Will it dissolve of itself?

REPLY

No, but the chances are that you missed it.

EYE NERVES

F. D. writes: Can neuritis attack the eyes?

REPLY

Yes, in several ways. When the optic nerve is involved, sight may be influenced; shingles of the cornea may cause ulceration of the outer membrane.

Beer Ain't Shittlee

A wily, hungry gentleman around town already has selected a political slogan for 1948 which he hopes to get rolling off every tongue now. It is the "full dinner pail" of McKinley and 1900. Without being nasty about it, it might be timely to remind him that this slogan was revived briefly in 1928 during the Hoover campaign with, as its partner, the "chicken in every pot" which Henry IV, tried some time before the French revolution. In 1928 it merely produced 1929.

Either slogan, chickens or dinner pails, is certain to elicit a tremendous following in these rationed years among the unwary, but before falling for this golden promise, O, public, return with us to 1900.

The advantages of that era of high tariff were legion. You could go to Europe first class for $50. You could buy eggs at 14 cents a dozen, sugar at 4 cents a pound, gingham at 5 cents a yard, a boy's three piece wool suit for $3.45, a pair of shoes for $1.97, a complete trousseau for a bride for $75, a stylish three piece parlor suite for $10.40, and a 39 cent muslin nightgown for 19 cents.

For $1.99, if you watched the Sunday ads, you could get a fine steel bed. For 25 cents you could get a five pound roe shad and for 35 cents a bushel of potatoes. Texas steers were selling at $4.25 a hundredweight, a seven room flat rented for $35 a month, theater tickets sold at 25, 50, and 75 cents, and a classified ad offered a double diamond tiara that "has had little wear" in exchange for "something useful."

You would have had no income tax, and such a thing as a surtax still was in the realm of incredible fancy. Your dreams would not have bothered you, for Freud's first book on psycho-analysis had just been published and only queer intellectuals tried to wade thru it. You would not have been annoyed by the voice of woman over the land, for females could vote in only four states and Mrs. Humphrey Ward's new novel, "Eleanor," was not what you today might think. You probably would have been bearded, pompous, and as fat as the first commission to the Philippines which Taft headed in 1900. The average weight of the five members of this body was 227 pounds.

On the other hand a man's life span was only 48.2 years. Almost any of the diseases then known as the scourge of man would have knocked you out — typhus, pneumonia, diabetes, typhoid [the anti-typhoid vaccine was discovered in 1896, buf was generally ignored], and yellow fever, which was solved as the year went out. Moreover, if you were a man, you would never have known the meaning of comfort, for you would have worn a hard derby, stiff collars and cuffs, a blue serge suit, fleece lined underwear, high shoes, and heavy socks the year around. You probably would never have tasted orange juice, cod liver oil, or vitamin pills, but you would have been an expert on Prunella, the patent remedy of catarrh; if you were a senator or an ex-general, you undoubtedly would have indorsed it. You also would have missed knowing about the polar regions, what happened after the Kitty Hawk, and the niceties of the silent flush.

We can, if you wish, leave you right here, able to fill in mechanical wonders, globe compassing, extra wars, and one world as you happen to remember them, but we'd rather be precise and tell you that with the full dinner pail went [in one Sunday paper] 10 columns of situations wanted and only six columns of help wanted. A good stenographer earned from $6 to $10 [top] a week, a girl label sampler earned $2.50 a week, sweat shops were as much accepted as horses, and the eyebrows of the whole nation arose in shocked incredulity when workmen on building construction in Chicago struck for an eight hour day. Judging from the newspapers of that day, great joy was manifest by caries' victims when the accidental omission of a tariff on imported false teeth made some Cassandra say it would bring the price of them down to 30 cents a set. But, as you know, this did not come to pass, nor was the full dinner pail here to stay.

SMALLER PORTIONS, SAME PRICES

Chicago, May 31—Despite all exhortations that come over the air, I pay over ceiling prices every day of the week, and there is not a thing I can do about it.

I eat in popular priced restaurants three times a day, and while these observe their posted ceiling prices, they do not give what the orders call for. Take butter, for instance. Butter usually sells for 2 cents a pat, but most eating places, particularly the chain outfits, have cut out butter entirely, without reducing their prices accordingly.

An order of wheat cakes always included two square of butter, which, at 2 cents each, constituted about 20 per cent of the entire cost. Now, the butter is replaced by a dash of jelly, which you can take or leave, but the price remains the same.

So, also, egg orders and sandwiches always included butter at the ceiling prices, and again, these without butter cost the same as formerly. Some places cut the number of prunes from six or five to the order to four, but held the price of the greater number. That really means a 20 per cent increase, or better, in cost. Others eliminate side dishes of vegetables or salads, usually served with meat or fish dinners or plate luncheons, but they do not cut the price.

Now, I ask you, what can I do about it—and not go hungry? J. N. N.

DOLE-RE-MI

Chicago, May 31—Well, I see by the papers that they're fixin' to put the unemployed on the dole, and a darb of a dole if I ever heard of one—25 bucks a week. No rakes or shovels to fool around with. No questions asked about the dough and war bonds you've got stached away. It's about time that the double time on Sunday patriots got a post-war break. This time they are not going to be allowed to go broke, or, anyway, not until after everybody else is busted.

By that time somebody will have figured out a way to beat the horses, or a money chain-letter system that will work, and everything will be all right. Boy, tell the boss I want to see him. Tell him it's about a name on his old fashioned pay roll. Dole me, uncle, dole me. Put me down for the limit on that dole—and keep the re-mi for yourself. JAMES E. OSBORN

CARE OF DOGS

Chicago, June 4 — "Citizen" believes that no dog can be trusted and that they should be muzzled for the safety of humans. When an animal is trained right and not mistreated there is no reason in the world why we cannot trust a dog. Many people, however, think they can keep dogs locked up in dark basements for safe keeping, and take them out occasionally for their amusement. A dog should be treated like the intelligent animal he is if we expect him to treat us right.

THE SAME FRANCE

Chicago, May 31—So France is shelling Damascus! I think this is the same France which fizzled out when Hitler attacked; which preaches "liberty, equality, fraternity"; the same France whose soldiers now wear American made uniforms and shoot American made ammunition. Please tell me I am mistaken. T. R. MOSS

COMBAT CREDIT

Kewanee, Ill., May 31—I am inclosing a copy of a letter I just received from my son in Germany:

"Am finding it hard to concentrate on anything except the army's recently announced point system. Fair as it may seem to the people back home, we—infantry boys—feel that it is one big farce. The army claims to be taking four factors into consideration — children, time served in the army, time spent overseas and combat. The joke lies in the last of the four factors. For having spent seven months on line [by "on line" I mean in the impact area of any Jerry weapon you care to mention], the original members of my company have been awarded one battle star —five points. Had we been stationed in the rear those seven months and never heard a shot fired, we would still have been awarded that battle star and received five credit points. Just because some of us are not sporting medals is no indication that we didn't see combat. We have all [and I mean a great deal more than once] clawed at the earth for protection—whether it was grassy, muddy, or ice encrusted, or maybe it was a hay stack, a pile of beets, a bush, or even a cardboard box behind which we sought to escape the deadliness of the Germans' rifles, machine guns, rockets, artillery, and planes. Many of our friends fell. We received no medals nor do we expect any, for we only did our job as infantry men. However, we do feel that the infantry, armored outfits and combat engineers are due more credit by the army's point system." RAY DAVIS

A CHANGE OF DICTATORS

Chicago, May 30—I am an ex-service man, a title which today is a novelty, but tomorrow will probably become a burden. The question is, what have we accomplished? We overthrew one dictatorship and installed another in its place — Russia in place of Germany. When the United States withdraws her forces from Europe, Russia will be as much the master of Europe as Hitler was in 1941, only more so, because she will have no determined opponents. Britain without the United States is impotent. Are we to be drawn into another sanguinary war to protect England from the U. S. S. R. as we protected her from the Nazis?

The San Francisco conference, inaugurated amid many protestations of humanity, has resolved itself into a scheme to perpetrate tyranny, with the United States as policeman. May God forbid! JOSEPH F. NELSON

BOND SPENDING LIKELY TO WAIT TILL '46 BUDGET

Early Bids on Lesser Issues to Be Asked

While bids will be sought in the early future on some of the bond issues approved by Chicago voters in Monday's election, Mayor Kelly expressed doubt yesterday that expenditure of any funds would be made until all items are considered and included in the 1946 city budget.

City Controler Upham is expected to advertise for bids shortly on the $1,500,000 bonds for garbage and street equipment, $500,000 for garages, and 2 million dollars for police and fire stations. Mayor Kelly said, but added he did not think money could be allotted until the council considers the next budget. He said the same procedure would be followed in respect to the 2 millions playground bonds.

Delay in Airport Spending

No expenditure of the 15 millions in bonds authorized for post-war airport purposes is anticipated by the mayor for four or five years. Authorization of the bonds, Kelly pointed out, was sought so the city would be in a position to match federal funds if and when they become available. He expressed doubt that doubling of the 15 million bond total by federal funds would be the complete answer to Chicago's post-war air needs, but added it would be sufficient to start any program that may be adopted.

The mayor said increased salaries for Municipal court clerks and bailiffs, approved by the voters, must await recommendations from the Municipal court judges, which will be considered by the city council when it takes up the new budget.

See Park Spending in 1947

Expenditure of the first of the 24 millions in park bonds probably will not start until 1947, park board officials said. The first yearly issue of 6 millions is expected to be included in the next park budget which will be taken up next January. The same amount will be issued each year for four years, after which it is anticipated that at a later election authorization will be sought for a 36 million dollar bond issue to complete the park board's 10 year plan.

County Clerk Flynn yesterday swore in Circuit court judges elected Monday. Missing from the ceremony were former State's Atty. Courtney and Judges Michael Feinberg, Thomas J. Lynch, and Leonard C. Reid. Formal induction will be held June 15 in the courtroom of Chief Justice Julius H. Miner for Elmer J. Schnackenberg. Swearing of Courtney, the only other new Circuit judge, is expected later this week.

Kelly Goes to Washington

Before leaving yesterday for Washington, Mayor Kelly said he will confer with national war production board officials in an effort to obtain priorities for the manufacture of garbage cans. He said he would recommend purchase of 20,000 cans by the city if the priorities can be obtained.

While in the capital the mayor will attend the graduation of his daughter, Patricia, from the Georgetown Visitation academy and will confer with war department authorities in an effort to persuade them to alter the itinerary of Gen. Eisenhower to include Chicago among cities he will visit.

DAY by DAY on the FARM by GAIL COMPTON

June 5, 1945

THE men were forced to mark time last week because rain and low temperatures kept them from the fields. The animals, however, continued in full production and there now are seven new additions to the Aberdeen-Angus herd. The calves all were born in the last week and six of them are heifers, which is good news.

With six out of seven calves females, the herdsman now expects a run of bull calves. Usually the final count is about half females and half males, but there is a tendency for cows to produce a few more bulls than heifers. The score on the Angus herd so far this season stands seven out of eight calves living. The men hope they can equal the record of last season when the farm had 41 good calves from 42 heifers.

Extermination Campaign

The red squill rat bait has arrived and the extermination campaign is under way. In various localities where the rat population is heavy the men spread out tempting food, such as corn, oats, and other farm feeds. This was done several times to encourage the rats to help themselves. Then the food was poisoned with red squill. As it all was eaten, there undoubtedly have been a goodly number of the marauders killed already.

A few days of baiting will go far toward elliminating the pests, but the job will not be complete. Rat poisoning should be a year around activity on every farm, especially where there are old buildings. As fast as one crop of rats is killed another pops up to take its place, so the baiting must be a continuous process.

Along with the red squill, the manager also was able to get his order for molasses partly filled. He received six tons, which will be used in making grass silage. As the alfalfa or clover is chopped and blown into the silo, molasses is added to aid in fermentation and make the feed more palatable.

Corn Planting Held Up

Corn planting has been held up for a long time now, but the men as yet are not worried. If June 10 passes and the seed is not in the ground, then they will begin to fret. Corn planted by June 10 still has time to mature before the normal frost date in the fall. Late planting, however, causes lower yields and increases the danger of lodging.

The men will have to fit the fields again before planting starts because the rains have allowed the weeds to get started once more. The late planting will be beneficial as far as the field south of the machine shed is concerned. The men now will be able to scour the weeds from the ground when they are well developed but still not ready to seed.

The GARDEN by Ben Markland

THE shortage of herbs and spices on grocery shelves is causing many gardeners to plant these garnishes. A 25 foot row provides sufficient space for several kinds of herbs and spices.

Most of the common spicing materials are annuals planted from seed. They include sweet basil, coriander, thyme, and summer savory, all of which provide leaves for flavoring gravies, soups, and sauces. Anise and caraway provide seeds for flavoring pastries. Sage, as well as thyme, is planted for the production of leaves which are dried and used for seasoning sauces, stews, and dressings.

Housewives who make a quantity of cucumber pickles each summer usually prefer growing their own dill for flavoring. Dill can be planted now for the production of flower heads in mid-August.

TRUMAN URGES CONGRESS PASS RACE LABOR LAW

Washington, D. C., June 5 (AP)—Speaking sharply to congress for the first time, President Truman went to bat today for the fair employment practice committee, terming its abandonment "unthinkable."

Acting after the house appropriations committee had deleted FEPC funds from the war agencies appropriation bill on the ground that the war-created agency lacks legislative authority, the President called for immediate passage of FEPC legislation.

His stand was taken in a letter to Chairman Sabath [D., Ill.] whose house rules committee has bottled up a bill creating a permanent FEPC.

The President urged that the committee give the right of way to the measure to permit action in the house.

It Faces Abandonment

"Unless it is sent to the floor, the members of the house will have no opportunity to vote upon it," the President said. "The result will be that on July 1 next the principle of fair employment practices will have been abandoned by the house of representatives."

The letter raised speculation as to the effect it will have upon southern Democratic members who long have battled against the agency, first set up by former President Roosevelt by executive order to prevent war time discrimination in employment because of race, color, or creed.

"To abandon at this time the fundamental principle upon which the fair employment practice committee was established is unthinkable," President Truman wrote.

Warns of Industry Strife

"Even if the war were over, or nearly over, the question of fair employment practices during the reconversion period and thereafter would be of paramount importance.

"Discrimination in the matter of employment against properly qualified persons because of their race, creed, or color is not only un-American in nature, but will lead eventually to industrial strife and unrest."

The President said the principle of fair employment practice "should be established permanently as a part of our national law."

The war time agency has been kept alive by congressional appropriations voted over the opposition of many southern Democratic members in both houses.

Their opposition has blocked administration efforts to get the house rules committee to report out a permanent FEPC bill for floor action. A companion bill, approved by the senate labor committee, faces the threat of a filibuster on the senate floor when it is called up there.

ILLINOIS G.O.P. ELECTS 51 OF 71 CIRCUIT JUDGES

Sweeping victories for Republican judicial candidates in gaining 43 of the 51 judgeships in the 17 downstate circuits were interpreted yesterday by Illinois Republican leaders as forerunners of still greater gains in the 1946 elections.

Monday's balloting brought Republicans a gain of 12 judgeships downstate and left only eight Democratic judges outside Cook county. Coalition in Cook county gave the Republicans eight of the 20 judges here, making a total of 51 Republicans out of 71 circuit judges in the state.

Gov. Green, viewing the judicial ballot results with satisfaction, said a study of incomplete returns showed Illinois voters had demonstrated an overwhelming preference for Republican candidates. He pointed out that four of the eight successful Democratic downstate judges had no opposition.

Are Books Just Merchandise?(*)

Back in 1938 President Roosevelt ordered a reduction in the postage rate for books and removed them from zoning regulations. This was required, he said, to promote "the cultural growth, education and development of the American people." At that time the move was hailed as a dramatic answer to Nazi burning of books, demonstrating the contrast between a people's government, which encourages the free working of men's minds and the tyrant who fears it. The reform was hailed, too, because it seemed to bring to a successful conclusion a long campaign by educators, librarians and the most intelligent of citizens generally against a parcel-post system which classed books as "miscellaneous merchandise." The hailing was premature, for a bill has been introduced in Congress to restore the old high rates and the zone system.

This nation is now leading world-wide movements to foster a freer flow of news and knowledge from one country to another. It seems an awkward time to have to start all over on the home grounds. The principle of a flat rate for reading matter is well established for newspapers and magazines. When, some seven years back, books were treated differently, it took 26 cents to send a two-pound book to Los Angeles, 10 cents to Yonkers. Since most books are published on the Eastern seaboard, it does not take a mathematician to figure that zone rates mean that the Deep South and the Far West must pay a substantial differential. Strangely, it is a Southerner, Representative McKenzie, of Louisiana, who has suddenly decided that books are, after all, just merchandise, and that if Southerners want to read them they can pay extra for the privilege.

We can't but believe that America's faith in learning is as strong or stronger than it ever was. Americans will be loath to restore any unnecessary barriers in the way of the flow of thought and ideas from one end of their land to the other. It would be best if Mr. McKenzie's bill just quietly died. But since hearings have now been set for June 12, protests are emphatically in order.

An editorial which appeared in the New York Herald Tribune, May 31, 1945.*

If, as we hope, you are interested in blocking this discrimination against books, we urge that you write your Senators and Representatives in Congress immediately expressing your views in this matter.

We urge that you wire them two days later asking that they get your views in the record at the hearings to be held June 12th before the House of Representatives Post Office and Post Roads Committee.

RIOT OVER NEW MEAT PLAN IN HAVANA, CUBA

Attack Dealers Who Protest Sale; 1 Dead

HAVANA, Cuba, June 5 (AP)—A youth was killed and several injured today when 10,000 persons demonstrated in front of the presidential palace over a new meat distribution plan initiated by the government.

The victim died instantly when his head was shattered by a heavy blast, probably from a shotgun. Eyewitnesses said the boy was killed when police attempted to break up the demonstration with tear gas.

Consumers Fight Dealers

Under a plan to break up black market meat sales and end a beef shortage, scores of government-operated motorized meat markets during the day toured the city in a producer-to-consumer plan in which government-stamped sacks of meat were sold to Havanans.

After a morning distribution in which hundreds of city residents carried home meat bought from the vans, some 2,000 meat dealers and their employes staged a march on the palace protesting the government plan.

Shortly afterwards, several thousand persons attempted to break up the demonstration and a number of fist-fights broke out and stones were thrown.

A police cordon quickly was formed around the palace as the crowd continued to increase.

Crowd Disperses

The crowd dispersed at evening after delegates for the meat dealers conferred with President Dr. Grau San Martin.

Under the government plan each purchaser was allotted two pounds of first class meat and two pounds of second class by the meat truck. Consumer prices were listed at 22 cents a pound for first class meat and 18 cents a pound for second class.

THOUGHTS that HEAL and PREVENT DISEASE

THE GROWING recognition among physicians and others of the value of thought in the treatment of disease, Christian Science shows to be a development of much significance and promise.

It is a step toward the universal adoption of a healing practice like that of the Founder of Christianity. For, as Christian Science shows unmistakably, a scientific method of thought was responsible for the superb healing work of Jesus. The same method, fully explained in this Science, accounts for its own remarkable cures today.

What often remains as a problem in medical practice after it has been seen that improvement in thought can improve the body, is the apparent impossibility of improving thought. This problem is solved by Christian Science, which discloses and proves that the kinds of thoughts which overcome and prevent disease are really natural for everyone.

The complete explanation of Christian Science and its method of healing and preventing disease is given in

EDUCATOR, VET WILL ADDRESS HONOR STUDENTS

Radio Program Stars to Be Tribune's Guests

An educator and a marine who saw action in the Pacific will speak at 6 p. m. today at a dinner given by THE TRIBUNE in the Hotel Sherman for 57 honor roll students on its radio program "Citizens of Tomorrow." The speakers will be Maj. Frank Beals, an assistant superintendent of the Chicago public schools, and Sgt. Ward Walker of the marines, who is on military leave from the Tribune editorial staff.

The students will come from the five Chicagoland states, and after being the guests of the Chicago Association of Commerce at noon today, also in the Hotel Sherman, they will participate in the last transcribed "citizens'" program which will be recorded at 3 p. m. today in the W-G-N audience studio.

All to Appear in Pageant

On the radio show will be a W-G-N orchestra, directed by Henry Weber. All 57 honor students will appear in a fast moving pageant entitled "Parade of Ambition," and Philip Maxwell of THE TRIBUNE'S editorial staff, who is known as the "principal of the air," will speak. Joseph Konitzki, 17, senior student at Elgin High school, a tenor, will sing "I've Got Plenty of Nuthin," from "Porgy and Bess," by Gershwin. In the audience will be 10 students each from 42 public and vocational schools.

Fifty-eight of the 69 honor roll students of the radio program had planned to be present, but yesterday the mother of William R. Frieden of Moline wrote that her son already had joined the army air forces. The three out of town students to arrive earliest this morning will be Barbara Jean Rowe of Elkhart, Ind.; Marcella Binder of Plymouth, Wis., and John Henry Lussier of Wausau, Wis. Chaperones will meet many of the incoming students.

Gillette to Be Speaker

The students will be welcomed at the association luncheon by Thomas B. Freeman, president. The principal speaker will be former Sen. Guy M. Gillette. After the recording party in the W-G-N studio the students will tour Tribune Tower and visit the observation tower. At the dinner tonight a reading, "The White Cliffs of Dover," will be given by Marilyn Hughes, youthful dramatic star. After the dinner the honor roll students will be the guests of Frank Bering, manager of the Hotel Sherman, in the College Inn.

The record radio show, the last of the sixth series of "Citizens of Tomorrow" will be heard at 10 a. m. Saturday on W-G-N.

MOVE TO FORCE VOTE ON STATE FEPC MEASURE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Springfield, Ill., June 5—An attempt to force a record roll call of the house on the fair employment practice bill will be made tomorrow. Rep. Jenkins [R., Chicago], Negro co-sponsor of the FEPC measure, today served notice he will make a motion to discharge the bill from committee.

Both the house and senate judiciary committees have referred FEPC bills to subcommittees for study over an indefinite period. Senate sponsors say they will seek a roll call on the bill before the legislature adjourns June 30.

G. O. P. PICKS UP A SEAT IN HOUSE FROM MONTANA

Voters Back Enemy of Burocracy

Helena, Mont., June 5 [Special]—In the first congressional election since last November, traditionally Democratic Montana's second district today chose a Republican, Wesley D'Ewart, vigorous foe of centralized burocracy and government paternalism.

The election had been watched as an indication of the trend which might be expected in the 1946 nation-wide congressional campaign. Today's was the first campaign held since President Truman's assumption of office.

D'Ewart's Democratic opponent, Leo C. Graybill, conceded defeat after unofficial returns from 343 of the district's 754 precincts gave D'Ewart a lead of 18,905 to 15,863.

Critic of Burocrats

D'Ewart, a Wilsall rancher and business man, was an outspoken critic of centralized federal control. He declared tonight "the real issue was the concentration of power in federal hands."

Far out of the running were Robert Yellowtail of Lodge Grass, a full blooded Crow Indian running as an independent, and E. Spriggs of Wyola, Socialist. Yellowtail had 2,218, Spriggs 142.

Montana's Republican Gov. Sam C. Ford, who campaigned actively for D'Ewart, said:

"I am delighted that D'Ewart won. He is the most capable man. He has a fair understanding of our problems and will represent the best interests of Montana."

D'Ewart will succeed the late Rep. James F. O'Connor of Livingston, a Democrat.

Opponent Backed Valley Plan

Graybill in campaign addresses had stated that his election would be a vote of confidence in President Truman's policies.

D'Ewart had asserted that the time has come to revert to government by the people rather than continuing to let government exercise a paternal guardianship over the people. D'Ewart opposed the Missouri valley legislation proposal advocated by Graybill.

Democrats received a previous jolt in Montana in April in the Great Falls city election when Fritz Norby, Republican, defeated Incumbent E. L. Shields.

3,000 HEAR GARY SINGERS OPEN MUSIC CONTEST

Three thousand persons attended the sixth annual Gary Music festival held last night in the Memorial auditorium in Gary. The concert was the first preliminary festival to be held this season in connection with the 16th Chicago Music Festival and was sponsored by the Gary Council of Music Organizations. More than 500 entertainers took part.

Eight choral groups and the famous Carilico band of the Carnegie Illinois Steel corporation participated with individual vocalists and instrumentalists. Two winners of the Gary vocal contest sang and received ovations. They were William O'Donnell, 17, baritone, and Gloria Gonan, 17, mezzo soprano.

Other Gary vocal winners who will take part in THE TRIBUNE semi-finals on Aug. 18, will be: David Colosimo, lyric tenor; Howard B. Lockhart, bass-baritone; Dorothy Colburn, coloratura; Frances Petersen, lyric soprano; Patti Browne, dramatic soprano, and Laura Scofield, contralto.

The second portion of the concert featured the Carilico band, directed by Ken Resur, and the steel company choruses conducted by Harry Walsh of Chicago.

A. B. Dickson was executive director and A. L. Greene was chairman of the vocal contest. Glenn Wilson designed the stage settings.

ASK 125 MILLION STATE FUND FOR SOLDIER BONUS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Springfield, Ill., June 5—Democratic legislators banded together today as sponsors of bills to appropriate 125 million dollars for the immediate payment of a state bonus to discharged veterans of World War II.

The Democrats conceded privately that the bills wouldn't pass, but regarded them as good propaganda for future political campaigns. The Republican majority, on the advice of American Legion officials, has promised a bonus but has taken the stand that specific payments can't be guaranteed before hostilities cease.

The Democratic plan calls for the immediate appropriation of 100 millions from the state treasury for bonus payments.

Edward J. Barrett, Democratic state secretary of state, suggested that the maximum individual pension should be $500 for overseas duty or $300 for domestic service, to be computed at $1 a day overseas and 50 cents a day in this country.

PRESIDENT HARRY S. TRUMAN BRIDGE
Provides . . .

President Harry S. Truman Bridge

. . . a NEW Time-Saving ROUTE

ROCK ISLAND engineers, constantly studying ways to improve the service, suggested a new route through Kansas City. This necessitated bridging the Missouri River at a new point.

The new route and the President Harry S. Truman Bridge, now in operation, eliminate the "turning" of through passenger trains, saving much valuable time for the traveling public, speeding ROCK ISLAND'S service to and through Kansas City, the "Heart of America."

The route will provide a new faster freight line through the city, separate from the passenger line.

This important improvement is but one of many that ROCK ISLAND has made. Other bridges have been built; Centralized Traffic Control has become a reality; lines have been straightened and grades reduced; modern Diesel and steam locomotives put into service—all to the end that ROCK ISLAND shall furnish finest transportation. All were steps in this railroad's famed Program of Planned Progress. Important in winning the war, assuredly—but equally important when America resumes its normal peacetime growth and prosperity.

As yesterday—and today—so tomorrow ROCK ISLAND'S sole purpose is to provide the finest in transportation.

ROCK ISLAND serves America! A pioneer railroad, grown great with our nation, it offers an 8,000-mile modern, well-maintained railroad for the nation's service and convenience. You can travel and ship everywhere, via ROCK ISLAND.

FEDERAL ACTION ASKED ON TITLE TO CANAL'S BED

Super-road Work Awaits Passage of Bill

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Springfield, Ill., June 5—Members of the legislature said today that they are asking prompt action by congress to pass a bill needed to clarify the state's title to the right of way of the old Illinois and Michigan canal, which is to be a modern super-highway across Chicago.

"I am getting in touch with Sen. Brooks and Sen. Lucas to make sure there will be no delay in passing the bill requested by the Illinois and Michigan canal commission," Rep. J. Ward Smith [R., Ottawa], chairman of the commission, said in an interview.

"The state cannot take further action until that measure is approved by congress. In it the federal government cedes to the state all its interest in the canal bed and the adjacent 90 foot reserve strips. After that is accomplished, we can go ahead to establish the state's full title to the old canal."

Two Bills Introduced

Smith said the federal bill, introduced by Sen. Lucas [D., Ill.], is before the senate committee on interstate commerce. A similar measure was introduced in the house by Rep. Sabath [Rep., Ill.]. All members of the Illinois congressional delegation have indorsed the project.

Sen. Daley [D., Chicago] assured Smith there would be no difficulty in obtaining prompt action by congress regarding the status of the old canal.

The canal extended 96 miles from Chicago to Peru and was to a large degree responsible for Chicago's early growth. Completion of the paralleling Illinois deep waterway resulted in the abandonment of the canal.

Route of Super-Highway

The super-highway would start in Summit or some other point between Chicago and Joliet and would extend across Chicago's southwest side to a connection with the central business district. The canal itself terminated at Ashland av. and the south branch of the Chicago river.

"Downstream the old canal would be an ideal parkway with scenic and historical interest, and sportsmen also are interested in its development," said Sen. Ole Benson [R., Ottawa], a member of the legislative commission. "That is why we are anxious to get agreement on its final disposition, without a prolonged delay."

The right of way questions to be settled by congressional action involve the reserve strips in the even numbered sections along the canal. The state was given the even numbered sections under a land grant when President Monroe was in the White House.

SENATE PASSES BILL EQUALIZING COUNTIES' TAXES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Springfield, Ill., June 5—A bill to put all Illinois on a uniform assessment basis at full value was passed, 39 to 4, by the senate today with the only speech being made by Sen. Walker Butler [R., Chicago], chairman of a special legislative committee which recommended a lengthy legislative program.

"Last week we passed a bill to provide for taxation uniformity within each downstate county," Butler told the senate. "This companion bill provides for uniformity between the counties."

The bill, which was sent to the house, would give the state department of revenue power to equalize assessed property values on a 100 per cent basis. The previous bill would create a new downstate county official, supervisor of assessments, who would be charged with establishing assessment uniformity within each county.

Butler's committee was appointed by Gov. Green in an effort to end the confusion which arose when Assessor John S. Clark put Cook county on a theoretical 100 per cent basis in 1943.

THREE DIVORCE BILLS KILLED BY HOUSE GROUP

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Springfield, Ill., June 5—Three bills to provide simpler grounds for divorce were killed in the house judiciary committee today. Rep. Sullivan [D., Springfield], minority floor leader, made a motion to recommend that the bills not pass and it was carried by an 11 to 4 vote without discussion.

Under one bill, "indignities" rendering life burdensome would be basis for a divorce. Sponsors were Representatives Arrington [R., Evanston] and Randolph [R., Chicago]. Randolph also sponsored a bill to make three years separation grounds for divorce.

Third bill in the series would authorize the granting of a divorce from a person who has been adjudged insane and has been confined to an institution for at least five years immediately preceding the divorce suit. This measure was sponsored by Rep. Euzzino [D., Chicago] and Arrington and Randolph.

Thru the Looking Glass

If you like the soft, unmadeup look—an effect that is particularly flattering to young girls and to older women whose hair is silvering—you'll like the new liquid cream makeup base that one of the houses has just launched. It seems to us an ideal finish for dry skin, the chronically dry kind that never feels smooth enough to suit its owner and which, in winter and summer, seems to be a little drawn.

This comes in a two ounce bottle and its contents last a long time because you use only a few drops dotted over the forehead, the nose, cheeks, and chin, and then smoothed out quickly and evenly over the whole surface of the face. It goes on the skin with the same softness and delicate moisture that table cream would, and it feels like balm to skin that's dry and crinkly.

It couldn't possibly be drying in its effect; it imparts softness by its very creamy nature. At the same time it isn't heavy, nor does it look masklike; it just gives the skin the infinitesimal moisture it needs to hold makeup and to be petal soft. We're quite enthusiastic about it, since dryness is the big problem for us and ever so many more women in this territory.

This comes in six flattering shades, ranging thru the beige tones, flushed in varying tints with rose, to a fine coppery tan. As a base it gives an undertone of freshness, and it lasts extremely well. What's more, you can freshen your makeup beautifully when you wear this by patting the face with water or light skin lotion, blotting it gently, and then dusting again with powder. This is a great trick when you're wilted but hurried.

Common Sense Cures Child's Behaviorisms

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1945: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"My little son sucks his thumb," writes a young mother. "I am trying to break him of the habit, but it seems to be taking quite a bit of time.

"Well-meaning friends and relatives have been telling me tales about the results of this habit which are, to say the least, somewhat terrifying, and they think I should take more drastic means to stop my 3-year-old's thumb-sucking. I hate to have to punish him all the time."

Scaring the parent is, quite unintentionally, the result of some schools of child psychology, as well as that of friends and relatives. They attach a sinister significance to what, for lack of a better sounding name, we call bad habits in children. They explain these habits, or the consequences of them, in a way that is distressing and often frightening to a mother. Consequently, she attaches too great importance or I should say the wrong kind of importance to them, which makes her less able to go about the work of breaking the habits in a calm and effective manner.

Other psychologists and doctors of equal skill and wide experience interpret these habits in a way more reassuring to a mother. They do not give them overwhelming importance. They take them seriously, but not too seriously. And so by a more everyday attitude they make possible a more competent handling of the habit problem. They express the need for doing something about it nevertheless.

The child who sucks his thumb, the child who bites his nails, the little child who, day and night, does not say when he needs to go to the bathroom, the older child who in his teens is a victim of enuresis—all are at a disadvantage as a result of the habit.

They must be cured. It is not fair to them to let these habits continue. Each one has its special drawback for the child, mentally and physically. These drawbacks are important in themselves, even if they have no deeper results or significance to make parents desire to break them.

A mother, in order to be successful in breaking a habit, must first be convinced that she is responsible, not the child. She may when a child is old enough enlist his cooperation, but when he is little it is up to her to find the means of getting the desired results. Scolding, blaming, and punishing are out of the picture. Every bit of testimony shows the futility of those measures.

Instead, encouragement, interest, appeals to pride, approval and endless patience, and an underlying knowledge of the cause, are the soft but powerful weapons that break undesirable habits in our children.

Women to Go All Out in Behalf of Bond Campaign Tomorrow

The women's division of the war finance committee will give its speakers' bureau full opportunity to raise the feminine voice in behalf of the 7th war loan tomorrow. Augmented by stage and radio actresses, professional lecturers, and writers, among them Sophie Tucker, K. T. Stevens, Leona Powers, Frances Faye, Rosa Raisa, Edith Mason, Mary Hastings Bradley, and Florence Bourke Ellis, the uniformed speakers' corps will canvass Chicago and the suburbs to talk bond buying in the larger hotels, restaurants, and theaters.

Directing the "women speakers day" are Mrs. Walter R. Kirk, chairman, and Mrs. Fred W. Schaefer, who originated the plan, Mrs. Gerhardt F. Meyne and Mrs. Adolph O. Hartmann, vice chairmen.

From the small group organized immediately after Pearl Harbor, the speakers bureau has increased to 250 volunteers, all of whom have been trained in treasury department classes conducted by professors from the University of Chicago, Northwestern, and Loyola universities, the Dale Carnegie institute, and other schools. The bureau includes a radio division whose members broadcast daily.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., June 5—Katharine Hepburn's next picture after "Sea of Grass" will be "The Damask Cheek," written by John Van Druten. She'll have the same producer and director she had in "Without Love," Larry Weingarten and Harry Bucquet. . . . Joan Fontaine wants to do "All Brides Are Beautiful" if Selznick will lend her. That's the one in which Bill Prince will play the male lead. . . . "The Body" gets the garter—meaning Marie McDonald gets the leading role in "Getting Gertie's Garter," with Dennis O'Keefe handling the garter. . . . Cecil De Mille's last picture for Paramount is taken from "The Judas Tree," by Neil Swanson. It's America before the Revolutionary war. He wanted to call it "The Frontiersman," but I believe Warners beat him to that title. . . . Warners have a new actor on their lot. He always wears his hat. His family makes 'em. His name is James Dobbs. . . . Ann Sheridan is wanted for another "oomph" part, but so far Annie hasn't said yes or no.

Welcome Was on Mat

Clifton Webb got the works at 20th Century when the powers-that-be gave a luncheon for him. Ida Lupino owes 20th a picture, and some one suggested that she do the lead in "Razor's Edge." . . . Paramount signed Norman Siegel of Cleveland to what is known as a glamor contract. The pay is that big. He used to be radio editor of Cleveland Press. . . . I hear Constance Bennett's got a hit in "Paris Underground." . . . Kim Hunter does her next picture in England. It's "A Matter of Life and Death," with David Niven. . . . What's this about Marlene Dietrich being thru with pictures? She has one more to make with Metro, and she wants to do it. And I should think she would, 'cause Marlene, as the years went by, wasn't what you might call a saving gal. She spent faster than she made.

A Pair of Kindred Souls

Joan Blondell and Clark Gable are sure having fun on the set of "Strange Adventure." They have coffee in the morning, tea and cookies in the afternoon, and shoot the breeze, 'cause Joan has the same sort of sense of humor that Carole Lombard was blessed with. . . . Harry Sherman called up with great joy, and said, "Why, the fellows back in Washington must read your column, Hedda. I just got my quota of film and can go ahead with my pictures." Incidentally, his daughter, Teddi, has the biggest role of her life, in "Golden Boy," which opens at the Pasadena Playhouse July 3. . . . Errol Flynn and Nora are trying to prove that two can live as cheaply as one, even tho they're living under separate roofs. . . . It's Bob Montgomery on the accordion and Dr. Barnard on the guitar who make what they laughingly call music every Sunday. But the neighbors have a different word for it.

She's Traveling Light

Before pushing off for New York, Dorothy Garland, Judy's sister, got two dresses from Donn, Ltd., that will answer for a whole wardrobe. With accessories they can be turned into day or night gowns for any occasion. Incidentally, Dorothy has a beautiful voice and probably will step into a nice spot in a night club back there. . . . Mike Todd's overseas jaunt was for 90 days, and I'm told by a guy who just saw him over there that he's doing a swell job. . . . I just received my first nazi armband, from Sgt. Tony Sacco. It came from Klagenfurt, Austria. Tony used to play in the band at the old Trocadero. He's been a wandering minstrel man in Italy, France, and now Austria. They've given over 600 performances overseas, and he writes, "It looks like we'll be here for a long time to come. We're playing for the troops while they're demobilized. I hope you've heard my song 'Mail Call,' and I've got a new one—'I Can See My Man, with a European Tan, Marching Down Old Broadway.'"

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY

Accent on the Individual

Eugene J. Benge gave a witty and intelligent talk before a group of personnel directors recently. He made amusing reference to the diligence of the ant—"that small insect which, tho always at work, still finds time to go to picnics"; defined the average man as "the fellow who thinks he is well above the average"; and spoke of ability in terms of "what you have that nobody recognizes." Then he pointed to these interesting facts:

"Over the last 100 years of American industry, management has developed many accents. The original accent was on materials, but this was soon followed by attention to machines. There followed, in succession, managerial stress on methods, money, and markets. Today we witness the era of the importance of the individual. There was a period when employers hired hands. It was thought that one pair of hands was about equivalent to another, much as one tractor might be equal to the next. The curse of this fallacious thinking is upon us."

Returning

The course of true love ne'er runs smooth;
How well I know that's true!
But still ours weathered time and tears
And spanned a sea or two.

Now you've returned, aloof and strange—
The flame no longer burns.
Ah yes, I've heard that in the spring
A young man's fancy turns!

CULLIE.

Seams All Right

We have a girl in our office whose legs are bowed. Her stocking seams curve the opposite way, if you know what I mean. Sort of balances things. POOR RICHARD.

Times Have Changed Dept.

"When the wretched truth dawns upon you that the music and the dancing are secondary things, and that you are being hugged, actually hugged by a man whom you are not going to marry, you must resist the impulse to put both hands against him and push with all your might. You simply get tired suddenly and ask to be taken to your chaperon."

Community Trust Disburses $253,914 to 154 Institutions

The Chicago Community Trust, an organization which administers gifts, bequests, funds, or foundations for specific, limited, or general welfare purposes, disbursed $253,914 to 154 institutions during 1944, Frank D. Loomis, secretary of the trust, reported yesterday. The 154 were charitable, social, educational, and religious institutions of Chicago and vicinity or serving Chicago people. The amount disbursed was $40,000 more than last year.

The major purposes served by the disbursements were, according to Loomis' report, family service and relief, care of children and the aged, and education.

Loomis announced additional endowments in 1944 of $657,000. The largest were one of $400,000 from the residuary estate of Clifford W. Barnes and one of $200,000 from Albert W. Harris. Total endowment funds of the community trust whose income is at present available for charitable use amount to $8,835,672. In addition, more than $3,000,000 is being held, the income of which is still being paid to individual beneficiaries, but which later will be available for general welfare purposes. Loomis' report was presented by Edward L. Ryerson, chairman of the trust's executive committee.

Chicago Area Art Exhibition Disappointing

BY ELEANOR JEWETT

The 49th annual exhibition by Artists of Chicago and Vicinity will open in the east wing galleries of the Art institute with a reception and preview for artists and members this afternoon and evening. It will open to the public tomorrow and will continue thru Aug. 19. This year the exhibit includes water colors, drawings, prints, and advertising designs, in addition to oils and sculpture, giving it a much less formal air than our previous Chicago shows.

The exhibit is tragically small and distressingly thinly hung. It has much more the appearance of a student show than of an exhibition of work by mature artists. Modern art is rampant, and there is only a handful of substantial pictures.

Clinton King's "First Communion" is by far the most delightful painting and Sylvia Shaw Judson's bronze "Portrait of John McCutcheon" the finest sculpture. "The River," by Lucille Roebuck Keeler; "Composition," by Louis Ritman; "Fall Landscape," by Francis Chapin, and a still life of flowers, table, hat, and scarf, a water color, by Zsissly, practically complete the list of worthwhile paintings. Such a tragic show has not been our lot before.

A jury of five, composed of Milton Horn, Laurence Schmeckebier, Boardman Robinson, Ben Stahl, and Karl Zerbe, gave 14 of the 16 awards. The other two prizes were given by the Municipal Art league and the Art institute, respectively.

The Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Logan Art institute medal and prize went to "Joan of Arc in Montebourg" by Aaron Bohrod; the Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Armstrong prize of $300 went to "Landscape" by Martyl; the William H. Bartels prize of $300 was awarded to a soldier, Pvt. Kenneth G. Nack, for a Chicago scene, "West of the Near North Side." William S. Schwartz, veteran Chicago painter, won the Mr. and Mrs. Jule F. Brower prize of $300 with "Nature Versus Man."

The Art institute print committee offers three prizes. The $150 one went to "Street from My Window" by Frank Vavruska; the $100 prize to a realistic lithograph of a heavy female nude, "The Ephemerid," by Ivan Le Lorraine Albright; the prize of $75 to "In the Street Car," a silk screen print by Harry Anton Weiner.

The Municipal Art league prize of a $100 war bond was awarded to John David Brcin, well known Chicago sculptor, for the plaster head of "Will Duvigneaud." The Clyde M. Carr prize of $100 went to "Winter Landscape" by Ruth Grotenrath; "Landscape with Figures" by Joseph Gerard won the Joseph N. Eisendrath prize of $100; Robert Long took the William and Bertha Clusmann prize of $100 with "Sunday Afternoon."

The William H. Tuthill prize of $100 was awarded to "Landscape" by Abraham Palansky. Rainey Bennett won the Renaissance prize of $100 with "Mystical Subject." The Town and Country Arts club purchase prize of $100 went to "Water Color No. 475," houses glimpsed thru leafless trees, by Harry Mintz. The depressing sculpture, "Martyr," by Joseph Martinek, depicting a lynched Negro, received the Robert Rice Jenkins memorial prize of $50. Catherine O'Brien won the Broadus James Clarke memorial prize of $100 for a Victorian front porch scene, "Facade."

The fine portrait head of John McCutcheon by Sculptor Sylvia Shaw Judson, one of the bright spots in the exhibit, received an honorable mention by the Municipal Art league.

Crowds Flock to Hinsdale's Antique Mart

BY HARRIETT PRIBBLE

"Just follow the crowd," directed a taxicab driver as passengers alighted from a morning train to Hinsdale yesterday and asked the way to the Hinsdale Antique Mart in the village's Community house.

Indeed, it wasn't difficult to spot the block long route from the station, for since the three day event opened Monday morning all roads in Hinsdale have seemed to lead to the Community house. Even the merchants in the village have gone all out in decorating their windows to advertise the mart, and the committee that conceived the idea for the show just a month ago was overwhelmed by an avalanche of 1,700 visitors the first day.

Members of the committee, with the aid of husbands and children, have used great ingenuity in transforming the Community house, which once was the exclusive club of the village and lately has been used as a youth center. The quaint red-faced coachman, for example, who sits atop the driver's box in the horse-drawn carriage on the lawn in reality is a dressed-up eiderdown bolster, which was a Christmas present to Mrs. Paul H. Robinson. The lower rooms of the clubhouse have been partitioned into 48 booths, where antique exhibitors offer their wares for sale. On the upper floor guests are invited to tour the Antique Lovers' exhibit, assembled from private Chicagoland collections under the direction of Mrs. Robinson's sister, Mrs. Edwin W. Sims Jr.

When the mart closes its doors at 10:30 o'clock tonight and votes are counted to determine the most popular exhibit in the Antique Lovers' section, the designer of that display will receive a prize.

Yesterday's visitors had a hard time deciding among the 10 attractive "nooks." Mrs. William Pope and Mrs. Harold Lawn, representing Kenilworth, caught the spirit of an old fashioned kitchen corner with an old rocker, a butter churn, and a quaint kitchen garden. Hinsdale was represented by Mrs. Paul Butler, who hung three of her own modern paintings above an antique beige satin love seat. Mrs. D. Wendell Fentress, Mrs. Willis Littell, and Mrs. Colbernt Uhlemann came from Barrington to reproduce an old fashioned spice corner, complete with copper pans and rack of geraniums.

Hinsdale homes have lent their finest pieces to be displayed in a Victorian drawing room, an 18th century dining room, a colonial child's bedroom, and an early American breakfast room arranged on the upper floor under the direction of Mrs. Junius F. Cook Jr.

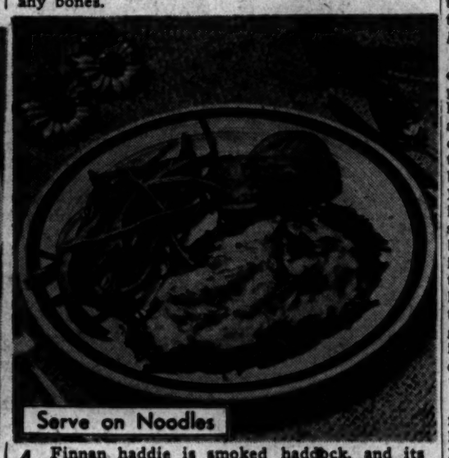
The Hinsdale Community house will be redecorated with part of the proceeds of the show, which was directed by Mrs. James S. Knowlson and Mrs. James Walker.

Mary Meade Prepares Creamed Finnan Haddie

1 Put small amount of boiling water in large kettle. Wrap 1½ pounds finnan haddie in cheese cloth. Place on rack in kettle, about one inch above water.

2 Steam fish for 15 minutes or until tender. Remove steamed fish to platter. Flake fish pieces carefully, using two forks and removing any bones.

3 Make 2 cups white sauce, using 4 tablespoons margarine, 4 tablespoons flour, and 2 cups milk. Season with ⅓ teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper. Add flaked fish.



4 Finnan haddie is smoked haddock, and its smoky flavor gives zest to this creamed dish. Serve hot on crisp noodles, toast, or baked potatoes. Serves six.

1,000 to Attend Boys' Clubs Dinner; Hoover Will Speak

BY JUDITH CASS

A TURNOUT of 1,000 guests, both masculine and feminine, is expected in the Grand ballroom of the Stevens hotel tonight for the 45th anniversary dinner of the Chicago Boys' clubs, which started life at the turn of the century as a small club for newsboys in the loop. Herbert Hoover, only living former President of the United States and chairman of the board of directors of the Boys' Clubs of America, will be the speaker. He will discuss the manner in which the future of America is tied up with the character building of youth.

As chairman of the committee on arrangements for the dinner, Silas H. Strawn, a member of the board of directors and long time friend of underprivileged boys, will serve as toastmaster. Before the dinner the directors will give a reception at 6:30 p. m. in the hotel's north assembly room. Mr. Strawn will give a luncheon for Mr. Hoover today in the Chicago club.

Boys' clubs are located in the city's most congested areas. Thru a goal this year of $400,000, the clubs hope to open a health center in the Old Town club, to erect a new club in the Woodlawn district, to open a new girls' camp in Indiana to give summer vacations to 400 girls, to expand the boys' summer camps in Winona Lake, Ind., by erecting cabins to care for 400 more boys, and to build an annex to the Lincoln club, the oldest and most overcrowded in the group.

William H. Regnery is president of the Chicago Boys' clubs. Assisting Mr. Strawn tonight are Ralph Budd, Gen. Charles G. Dawes, James S. Kemper, John G. Searle, and Gen. Robert E. Wood.

Here and There

At least two teas are on this month's calendar for young women of debutante age, both of them planned as informal and rather small gatherings. Comdr. and Mrs. Richard Bentley have set June 23 as the date for a tea they will give for their daughter, Alice Wrenn Bentley, a student at Dana Hall. She finished at the North Shore Country Day school a year ago. The party will be given in the Bentleys' Lake Forest home, and it is hoped the bud's father will be able to come from his post in Washington, D. C., where the Bentleys have been living, for the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. James F. Oates Jr. are planning a similar informal tea, probably on June 30, in their Lake Forest home for their daughter, Rosalind. Mr. and Mrs. Oates also lived in Washington for a while, and the party will be to reacquaint Miss Oates with her girlhood friends and friends of the family. She is a graduate of the Garrison Forest school in Baltimore and is finishing her first year at Bryn Mawr.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl F. Kuehnle have selected Sept. 1 as the date of a debut tea which they will give in their Winnetka home for their daughter, Carolyn.

Comdr. Harry Boysen of the naval reserve medical corps will be welcomed home from 18 months in the Pacific at a cocktail party to be given this afternoon by his sister-in-law, Miss Mary Dougherty, in the University club. Mrs. Boysen flew

Stephanotis Is Ideal Flower for the Bride

BY REA SEEGER

June is the month when gifts for brides have a high priority in shops and stores. Flattering wedding veils and headdresses alone are worth a shopping trip immediately. And if you crave real flowers to crown your head, see your florist at once. He has traditional all white blooms such as gardenias, brides-roses, white orchids, and newest and most romantic of all, the fragrant waxy flowers of stephanotis.

Nothing equals the haunting perfume of stephanotis. The tiny flowers look like ethereal white stars and are especially beautiful when arranged to accentuate a filmy net veil or one of priceless lace.

Stephanotis can be carried in arranged arm bouquets or combined with gardenias for a corsage; all-white, with delicate pastel tinted flowers, or with deep, waxy, green foliage. Most unusual arrangements are the halos of stephanotis and the romantic corsages, the latter massed with a single or double gardenias. To wear them, and to enjoy their sweet and unforgettable fragrance, is the very essence of romance.

If real flowers are not possible for your bridal headdress see the new tiny seed pearls bunched in floral effects. They are strung on flexible wire, wire so thin that they flutter most realistically with every movement. Coronets and nosegay bunches are both available. Another double coronet effect is made of glistening white sequins sewn to the rolled crescent shapes, one on each side of the coiffure. New circular short face veils of white fine net are used with these new headdresses of sequins or seed pearls.

Honeymoons on the Riviera Given Yanks

BY ANNE BRUYERE
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, June 5—Uncle Sam believes in helping out everybody, even Cupid. He has just put at the disposition of matrimony minded GIs and WACs one of the most romantic spots in the world, Cote d'Azur, as the Yanks' honeymoon headquarters.

Among those to have a honeymoon on the Mediterranean is a curly haired, hazel eyed, 26 year old Chicagoan, Sgt. Dorothy R. Gisser, drum majorette of the 769th A. A. F. band and formerly a participant in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S annual Music Festival. Dorothy was married a few days ago to Corp. Lewis W. Newbury of Cleveland, O., in Notre Dame cathedral. The cathedral was crowded with Americans, who showered rice and all the trimmings on the bride.

Carrying a white satin Bible, and in an off-duty dress embellished with white orchids, Dorothy said, "All I had to do to get married was to say 'Yes' and pick the date. The army provided the transportation, church, wedding reception, and honeymoon, with a week to do what we please."

Nice, Cannes, and Juan-les-Pins have been transformed into a honeymoon dreamland by Uncle Sam. Newlyweds may stay at luxury hotels such as Negresco, Le Rhuin, and Le Plazza, and go yachting or cruising or play baccarat.

Of course there still are MPs around, but they are forbidden to say no to anything. Their new job is to know where to obtain champagne, motor cars, and bathing suits.

Chicagoans stationed in London, Frankfurt, Naples, or Paris, meet friends at the Chicago club in Cannes, where there are also New York and Philadelphia clubs. Each of these takes its turn at entertaining. Orchestras playing hot and sweet music are at the beck of American couples, as well as GIs and WACs on leave. The sun is always shining and the water's fine.

Due possibly to Uncle Sam's new Riviera honeymoon headquarters or the spring love bug, Yank marriages in the last month have totaled 89 in Paris alone.

ON THE RECORD

By Claudia Cassidy

Rodzinski's Rachmaninoff, Milstein's Spanish Symphony, Strauss Waltzes, "Laura"

Advance notice of Artur Rodzinski's welcome return to Ravinia is served by his vivid Columbia album featuring what used to be one of the showpieces of the Chicago Symphony. It is Sergei Rachmaninoff's Second Symphony, in E minor, played by the New York Philharmonic under Mr. Rodzinski's direction [M-569; six 12-inch records], one of the more desirable sets since peace with Petrillo.

Deeply rooted in the romantic traditions of the 19th century, the Rachmaninoff Second belongs with the Second and Third Piano Concertos in the front rank of the Russian's work. It was a success from the start, winning the Glinka prize of 1908 from Scriabin's "Le Poème de l'Extase." Frederick Stock had a special affection for it, and he made it a truly noble work.

Mr. Rodzinski's performance is primarily a brilliant one. Not all the depth is there, or the nobility, and any recorded performance of so flowing a work is necessarily checked in occasional midair by the end of a record. But it is a liquid, volatile performance, expertly recorded with sensitive feeling for the reinforced line that creates true Rachmaninoff climax. The scherzo is a tribute not only to the quality of the music, but to the good health of the orchestra.

Milstein's Lalo

One of Nathan Milstein's more effective vehicles is Lalo's Symphonie Espagnole, the curving, lighthearted music written 70 years ago for Sarasate. Recording it deftly with Eugene Ormandy and the Philadelphia orchestra [Columbia M-564; three 12-inch records], Mr. Milstein has emulated his original predecessor, or so Columbia says, by omitting the intermezzo—but then violinists are always losing one of its five movements by the musical wayside. Mr. Milstein has a field day with what is left—the introduction, scherzando, adagio, and rondo. How about recording the Paganini caprices as encores?

Waltz Time

Two albums of Strauss waltzes for dancing are new on the shelf. Robert Stolz, composer of "Zwei Herzen" who comes to Grant park this summer, gives a Viennese touch to a Decca set of four 10-inch records, and Bob Stanley's orchestra is more crisp than creamy with another four for Sonora. Both albums hold "Blue Danube," "Emperor," "Southern Roses," "You and You," "Wine, Women, and Song," and "Tales of the Vienna Woods." Mr. Stolz adds "Artist's Life" and "Vienna Blood" ["Wienerblut" does sound better, doesn't it?], while Mr. Stanley's extras are "Voices of Spring" and "Thousand and One Nights." Remember these are dance sets, with each waltz cut to one record side.

Singles

Probably not since "Intermezzo" has a movie theme song so bewitched the public as the dreamy tune in the dusky brilliance of "Laura." Werner Janssen and his Los Angeles orchestra have recorded it for Victor on a 12-inch which also holds Alexander Tansman's neat Scherzo from the picture, "Flesh and Fantasy." . . . Risë Stevens has recorded Schubert's "Ave Maria" and the "Going My Way" version of "That's an Irish Lullaby," with orchestra conducted by Sylvan Shulman. This is a Columbia 12-inch and not for me. . . . Victor's 1,000th Red Seal set will be scenes from Mousorgsky's "Boris Godunoff," with Alexander Kipnis, Ilya Tamarin, a Robert Shaw chorus, and orchestra directed by Nicolai Berezowsky. . . . Artur Rubinstein has a new Debussy set on the way.

Woman's Club to Hear Talk on Dutch Indies

Dr. Huberta Frets Randall of the American Relief for Holland, Inc., will speak before the Chicago Woman's club at 11 a. m. today in Curtiss hall. The program is the first of a summer series arranged under the direction of Mrs. Robert E. Lanestrem, recently appointed summer activities chairman.

Catholic Actors' Guild to Have Benefit Party

The annual party of the Catholic Actors' guild will be held tomorrow night in the Knickerbocker hotel. A vaudeville program will be given, with music under the direction of Carl Schreiber, and Vincent Pelletier will be master of ceremonies. The Rev. Edward V. Dailey, editor of the New World and chaplain to the guild, said the party is a benefit for needy actors.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 heart	Pass	1 spade	Pass
3 spades	Pass	4 hearts	Pass
4 spades	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Six of hearts.

The bidding of today's hand follows conventional lines. The only bid calling for comment is West's jump to three spades. While such a bid by the opener normally shows an excess in high card values which West does not possess, nevertheless there is no other satisfactory bid available to him. An alternate bid of two diamonds, as a temporary measure, with the intention of showing spade support later, has the objection that there may be no "later," because responder is under no obligation to bid again.

To South the prospects of defeating the contract did not appear bright so that he quite properly decided that drastic measures were in order. He therefore opened his singleton heart. North won with the ace and returned the seven, East followed with the nine and South ruffed. He lazily exited with a diamond and with that lead there exited his hope to beat the hand.

Declarer took the precaution of discarding the good queen of hearts before drawing trumps and wrapped up the bacon. "I couldn't tell you had the ace of trumps, partner," was South's plaintive bleat. Well, I'll grant that South couldn't tell his partner had the ace of trumps but that is quite beside the point. It was very obvious that unless North held the ace of trumps there was no way to beat the hand. That being the case, South should have proceeded upon the theory that his partner held that card. South contended that his partner should have employed the suit preference convention when he returned a heart. That convention provides that when your partner is ruffing something, the size of the card that you lead to him indicates the manner in which he may again give you the lead. A high card, calling for the higher ranking suit and a low card for the lower ranking suit. That would call for North's return of the jack of hearts, and perhaps he should have done that. But the convention has reference to side suits and not trump so that it is doubtful that South would have recognized it in any event.

When there is only one possible way to beat a hand, it is good business sense to play that way.

Fifty Negro members of the WAC will arrive Friday at Gardiner General hospital, where they will serve as medical and surgical technicians, Maj. Gen. David McCoach Jr., commanding officer of the 6th service command, announced yesterday.

The WACs and another contingent of 40 which will arrive at the hospital June 15 will be housed in temporary barracks the army has erected in Burnham park between 47th and 48th sts. They were recruited in a recent campaign to enlist women in the WAC to serve in more than 70 general hospitals.

INSTALMENT XXXIX.

SOCIAL CALL

Nobody had anything more to say until they reached the Jennesma house. Miss Warburton and Winnie refused to be driven to the cottage.

"I'm going in to see Kim for a minute," Winnie said. "He didn't go to the funeral, I guess. See you later."

Kim was in the small room that served as his office. Winnie hesitated, then knocked on the door.

"Yeah?"

Interpreting this rightly, she entered, closed the door, and leaned against it. Kim was working in a nest of spreadout newspapers. He took off his glasses, rubbed his eyes, then kicking a heap of papers off a chair, he motioned her to have it.

"I'll only take a few minutes." She was dignified.

Maybe it was the white linen suit she wore, or the white hat clutching the curls over her right eye. But her face almost matched her clothes, and there were still violet semi-circles under her eyes. That dirty devil Dirk, Kim thought. How could she still love him?

"Okay. Shoot."

She couldn't know his crossness was for her and not at her. "I know you think I'm a horrid nuisance, but I've nobody else to ask. O I forgot. Your hand." She glanced in dismay at his left hand. The palm was still bandaged.

"What about my hand."

"Can you drive with it?"

"Certainly. What's on your mind, Winnie?"

"Well, I wondered if you could spare time to drive me into town this afternoon and wait for me a little while. About five."

"Am I to know why?"

"No. I mean I hoped you'd be big enough not to ask. You see . . . I promised Lt. French I wouldn't do anything foolish . . . I mean go off by myself and do things. See?"

"Okay!"

"O! That's sweet of you Kim. I just want to say this isn't something that might . . might——"

"Skip it. I'm crazy to do it."

She accepted this and left with a sigh that went to Kim's heart.

The several Jennesma cars were always at Kim's disposal but he preferred his own dark green La Salle coupe.

Winnie crossed the cement turnaround still wearing her white suit. Her gold curls had been brushed into sculptured smoothness.

Kim looked quickly away after closing the door he had held for her.

"Say when."

"Madison av. It's nearly downtown."

"I know." And how he knew. Dirk lived on Madison. Dirk was at the factory at this hour. Stayed till the night shift. Was she going to call on Dirk's mamma?

Very little was said. He slowed up as he turned into Madison av.

They drove slowly for several squares, until Winnie, who had been counting numbers said:

"Middle of next block, please. I don't want to stop in front of the house."

"Dirk's?" Kim couldn't resist asking. But Winnie shook her head. She got out.

"Just a sec. Is this one of those if-I'm-not-out-in-half-an-hour-come-in-after-me jobs?"

"The pause grew embarrassing. Suddenly the girl said: 'Look. Are you from the police?'"

Winnie laughed in a nervous way. She was keyed up.

"Goodness, no. It's just a—a social call. On a woman."

"Okay." He watched her across the street with her sedate city step, very smart, very lovely. She went up the walk toward an old frame house that needed paint. Next to it was a thin windowed yellow brick. The brick was Dirk's.

The screen door was hooked. Inside was a dark hall, with ugly dark old furniture. Winnie shivered and pushed the bell. She could hear it ringing and ringing. But some one must be at home. She kept on ringing.

After at least five minutes she heard the thump of footsteps coming downstairs. A girl in a print cotton house dress, bare legs, and sandals rushed toward the screen door.

"What do you want?" Her tone inferred that Winnie had been annoying her.

"I—I've come to talk to you." Winnie had prepared a neat set of questions and answers which she saw were not going to work.

"We don't want anything."

"I'm not selling anything."

"Who are you, then?"

"I'm Winifred Leslie. And please let me in. I won't keep you long. I just want to talk for a few minutes. Maybe it's your aunt, or mother or maid I want to see."

"We haven't any maid. There's just my mother and me, and she's an invalid. Can't walk or move. Who sent you here, anyway?"

The girl's face was close enough to the screen so she could be seen clearly now. She might not have been unattractive if she had not been so sulky, so suspicious.

Winnie stared at her. This then was what Dirk had called "the woman next door." Distrust began to complicate Winnie's problem.

"I want to talk to you about Dirk Adams."

The girl's eyes seemed to fill with fire. They blazed thru the screen. She opened the door.

"O. I see. Come in. What did you say your name was? Winifred Leston?"

"Leslie."

They sat down on stiff hard chairs and inspected each other. The girl's hair was dark brown, so were her eyes. The hands she clasped on her knee had done plenty of housework.

The pause grew embarrassing. Suddenly the girl said:

"Look. Are you from the police?"

"The police? Of course not. That's just what I'm trying to do. Get the police out of Dirk's affairs."

"O, yes. You mentioned Dirk before. Are you the one who took him away from me by any chance? The last one, I mean?"

Winnie reddened becomingly. "But I didn't know anything about you."

"O, I know. You wouldn't. I know him. Well what do you want of me? You've got him. Or I suppose that's what you think."

Her virulent tone was having effect on Winnie's temper.

Father and Son Miss the Mark as Violin Duo

BY ALBERT GOLDBERG

Music for two violins is one of the rarest of concert novelties. The literature is not large but it contains some choice items, and when two competent or better violinists choose to subdue the egoistic impulses of the soloist for a common purpose the effect can be entrancing. One of our earliest and most treasured concert memories is of such a program played by Eugen Ysaye and Mischa Elman.

Last night's recital of music for this combination, played at Kimball hall by Nathan Aaron and his son, Philip, was unfortunately not of that stature. It had an aspect of touching human interest—the proud father teaching the young idea how to shoot, and all that—but the purely musical qualities of the demonstration were of a dubious nature.

The elder Aaron is, perhaps naturally, a better fiddler than junior. His tone is reasonably good; he has a steady bow arm and a fair sense of rhythm. Young Philip experiences the difficulties encountered by most students, with, it seemed, a few extra ones thrown in. Neither senior nor junior plays in tune for very long at a stretch, and sometimes both stray from rectitude simultaneously.

Of the entire program only Bach's Concerto was originally intended to be played on two violins. The rest consisted of transcriptions by the elder Aaron—a highly debatable rearrangement of Mozart's "Sinfonia Concertante," Chopin's D flat Nocturne, Ries' "Perpetual Motion," which perpetually moved in two opposite directions—three, if you count the piano—and "Rhapsody in Blue," which was blue all right, but not the shade Gershwin intended.

Giants' Offer Still a Myth to Gallery

BY HY TURKIN

New York, June 5 [Special]—Speaking of premature armistice announcements, the pro football world had one of its own last week-end, when the Brooklyn Tigers were officially reported to have won their long battle to gain permission from the football Giants to use the Yankee stadium as a home field in 1946. On the contrary, these items were unearthed today:

Tom Gallery

1. Tom Gallery, general manager of the Tigers, angrily walked out of the league meeting last Saturday, losing all patience with a conditional list of 14 points which the Giants demanded in exchange for their okay.

2. J. Arthur Friedlund, Tigers' attorney, has discovered that no territorial rights are technically at stake in a transfer from Brooklyn [Ebbets field] to the Bronx [Yankee stadium], and is prepared to institute legal action if the Giants remain fractious.

3. A phone call to Marine Capt. Dan Topping, Tiger owner, stationed in Hawaii, gave Gallery and Friedlund full approval to reject the "ridiculous" Giant demands and get tough . . . even to the point of bolting the National Football league to switch to the All-America conference.

Tom Gets a Call

Apparently the false peace stories have gained credence in even the highest circles. Two days ago Elmer Layden, National Football league commissioner, phoned Gallery his congratulations. "About what?" Tom drawled.

"About gaining the Giants' permission for 1946."

"I dunno," snapped Uncle Tom. "All I know about it is what I've been reading in the papers. I walked out of that meeting, you know. Just what strings did they finally attach?"

"The agreement is in the mails now, and you'll see the exact terms in a few days."

"Okay, I'll tell you our answer then."

Silent on Giants' Demands

After many long months of arbitration, the Giants last week presented the Tigers with a list of 14 points—but these are apparently as ill-fated as Woodrow Wilson's.

Gallery refused to divulge the exact concessions demanded, tho he classed many of them as "unbelievable" and added pessimistically, "That's a poor conclusion to such long arbitration. I don't blame them for trying to protect their lucrative interests, but I just can't make them see that the receipts from just our two interclub games would more than make up for any home dates they might lose against Pittsburgh or Detroit, or such."

Gallery Tells of Big Plans

Gallery admits that the Tigers have to be built up far above their poor showing of the last few years before their rivalry with the Giants, perennial first placers, could reach a sell-out pitch. But he says the improvement already is on the fire.

"After all," he says, "Topping has more than a half million dollars tied up in this league franchise and players, and more than a million in his ball park interests, so it's only logical that he field a first rate team in the stadium. . . . Even if he has to switch leagues.

"We've already signed the man we consider the best coach of all, Comdr. Jock Sutherland, and, starting Dec. 31, we'll have the services of the greatest talent procuring agent in the game. I can' tell you his name now, but if I did, you'd know we're headed for big things."

Alexis Gains New Strength in Derby Field

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Louisville, Ky., June 5—The Christiana stable's Alexis, one of the three eastern invaders with designs on next Saturday's Kentucky Derby and its rich purse and high prestige, has the race minded citizens of Louisville worried no end.

The bay son of Heliopolis-Misleading occasioned great concern by a workout at Jamaica yesterday during which he churned up a sloppy track in sizzling fashion over the full Derby distance of a mile and a quarter. The 'speedster went the route in 2:05 3-5, easing up an additional eighth in 2:19, a performance considered sensational on the slowest of Long Island's ovals.

May Get Favorite's Role

In the opinion of local turfmen, Alexis now must be moved up in consideration for the heavy end of the $75,000 added purse and many believe he even may go postward the favorite despite his defeat by F. W. Hooper's Hoop Jr. in one division of the Wood Memorial.

Alexis is due at Churchill Downs some time tonight and Col. C. V. Whitney's Jeep, winner of the other half of the Wood, will arrive tomorrow. Hoop Jr. has been on the grounds for several days.

There still are 18 nominees listed, altho it has been reported from California that Jay Paley, new owner of Best Effort, will not permit him to run. Leon Tikulski's Icangetit definitely will pass up the Derby and remain at Hawthorne. Another "probable" was added, however, when Joe's Choice, owned by Leo Caillioutte of Nashville, Tenn., hung up the best time of the meeting for three-quarters of a mile yesterday.

Canadian Entries Arrive

Three Canadian horses arrived this morning. They are Harry Hatch's Fair Jester and the Kenilworth farm's Bert G., and Kenilworth Lad. They joined Air Sailor, Burning Dream, Bymeabond, Darby Dieppe, Fighting Step, Foreign Agent, Misweet, Pot o'Luck, Sea Swallow, and Tiger Rebel, the other probable starters.

Misweet, by the way, will be the 27th filly to start in the Derby if her owner, Arthur Rose of Mount Clemens, Mich., doesn't change his mind. She is a very fast daughter of Bel Athel and owns convincing victories over both Derby Dieppe, surprise winner of the Blue Grass stakes Saturday, and Fighting Step, which finished second to the gray runner.

The last time a filly started in the Derby was in 1936 when Gold Seeker of the Foxcatcher farms wound up in ninth place in a field of 14 which was led by Bold Venture. The best that any filly has been able to do since Regret won in 1915 was third place for Viva America in 1918 and Prudery in 1921.

Thirteen Set with Jockeys

Thirteen of the entries are all set for riders, only Burning Dream, Hoop Jr., Kenilworth Lad, and Tiger Rebel of the more probable starters being without jockeys. Both Ivan Parke, trainer of Hoop Jr. and Jimmy Smith, trainer for Col. E. R. Bradley's Burning Dream, are trying to get Eddie Arcaro who rode Hoop Jr. in the Wood. Buddy Haas will ride Air Sailor. Ken Scawthorne has Alexis and Willie Garner will be permitted to pilot Best Effort, altho under suspension as is Freddie Smith who was blamed for the jam caused by J. K. Houssel's Bymeabond in the Blue Grass.

Robert Summers will ride Bert G. and the others will be Melvin Calvert on Darby Dieppe, Bobby Watson on Fair Jester, George South on Fighting Step, Kempton Knott on Foreign Agent, Arnold Kirkland on Jeep, Len Dodson on Pot o' Luck, George Woolf on Sea Swallow, and Art Fischer on Joe's Choice.

BETTY JAMESON, GOLF CHAMPION, JOINS PRO RANKS

New York, June 5 (AP)—Betty Jameson, twice women's national amateur golf champion, turned professional today.

Betty Jameson

Twenty minutes after signing a contract to represent a sports equipment manufacturer she was en route to the company's factory in Springfield, Mass., to talk with workmen concerning her ideas about women's golf equipment.

The 26 year old Texan said that she would spend much of her time in the future in exhibitions and holding golf clinics, but that she would continue tournament play wherever possible. She added that she expected to play in the Women's Open at Spokane, Wash., in August.

CHICAGO yesterday lost one of the most colorful sports figures it has developed in the death of Jim Mullen. . . . He made and dropped a fortune as a boxing promoter, but he never lost faith in the game. . . . To his enterprise more than any other factor boxing became a legalized sport in Illinois. . . . He was among the pioneer associates of this department in the promotion of Golden Gloves. . . . He was a friend when a fellow needed a friend since we became acquainted with him shortly after World War I. . . . Soccer is the nearest thing to a universal sport, with basketball the runner-up. . . . The former is played under an identical code of rules in dozens of nations in both hemispheres. . . . The Russians go for both soccer and basketball, but they can't seem to get the hang of our national sport. . . . Capt. Sergei Pronin, master of a Russian ship, was attending an exciting world series game last fall in St. Louis, where his craft was commissioned. . . . At the height of the action in Sportsman's park, Capt. Pronin's American host looked at his guest and found him settled down in his seat sound asleep. . . . Don Hutson, the famous Green Bay Packer end, will leave in a few days for a six weeks' U. S. O. entertainment tour overseas. . . . The Giants' Bill Voiselle is on his way to a great season, but he expects no help from the Cincinnati Reds. . . . Bill scored 21 victories last year and opened the 1945 campaign with a run of nine straight but he still hasn't beaten Cincinnati. . . . The Reds were mauling him in the second inning last week when Ace Adams came to his rescue, the only time Bill has faced them this spring. . . . Owing to the vagaries of early spring rosters, we overlooked Catcher Jim Pruett and Pitcher Charley Gasaway, both with the Athletics, and Infielder Tommy Nelson, who went to the Boston Braves along with Dick Culler, mentioned in our first bulletin. . . . DODGER HOMER BEATS GIANTS IN 14TH, 6 TO 3

Goody Rosen Blasts One Off Adams

New York, June 5 (AP)—Goody Rosen's homer with one on sparked a three run Brooklyn spurt in the 14th inning tonight to defeat the New York Giants, 6 to 3, before 39,946 fans.

The Dodgers had come from behind to tie the game in the ninth, scoring twice after two men were out. Hal Gregg then came in and blanked the Giants with three singles to receive credit for the victory. Bill Voiselle started for the Giants and seemed well on his way toward his ninth triumph in his fifth attempt. After yielding a run in the first inning, he held the Dodgers to two hits, needing only one more out to end the game. But a scratch single by Howie Schultz, playing his first game for Brooklyn this season, two consecutive walks, and a two run single by Pinch Hitter Ben Chapman which trickled off Second Baseman George Hausmann's glove, not only deadlocked the game but drove Voiselle to the showers.

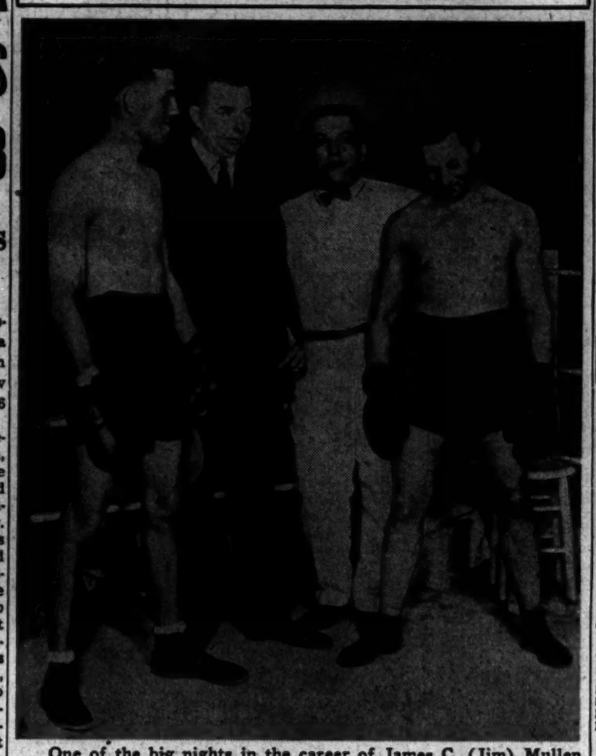
DETROIT WINS RACING FIGHT; OPENS JUNE 16

Detroit, Mich., June 5 (AP)—Officials of the Detroit Racing association said today an 85-day program of horse racing will start Saturday, June 16, at the state fair grounds here.

The announcement followed immediately a state Supreme court decision staying the effect of an injunction by which Circuit Judge Guy L. Miller of Wayne county [Detroit] had banned horse racing and pari-mutuel betting.

VETERAN PROMOTER DIES



One of the big nights in the career of James C. (Jim) Mullen, Chicago boxing promoter, who died yesterday. Left to right: Pinky Mitchell, Mullen, Referee Dave Miller, and Benny Leonard in Dexter pavilion on the south side. Leonard retained his 135 pound title by knocking out Mitchell in the 10th round. The date was May 29, 1923.

DEATH CLAIMS JIM MULLEN OF GUSTY RING ERA

BY FRANK MASTRO

James C. [Jim] Mullen died in West Suburban hospital yesterday morning. Chicago's pioneer boxing promoter, who was 61, had been in the hospital for two months after having suffered a heart attack last December. Private services will be held today, his son, Ross, said "because that's the way dad wanted it." Pallbearers will include Capt. Dan Gilbert, former State's Atty. Tom Courtney, Joe Grabiner, Capt. Tom Duffy, and Dr. Michael Hough.

Mullen had a stormy and interesting career as a promoter, a campaign which well could be a chronological report of the sport in Illinois immediately before and after it was legalized in 1926. He sponsored some of the biggest bouts Chicago has had, but gained little success financially as a result of his efforts.

Helped Keep Game Alive

It was due in no small measure to his enterprise that boxing was legalized in this state after he had kept the game alive with "bootleg" contests in Aurora and East Chicago.

Jim presented the first show under Illinois' new boxing law in Comiskey park, July 3, 1926. He truly started on a large scale with Rocky Kansas defending his lightweight title against Sammy Mandell, Rockford Flash, who was a big drawing card in Chicago. Mandell won the decision.

Then came other headline attractions, including Mickey Walker's victory over Champion Theodore [Tiger] Flowers, the Atlanta, Ga., deacon, in a middleweight encounter in the Coliseum.

He Brought in Canzoneri

Mullen also arranged a bantamweight championship match between Champion Charley Phil Rosenberg and Bud Taylor in Wrigley field, but the engagement was canceled by O. W. Huncke, Illinois' first commission chairman, when Rosenberg refused to make the required weight. Shortly thereafter Huncke resigned from the commission.

Taylor later fought Tony Canzoneri for recognition as successor to Rosenberg, whom the Illinois commission ruled had forfeited his title by failing to abide by the stipulation in his contract with Bud. Taylor was awarded the verdict over Canzoneri and given championship status, altho the New York commission refused to concur in Illinois' action.

In 1928 Mullen outbid the late Tex Rickard for a 160 pound championship fight between Champion Walker and Ace Hudkins, the Nebraska Wildcat.

Loses on $125,000 Show

Walker was awarded a disputed decision over Hudkins in a 10 round slugging match which was fought in a downpour. Altho a crowd of 25,000 paid $125,000, Mullen's backers lost $15,000.

In the early '20s, after World War I., the colorful Mullen was employed as a foreman at the Griffin Wheel company. He later was appointed a deputy clerk in the Criminal court clerk's office. He also managed and sponsored semi-pro baseball teams.

It was in 1922 that Mullen took a team to Oshkosh, Wis., for a game against the local nine and became acquainted with Eddie McGoorty, star middleweight fighter. Jim became McGoorty's manager and when Eddie retired from the ring the two became partners in the operation of Silvie Ferretti's old gym on Madison st. near Wells. Afterward the promoter opened his establishment on Randolph st. and remained in business there until 1928 when it was taken over by Dave Barry, former Canadian light-weight champion and referee of the long count battle between Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney in Chicago in 1927.

Mullen and his associates, Harry and Isadore Hochstadter, closed the place after losing an estimated $50,000.

On May 29, 1923, Mullen promoted one of his first major fights under injunction in Dexter park pavilion between Benny Leonard, then 135 pound title holder, and Pinky Mitchell, junior welterweight of Milwaukee.

This Was a Big Night

By a prearranged plan Jim was to be arrested, having agreed to become a legal guinea pig in a test case of the anti-boxing law. It was a grand affair. Part of the proceeds were to be turned over to the near West Side Boys' club. Women of Chicago society, as patronesses, occupied ringside seats.

Society editors were there, too, not to mention the 6,092 fans fortunate in obtaining tickets. The receipts were $54,175. Despite the large gate profits were only $25. Mullen habitually overpaid his boxers. Leonard was awarded a technical knockout over Mitchell by Referee Dave Miller with only five seconds of the 10th and last round remaining. The verdict was disputed by Richie and Billy Mitchell, brothers and seconds of Pinky, and their protests precipitated a free-for-all in the crowd.

Mullen was released on bond that night. When the case came up before Judge Bernard J. Barasa in Englewood court, Jim was found guilty of violating the law and fined $5 and costs.

Despite Mullen's efforts, definite action to legalize the game was not taken until after THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE tested the law by sponsoring an amateur tournament in 1923 in Ashland auditorium.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN

The excellence of Joe Haynes' right handing failed to mean a thing to his White Sox associates last night when James Dykes' boys put on their first electric light act of the season in Comiskey Park before 10,214 overcoated customers.

Instead, the Sox revealed they were considerably impressed by the southpawing of Al Hollingsworth who awed them into a three hit state of helplessness which enabled the champion Browns to scrape together a 2 to 1 success against the six hit throwing of the hapless Haynes. The latter now has lost five in a row.

Break 1 to 1 Tie in 9th

However, Haynes even tho whipped did carry the show to the limit, the Browns being unable to break a 1 to 1 tie until the ninth inning, when the Sox youngster's control got him into difficulties.

The Sox started off gayly enough by scoring a run in the first inning on two hits but their joy was shortlived. The Browns tied it in the second and from this point to the finish the Chicagoans worked hard enough but not effectively. Three of them, one on a hit and the others on passes, survived in the last eight innings but none of the three passed first base. This distinction was reserved exclusively for Johnny Dickshot whose extra base wallop got him around to the plate with the lone run.

McQuinn Scores on Pinch Hit

The lapse that was to prove decisive for Haynes was a pass issued to George McQuinn at the start of the ninth. Gene Moore bunted and Kerby Farrell, when about to throw for a force play at second, dropped the ball. However, the error was partly erased when Mike Tresh picked Moore off base. After this incident George Schulte was purposely passed and Joe Schultz batted for Frank Mancuso. He made good on the assignment with a line single over first, McQuinn scoring. Later Schulte was nipped at the plate on Hollingsworth's tap, and Tony Cuccinello tossed out Don Gutteridge.

Two of the White Sox were out of the way in the first inning before Hollingsworth was given a clue that there might be mischief afoot. Dickshot gave it with his two bagger into left center and Guy Curtright with his single to left, the former scoring.

Score Tied in Second Inning

Haynes fanned Milt Byrnes and Mike Kreevich for the last two outs in the first inning but went to the opposite extreme at the start of the second, the tying run being the outcome. Vern Stephens singled to center and hustled to third on McQuinn's slow bounder into right. Stephens scored while Gene Moore was forcing McQuinn and the next two outs were easily produced on ordinary fly balls. The next Brownie to reach base was McQuinn, who walked with two out in the fourth and was again forced by Moore.

Haynes had a little difficulty in the fifth when the champions raised their hit total from two to four. Hollingsworth and Gutteridge singled after two were out, but peace was restored when Schalk took charge of Byrnes' pop up. Then the Sox took it upon themselves to do a little hitting.

Schulte Halts Scoring Threat

Farrell led off in the home sixth but his effort was scotched by a pretty neat stop of a grounder on the part of Schulte. After two were out Curtright singled again, making a total of three for the Sox.

Haynes was in a real jam in the eighth and might not have escaped damage if the Browns had exercised a little patience. With one out Gutteridge walked and, fortunately for the Sox, didn't wait to see what Byrnes had in mind. Gutteridge tried to steal and didn't make it, after which Byrnes bounced a two bagger past third base. Kreevich walked and then Stephens thumped a drive into deep right but the agile Wally Moses pulled it aboard a few feet in front of the wall. But, as related above, the ninth was different.

JOCKEY NICHOLS WINS 4 RACES AT HAWTHORNE

W. Frankfort Apprentice Paces Chicago Riders

It was Billy Nichols' day at Hawthorne yesterday, the 17 year old jockey scoring in four races, among them the day's feature. As a result, the native of West Frankfort, Ill., now is credited with 26 winners at the Lincoln Field meeting—the leader by a wide margin.

Billy's climactic effort yesterday was astride Grey Days, a 5 year old Halcyon gelding which races for H. B. Rausett. Distanced in the race won by Leon Tikulski's Icangetit last time, Grey Days took the lead shortly after the field entered the stretch and won by a neck from J. J. Keith's Four Deep. A half length farther behind was A. Ferra's Ghost Hunt, an outsider, which cut out much of the early pace.

Grey Days Returns $15.60.

Overlooked by many of the 11,206 in attendance despite the presence of the popular Nichols, Grey Days paid $15,60, $5.40, and $4.

Nichols started the day by winning with J. H. Miles' Forevic in the first race at $3. His mount in the second, Marjorie S., finished a dead last, but Billy then won with Joe Shagat at $13.80 in the third and on Sibley at $9.40 in the fourth.

Gallantry, Nichols' mount in the fifth race, was nowhere, but when the youngster bounced home on Grey Days it marked the first time this season that any jockey in the Chicago area had come up with four winners in one day.

The mutual handle for the day totaled $783,952.

Icangetit Passes Up Derby

Announcement was made at Hawthorne yesterday that Icangetit, which had been considered a Kentucky Derby prospect, will remain in Chicago and go in Saturday's $5,000 Steger if the track is fast. Weights for the race were announced by Racing Secretary W. R. Dahlstrom. John Marsch's Occupy, which will be an absentee, is top weighted with 126 pounds, and A. S. Higgins' Quizzle, which may become the favorite by virtue of four straight triumphs since racing started in Chicago, must pack 123 pounds.

FOX HEADS WIN

The Fox Head 400 Girls' softball team, undefeated on its home field this season, last night defeated the Pittsburgh Cecil Township Girls, 9 to 5, in Shewbridge field.

FARRAGUT AND FENGER NINES WIN PREP TITLES

Fenger won the south section title and Farragut the central section crown in the City league baseball race by scoring victories yesterday. Fenger triumphed, 4 to 3, in a 10 inning game with Bowen in Fernwood park. Hyde Park routed Morgan Park, 16 to 4, on the latter's diamond to move into a second place tie with Bowen.

Farragut had an easy time beating Phillips, 19 to 4, in Douglas park. Harrison qualified as the second place team by defeating Englewood, 9 to 0. Steinmetz turned back Crane, 4 to 3, in Altgeld park to move into a second place tie with Kelvyn Park. Steinmetz and Kelvyn Park probably will play the tie off today to decide which team goes into the playoffs.

The north section race was complicated when Schurz defeated Taft, 1 to 0, in Norwood park in a 14 inning game, the longest contest of the prep season. Lane Tech, state champions, beat Lake View, 2 to 0, in Welles park. Schurz is now in second place behind Lane, and Taft in third place.

Moon Mullins Transferred to Texas Base

Iowa City, Ia., June 5 [Special]—Lt. Comdr. Lawrence A. [Moon] Mullins, athletic director at Iowa Pre-Flight school since last October, will leave Friday to become staff physical and military training director of the naval air training base Corpus Christi, Tex.

It is not known whether Lt. Comdr. Jack Meagher will coach the Seahawk eleven this year. He has signed as head coach of Miami in the All-America conference, effective on his return to civilian life.

Evans Takes Top Honors in I.S.G.A. Meet

BY CHARLES BARTLETT

A bunch of the boys—nippers of 50 years and upwards—whooped it up with brassies and mashies yesterday at the Westmoreland Country club in the 22nd annual spring tournament of the Illinois Seniors' Golf association. There were 175 of them there to enjoy Westmoreland's elegantly conditioned acreage, not to mention the weather, bright and brisk, but, above all, dry. The elements were considerably kinder than in the seniors' spring tournament of last year, wherein they fought a constant downpour at Oak Park.

Graduates to Class D

Scoring was generally high, the head man being a youngster from Edgewater, name of Charles Evans Jr. As a sort of valedictory performance for his graduation from class E, which he will attain on July 18, when he will reach 55 and thus become eligible for class D competition, Chick scamped around in 79, eight over Westmoreland's par.

Six prizes were awarded in each of the five classes—one for gross, four for net, and one for lowest putts. The classes follow: A for members 70 and over; B for 65 to 69, inclusive; C for 60 to 64, inclusive; D for 55 to 59, inclusive, and E for 50 to 54, inclusive.

The complete list, with gross first, the four nets second, and the putting prize third, follow:

Class A—N. Landon Hoyt, Indian Hill, 80—46—96; C. J. Bowman, Big Foot, 103—24—79; C. M. Case, Westmoreland, 98—17—81; Hiram D. Parge Sr., 108—25—83; Judge Le Roy Hackett, 101—18—83; Fred W. Hill Skokie, 27.

Cold Weather Keeps Cubs, Cardinals Idle

BY EDWARD BURNS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

St. Louis, Mo., June 5—On a quantity basis, Cub Manager Charley Grimm has about as many pitchers available to send against the Cardinals as he had chickens for the frying pan when he entertained the ball club and the midwest's champion trenchman coach, Smorgasbord Red Smith, at the nearby Grimm rural acreage today.

Following the cold weather postponement of tonight's inaugural of what was to be three successive nights of lamp-lit ball, Grimm had his choice of Paul Erickson or Bob Chipman for tomorrow's chores. And for the final of the set Thursday he had Paul Derringer, the team's top winner with six victories; Claude Passeau, Sunday's author of a two hitter, and Henry Wyse.

Then There's Warneke

Beyond that there was the additional, if questionable, help that showed up in the person of 36 year old Lon Warneke. The Arkansan, with the record of fine achievements in the championship thirties, joins up after more than a year's devotion to naval ordnance duties. Occasional pitching jobs, on a sort of glorified sandlot basis, kept Warneke's arm in such shape as to suggest he might aid in Cub relief chores.

Such success as the Cubs anticipate here is linked to what they construe to be a sharp drop off in Cardinal pitching quality. A rookie up from the Cards' Columbus farm, Jack Dalton Creel, is due to oppose the Chicagoans in the series opener and there's a certainty that the Cub baiters of other seasons, Max Lanier and Mort Cooper, won't be around to boo at Grimm's sometimes timid fellows.

Lanier has donned an army uniform since tripping the Cubs here, 6 to 2, on May 6. And Cooper, who abetted the Cardinal sweep of that May 6 double bill, has since transferred his talents and salary problems to Boston.

LIQUOR RACKET DETAILS READY FOR GRAND JURY

Much of It Is Traded for Meat, Charge

BY JAMES DOHERTY

Investigations by the Illinois liquor control commission indicate that wholesale liquor dealers are siphoning 45 million dollars a year out of the profits of the retail industry, it was disclosed yesterday. Chairman Charles J. Fleck and Secretary William J. Divine said they are preparing to offer to the federal grand jury evidence of strange racketeering practices in the liquor trade.

The state has uncovered indications that huge quantities of liquor are traded for food products, including meat, and that such practices enable the barterers to conceal profits and thereby cheat on income taxes, it was reported. Fleck said he would coöperate wholeheartedly with Assistant United States Atty. Francis J. McGreal, who is to handle the federal inquiry.

Attorney Has Information

McGreal already has information regarding the 450 retail liquor stores reputedly started up by wholesale liquor dealers in the last two years. At Fleck's office it was said his auditors have found that each of these places makes at least $100,000 a year profit.

One such business is operated by a girl, not yet 21, said a state official. This girl is credited on the company's books with receiving $100,000 profits in a year, a report to Secretary Devins disclosed.

Profit Cut to 21 Per Cent

Other state agents reported to Max Loeb, chief investigator of the liquor control commission, that the books of some of the "retail" stores show many large cash payments which the store owners blandly explain as repayments of loans made to start the business. Ben Maltz, president of the Wholesale Liquor Dealers association, said to Loeb: "There's nothing illegal in selling to my relatives and I intend to sell them all the liquor they can handle."

It was explained that originally the office of price administration allowed the retail liquor stores a 33⅓ per cent profit on all merchandise. However, after the floor tax of April, 1944, became effective, this permitted profit was reduced to about 21 per cent, said the state authorities.

May Go to Black Market

Reports to Loeb showed that on the books of some retail concerns the names of employes of wholesale houses were listed as recipients of large commissions. It was remarked that many of these sales represented liquor piled in cases in automobiles driven away from the stores.

"If that liquor hit the black market, there is no telling how much the profit on it was," one of the agents explained.

Another practice exposed by the state dealt with the so-called Christmas present liquor. Formerly the wholesale houses sold large quantities of holiday liquor to business concerns which usually passed it on to customers and friends as Christmas gifts.

Exchanged for Meat?

"That business has now been turned over to the favored retail houses," one report to Fleck explained. "A large west side concern is listed here as buying liquor to the extent of $10,000 from one of the retail houses."

Numerous similar transactions were said to have been uncovered and the state authorities said there is no bar to a retail house making wholesale sales provided the seller has a wholesaler's federal tax stamp. The investigators were seeking further proof that for many of the alleged "Christmas present sales" the payment was in meat, sugar, butter, or other hard to get products.

The state officials are more than sure that much of this "Christmas present" liquor goes to bootleggers, who are also dealing in hams, bacons, and steaks and who pay for their wet goods with the farm products—and there is no profit on which a tax is paid.

RAPE, ROBBERY GANG MEMBERS ARE CONVICTED

Three teen-aged members of a gang accused of 40 rapes and robberies on the west and northwest sides were found guilty on numerous charges yesterday by Judge Peter H. Schwaba in Criminal court.

Richard Gibbons, 17, of 331 S. Bell av., alleged leader of the band, was convicted on five charges of rape, three of larcenies, three of robbery, and one of malicious mischief.

Three convictions for rape, two for robbery, and one for larceny were entered against Eugene Messmore, 16, of 1901 Adams st. James Brown, 16, of 415 S. Oakley blvd., was found guilty of robbery and malicious mischief. Because of motions for probation, Judge Schwaba delayed sentencing until June 14. He warned, however that conviction for rape is not equal to probation.

Assistant State's Attorneys John Long and Theodore Kucewicz said they will demand a life sentence for Gibbons and 50 years for Messmore on the rape charges and will oppose probation in the other cases.

VOTE ON STRIKE OF GAS WORKERS SET FOR FRIDAY

More than 500 members of local 18007 of the Gas Workers' union [AFL], which includes some 1,300 production and maintenance employes of the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company, met last night in Carmen's hall, Van Buren st. and Ashland av., to receive instructions concerning a strike vote to be conducted Friday by the national labor relations board.

The vote is being taken under the provisions of the Smith-Connally act. James C. Fitzgerald, business manager of the local, said the 30 day waiting period provided in the act will end by midnight Saturday.

Company officials said that a strike would leave a million gas users in Chicago without service and that an adjustment of each meter would be necessary before service could be restored. Gas in storage, they said, is adequate for only 48 hours.

The union set the strike vote machinery in motion after the war labor board denied its demand for a 25 cent an hour increase in pay and a closed shop.

90 DRIVERS IDLE TAVERNS FACING BEER SHORTAGES

Hundreds of liquor stores and taverns that sell keg and bottle beer made by the Atlantic Brewing company and the Peter Fox Brewing company faced a shortage of the products last night in the breweries' dispute with members of the Keg and Bottle Beer Drivers' union [AFL].

Ray Schoessling, secretary-treasurer of the union, called a strike of 90 keg beer drivers earlier in the day because the two breweries refused to let drivers sell bottle beer at their own price, 23 per cent above the price set by companies. The two companies halted sales of bottle beer to the drivers Saturday.

Schoessling said members of the stationary engineers union and firemen and oilers' union employed at the breweries served notice of a sympathy strike effective at noon today unless the dispute with drivers is settled.

UNION PRINTERS TO JOIN STRIKERS AT DONNELLEY'S

Union printers decided last night to join the strike of union pressmen at R. R. Donnelley & Sons, 330 E. Cermak rd., at 8 a. m. today. The pressmen are demanding a union shop.

Part of the typographical union chapel voted 68 to 4 at a meeting in the Transportation building to respect the pressmen's picket line. Other members of the chapel also were to vote.

Other unions in the plant, including the photoengravers, mailers, and lithographers, were preparing to vote on respecting the pressmen's picket line. The pressmen's union said 1,100 employes were refraining from work. The company said it was continuing to operate, altho at a reduced capacity.

O. K.S $42,500 FEE TO EXECUTRIX OF HARDING ESTATE

Judge John F. O'Connell ruled yesterday in Probate court that Miss Jessie Katz, 5000 East End av., was entitled to $42,500 which she has withdrawn from the estate of George F. Harding, late Republican leader and former county treasurer, as fees for her duties as executrix.

Harding's daughter, Mrs. Mary H. Thompson, and his granddaughter, Miss Penelope H. Thompson, 18, both of Barrington, had protested the amount of the fees. Miss Thompson filed suit Saturday in Circuit court for an accounting of the estate and asking the removal of Miss Katz as executrix.

The action also asked that stocks and bonds with an estimated value of $1,200,000 be turned over to the estate from the George H. Harding collection, a nonprofit corporation formed in 1930, which operates a museum at 4853 Lake Park av.

The plant makes engines for B-29 Super Fortresses. The strike is the 178th work stoppage there since May 1, 1944. A. J. Eberhardy, international union representative, will head the union delegation, which will include Alex Stanulus, local president; Oliver Fortaw, bargaining committee chairman, and John Kelly and Ben Markunas. The group will make a report at 5 p. m. Friday at union headquarters, 3323 W. 63d st.

Assistant State's Atty. O. P. Lightfoot asked that the warrants be issued because Winston had refused to clear up transactions out of which the charges grew.

Lightfoot said the complainants and amounts they asserted they lost in transactions with Winston were Joseph Nicholson, 244 Pearson st., $4,000; Mrs. A. B. Martin of the same address, $2,500; Morton E. Harris, 1407 E. 53rd st., $1,000, and Karin E. Walsh, 111 Washington st., $2,000.

CAPTURED PILOT HOME IN TIME; WEDS TUESDAY

Flight Officer Jack A. Michels, 23, of 3572 Lyndale st., spent nearly nine months in a German prison camp buoyed up by the hope that he would get back in time to marry his sweetheart after her graduation from Northwestern university this month. On April 29, Gen. Patton's army overran the camp and set him free. Still, with army regulations to observe, it was a race against army and academic time.

Yesterday, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Cohn, 6832 Merrill av., announced that their daughter, Beryl, 22, will marry Michels after her graduation from the Northwestern university art school next Tuesday. Michels, who celebrated his 23d birthday Monday, was shot down last August while piloting a Liberator bomber over Germany. FIND 2¾ BILLION BUYING READY IN CHICAGOLAND

Tribune Surveys Peace Demand

BY THOMAS FURLONG

Urban families in the Chicagoland area are ready to spent 2¾ billion dollars when the war ends to satisfy pent-up demand for new homes, automobiles, household appliances, and other goods. This estimate is based on a comprehensive study made by The Tribune business survey department. The study included a poll of 10,029 families in which 2½ million questions were answered.

The results of the survey provide the first adequate report on the extent of the public demand for goods that have been unobtainable for most people under war conditions.

The study made clear not only that there is an enormous public demand for such goods, but that people have the funds with which to finance their purchases as a result of record savings accumulated during the war.

About 5 Per Cent in Chicago Area

Savings of individuals in the United States since 1940 have increased 120 billion dollars, according to government estimates. About one-third of the total is invested in government securities, another third is represented by currency and bank deposits, and the remainder consists of other liquid savings. It was estimated that about 5 per cent of the total, or 6 billion dollars of the increased savings, is held by individals in the urban centers covered by The Tribune survey.

How will this money be spent?

The survey's results make plain that individuals have definite ideas on the ways in which they will use their savings. The big question mark is the speed with which industry gets back into civilian production and the extent to which the public will be forced to draw on savings to finance ordinary living expenses in the transition period.

The articles for which families propose to spend the most are not necessarily those which will be bought first, the studies made clear. For example, the families canvassed recorded their intention to spend most on home construction, remodeling, and automobiles. Among the first articles to be purchased, however, are such homely household appliances as washing machines and vacuum cleaners.

Home Construction Leads

How Chicago area families will allocate their purchases in the first year after the war among durable goods is shown below:

Home construction	$1,383,000,000
Automobile	606,059,328
Remodeling—home	174,569,000
Living room furniture	82,517,000
Mechanical refrigerator	62,860,904
Electric washing machine	49,567,147
Bedroom furniture	40,390,000
Combination radio-phonograph	35,619,256
Home radio	34,272,343
Dining room furniture	33,174,000
Television	34,067,000
Gas stove	31,851,396
Airplane	30,214,000
Electric vacuum cleaner	24,772,647
Piano	23,482,000
Coal stoker	18,798,911
Electric sewing machine	15,974,000
Electric stove	14,734,600

The indicated purchases in the first year of peace were figured by projecting the data received in the 10,029 interviews that yielded answers to 2½ million specific inquiries.

The survey made for THE TRIBUNE was confined to population centers of 2,500 or more in 242 counties in five states. Of the 2,232,363 families in these centers, 1,224,565 live in metropolitan Chicago.

[Other data developed by the survey will be presented in subsequent articles.]

Sale of Shoes at High Level, Inventory Low

Chicago shoe stores are doing a volume of business equal to or exceeding pre-war levels despite far smaller inventories, leading store representatives said yesterday. Inventories were estimated at 30 to 60 per cent of peace time stocks on the shelves.

The two principal reasons for the booming business are the high level employment and pay rolls and the desire of many persons to buy all the shoes for which they have coupons because they believe they may not be able to get shoes needed in the future.

One store operator said the tendency is to buy more expensive shoes in the hope of getting more wear from the higher priced lines. However, medium priced shoes are selling as well as the more expensive.

Deplores Excited Rush

Another spokesman said statements from Washington that the military services are taking large quantities of shoes always start a buyers' rush that disrupts business. The announcement by Under Secretary of War Patterson that the army would need 30,986,000 pairs this year started a buying movement this week that taxed the capacity of stores.

"We wish the public would not get excited at every Washington report," one store manager said. "If people who do not need shoes would delay their purchases every one would gain."

An increased number of non-rationed shoes available has helped the situation, merchants said. These are largely play shoes made with cloth or fabric sides and plastic soles and are specially suited for summer wear.

Adolph A. Kotzin, president of the Chicago Shoe Manufacturers' association, said the reduced number of lasts, styles, and colors has enabled retailers to operate with much smaller inventories.

Explains Stock Changes

"Before the war retailers carried large stocks of shoes to meet every kind of demand from the public," he explained. "Reducing the varieties enables the retailer to reduce his over-all stock and at the same time pretty well fill the public's need. For example a store that before the war carried 2,000 units finds that it can get along with 1,000 units."

Kotzin said the situation has been made a little more favorable by the prospects that tanneries will obtain a higher priority for labor which should increase leather production. However, no large rise in shoe production can be expected until the Japanese war ends.

The representative of a large shoe company said it probably would be two years after restrictions have been lifted before stores' stocks return to a pre-war basis.

TRUMAN URGES HOUSE TO PASS MONEY SCHEME

'Swindle' Attacked by Rep. Sumner

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., June 5—President Truman urged congress to give bipartisan support to the proposed Bretton Woods 18 billion dollar world financial establishment as debate opened in the house today.

Chairman Spence [D., Ky.] of the house banking committee read the letter from Mr. Truman indorsing the program. Meanwhile, Rep. Sumner [R., Ill.] attacked the proposal in a speech as "the worst swindle in world history."

Miss Sumner, who opposed the measure in the banking committee, asserted the proposed world money setup, to which the United States would contribute nearly 6 billion dollars, would permit other nations to "unload" billions in debts by borrowing dollars contributed to the international organization by this country.

Assailed as War Breeder

"Such loans may never be repaid," said Miss Sumner, "but the United States will be asked to pay and pay and pay, billions upon billions after the first 6 billions. It is a war breeding scheme. It will create ill will and stifle foreign trade thru artificial manipulation by foreign countries that will outvote us on the international board of directors."

Mr. Truman wrote he was confident the legislation authorizing participation in the plan would be enacted, but that he was almost equally interested in having it passed with "bipartisan support." He praised the banking committee for its near unanimous approval, 23 to 3.

"Let us hope and pray," said Mr. Truman, "that the example set by your committee will become the pattern for American participation in international economic and security coöperation."

Bank and Fund Provided

The plan, drafted by representatives of 44 nations last summer, calls for a 9 billion 100 million dollar world bank and an 8 billion 800 million monetary fund. The bank would make loans to member nations for relief and reconstruction and the fund would advance money to help stabilize currencies.

Rep. Wolcott [R., Mich.], ranking minority member of the banking committee, said he supported the plan with the safeguarding amendment seeking to prevent diversion of "stabilization" loans to reconstruction projects.

The proviso is in the nature of an interpretation by congress and is not binding unless accepted by the international fund directors.

Wolcott read a letter in which former Rep. Charles Dewey [R., Ill.] said he would vote for the plan if he had not been defeated for reëlection. Wolcott and Dewey both were delegates at Bretton Woods.

SENATE GROUP ENDS HEARING ON TRADE PACT BILL

Washington, D. C., June 5 (AP)—The closely divided senate finance committee concluded hearings tonight on the reciprocal trade extension program with an administration assurance of protection for American agriculture.

Rep. Clinton Anderson [D., N. M.], designated as President Truman's new secretary of agriculture, pledged that he would look after the interests of agriculture in negotiations of trade pacts under the reciprocal program.

The committee begins executive session consideration tomorrow of the house approved legislation to extend for three years present governmental authority to cut import duties as much as 50 per cent below Hanley-Smoot tariff rates of 1930. A proposed additional power to reduce rates by as much as another 50 per cent, or 75 per cent from the 1930 level, is doubtful of committee approval.

Penalize May Corn Defaults 1¼c a Bushel

Grain traders who defaulted May [1945] corn contracts aggregating more than a million bushels yesterday were penalized 1¼ cents a bushel on contracts not liquidated by May 31. Directors of the Chicago Board of Trade ruled the contracts should be settled at $1.19¾ a bushel. The ceiling price on all corn futures is $1.18½.

Trading in the May contracts ended May 22. In the remaining seven days of business in May traders made deliveries of 69,000 bushels of corn. Uncompleted contracts amounted to 1,149,000 bushels at the close of business May 31.

Wheat Weak; Others Mixed

Wheat futures yesterday closed unchanged to 1 cent a bushel lower, reflecting hedging against large wheat receipts in the southwest and disappointment over failures of mills to buy futures after large flour sales to the army. July at one time sold 1⅛ below its top price on speculative selling by large export houses.

Other grains were irregular, corn closing unchanged to ⅝ higher, oats ¼ to ⅜ lower, and rye ⅛ lower to ¼ higher.

Mills were on both sides of the wheat trade, buying moderately late in the session after early hedging of new wheat purchases. A small rally was based on a private crop report showing a loss of about 4½ million bushels of winter wheat since the last government report.

Rye Volume Is Small

The volume of trading in rye was small. The grain apparently has lost its speculative appeal pending the outcome of recent government charges of a rye corner on the 1944 May option. In Winnipeg rye fell 4⅝ at one time.

Both July and September corn sold at the ceiling, tho little July wheat was offered.

OFFERS TO BUY 39 S. LA SALLE FOR 1.2 MILLION

An offer of $1,200,000 was submitted yesterday by the Sodak company, a new Illinois corporation, for the 14 story 39 S. La Salle st. building, formerly the New York Life building. The property is owned by holders of 2,750 land trust certificates of $1,000 par value of the New York Life Building Land trust, for which the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company is trustee.

A letter to certificate owners said the sale would be approved unless more than 50 per cent of them object in writing within 10 days. Robert White & Co., building manager, represented the prospective sellers and Fred Breitling and L. J. Sheridan & Co., represented Sodak.

RECEIPTS RISE, PRICES STEADY ON LIVE STOCK

Farmers moved more meat animals into the Chicago stock yards yesterday, but heavy demand absorbed the supply at little change in price levels. Hog receipts were 15,000 head, including shipments direct to packers, the biggest Tuesday total since February tho less than half the year ago volume. Prices held at ceilings.

Receipts of cattle were 7,500 head, the largest for a Tuesday since May 1, swelling the two day volume to 29,100, heaviest Monday and Tuesday receipts since the middle of March. Buyers were slow in bidding, but paid steady prices. Sheep and lambs also were mostly steady.

INDICATE TAX 'BREAK' ON COST DEDUCTIONS DURING RECONVERSION

Washington, D. C., June 5 (AP)—War contractors reconverting to peace time production may get a break on their taxes, a memorandum by Joseph D. Nunan Jr., internal revenue commissioner, indicated today in an interpretation of the procedure for determining which reconversion cost items are to be capitalized and which are to be considered current expenses in filing income tax returns. Deductions on capital items must extend over a period of years rather than be taken currently.

Department spokesmen said the memorandum, to guide war contractors and internal revenue employes, did not constitute a change in laws, but that the prospect was for "greater leniency" in distinguishing between capital and current expenditures than before the war.

Higher Prices Urged to Lift Meat Supply

A program designed to increase the production of beef and pork was offered yesterday by the joint live stock committee, representing 134 live stock groups. Increased ceiling prices paid to producers was the principal suggestion.

The committee issued its recommendations at the end of a two day meeting in the Hotel Sherman. It asserted continuance of present government cattle regulations would mean less rather than more beef.

Would Limit Price Rule

Its program for cattle follows:

1. Extend the price control act for not more than six months after June 30, 1945.
2. Remove overriding ceiling on live cattle [now $18 a hundred pounds].
3. Increase the compliance maximum price on AA and A grades of cattle at least 50 cents.
4. Increase ceiling prices on AA and A grades of beef to get more heavy tonnage from the feedlots.

The committee recommended much the same action to increase pork production. It asked that the present minimum price floor of $13 apply to all good and choice butcher hogs from 160 pounds up.

Asks Floor Enforcement

To help maintain the $13 floor price, the committee proposed that when a packer's monthly average drove cost falls below $14 a hundred pounds, the packer should lose 2 cents of his subsidy for every 1 cent he paid below $14.

It also asked that the present ceiling price of $14.75 be increased to $15 for all weights of good and choice butcher hogs, and remain at $14 for sows and stags. It asked extension of the guarantee that prices will not be lowered before Sept. 1, 1946, to Dec. 31.

The committee said study should be made now of a method of gradually reducing subsidies when meat supplies and prices are favorable. The use of subsidies was strongly criticized.

Standard Oil Unit Beats Toluene Output Schedule

Since September, 1943, Standard Oil company [Indiana] has produced 29½ million gallons of toluene, enough for 500,000 tons of bombs, Robert Wilson, chairman, said yesterday. The new toluene plant in Whiting completed production under its first contract with the ordnance department nine months ahead of schedule.

HART, SCHAFFNER & MARX

Please give me information on Hart, Schaffner & Marx earnings. How does the price range on the New York Stock exchange compare with the former over the counter quotations?—N. E.

Since listing last March, the stock of this large manufacturer of men's clothing has ranged from 30 to above 37. Earlier this year it was quoted over the counter as low as 26½ bid, and during 1944 the approximate price range as adjusted to the present split stock was 19½ to 30. The old stock, for which two and one-half shares of $10 par were exchanged for each share in March, 1944, was quoted during 1943 as high as 54½ and as low as 15 [equal to 6 for the present issue].

The company's profits since 1940 have been well above the immediate pre-war average. As adjusted for the stock split, the share earnings for fiscal years ended Nov. 30 were: 1944, $3.91; 1943, $4.59; 1942, $4.19; 1941, $2.52; 1940, $1.32. For the five years ended with 1939 the profit averaged about 58 cents a share, allowing for a net loss in 1938. The present dividend rate is 40 cents quarterly.

Hart, Schaffner & Marx has no funded debt or preferred stock. Net working capital as of last Nov. 30 was $12,044,881, and the tangible book value of the stock was a little under $38 a share. On an earnings basis the stock is high in relation to the peace time record, but is reasonably priced if it can be assumed that earnings over the long term will continue near the recent level. The early post-war outlook for clothing sales is favorable.

AIRCRAFTS RISE IN IRREGULAR STOCK MARKET

Motors, Most Rail Issues Decline

New York, June 5 (AP)—Aircrafts led a specialized advance in today's stock market altho many leaders in almost all other groups exhibited weakness.

The aviation group was higher from the start as talk of big domestic and foreign transport orders, coupled with persistent demand for military planes, attracted bidders. Steels enjoyed a morning flurry but faltered. Most rails dipped, as did motors, mail orders, and scattered utilities. Closing prices were well mixed.

Numerous pleasing dividends aided sentiment, and post-war optimism continued, but many potential buyers held back in the belief a sizable technical correction was overdue.

Average Is Lower

The Associated Press 60 stock average was off 0.1 at 66.2. Dealings were fast at intervals but slowed after mid-day. Transfers totaled 1,510,000 shares compared with 1,540,000 yesterday.

At peaks for 1945 and longer were Douglas Aircraft, up 3⅝ at 84¼; Delaware and Hudson, up 3 at 53; Grumman, up 2⅜ at 38⅝; Consolidated Vultee, up ⅝; Aviation, up ¼, and Wilson up 1.

United States Steel closed up ⅝; Bethlehem unchanged, and Youngstown Sheet, ⅛ lower. Modest advances were retained by Standard Oil [N. J.], American Woolen, International Harvester, Boeing, Lockheed, Houston Oil, du Pont, Texas company, and American Telephone.

RAIL, UTILITY BONDS UP

New York, June 5 (AP).—Rails and utilities made moderate progress in today's bond market, but the main corporate list again drifted. A better demand for quality issues kept the high priced division steady and some attained new peaks for recent years. Sales were $9,070,000, compared with $6,780,000 yesterday.

New Haven convertible 6s, 4s and 4½s rose major fractions to more than a point in late dealings. Norfolk Southern 4½s extended an earlier gain to 2 points, and Milwaukee 5s of 1975 made a new top at 99¼ but gave up a little of the gain.

CHICAGO LIST UNEVEN

Prices were mixed on a 45,000 share turnover on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday. Volume leaders included City Service, up 1⅜ at a new 1945 high. Armour & Co. and Curtiss-Wright advanced fractions, and Commonwealth Edison and Libby McNeill & Libby were unchanged. Swift International rose 1¼.

CATTLE FEEDER SUBSIDY WILL BE PAID THRU BANKS

Washington, D. C., June 5 (AP)—Cattle feeders will receive recently announced subsidy payments directly from their local banks, the war food administration said today. It is the first meat subsidy to be handled in this manner.

The payments of 50 cents a live hundredweight for good and choice cattle averaging 800 pounds or more is designed to encourage farmers to feed more cattle to heavier weights and to improve distribution by directing more cattle to authorized slaughterers.

Eligible feeders will receive their payments for sales since May 18 thru sight drafts which may be redeemed immediately at local banks. The drafts will be issued by county agricultural adjustment agency offices on the account of the Commodity Credit corporation.

Illinois Board Clears Public Traction Plan

BY WILLIAM SHINNICK

The Illinois commerce commission at Springfield yesterday announced an opinion giving qualified approval of the Chicago metropolitan transit authority traction plan, which was adopted in a referendum Monday. The opinion, requested by Judge Michael L. Igoe of the federal District court, dealt with the public interest and the fairness of the plan.

In the same opinion, the commission held that the so-called trustees plan, which would unify the surface and elevated lines under private ownership, would not be strong enough financially to modernize the Chicago traction properties.

The commission, however, said it appeared likely the surface lines alone could be reorganized separately and furnish an attractive service, but added this was not true of the elevated system nor of any combination of the companies.

Prefers Private Enterprise

In discussing the metro plan of public ownership, the commission affirmed its belief in private enterprise under state regulation as the best system for utility operations in general. It then said the "realities of the situation" point to public ownership of the traction properties as the best Chicago solution.

One cogent reason mentioned was that federal tax policies, making public corporations exempt from income and excess profits, favored such companies and allowed them to spend for improvements and operations money that private firms must lay aside for taxation.

The opinion suggested that the authority should not be permitted to discontinue any service being rendered to Chicago suburbs unless empowered to do so by the commission.

Fairness Held Undetermined

Discussing the fairness of the city offer of 87 million dollars for the properties, the commission said many factors would have to be weighed to reach final judgment and that the feasibility of the proposal "may be determined by the willingness of the security holders to accept the offer and the ability of the city to obtain the funds required to carry thru its offer."

The trustees plan, a revamping of the old unification plan of 1942, which was rejected by the commission, was reported even less likely to do the rehabilitation job than the older plan of reorganization under private ownership.

Judge Igoe had asked the advice of the commission, as required by the bankruptcy law, but is not bound to accept its finding.

The next step in the traction question, it was said, would be the appointment of a board to govern the metro authority. Mayor Kelly is to appoint four and Gov. Green three. Each is to receive $15,000 a year salary and the board may vote more to the chairman it elects from its membership.

STOCKHOLDERS PAY 10.8 MILLION ON BANK'S LOAN

Charles H. Albers, receiver for the Central Republic Trust company, reported to Federal Judge Igoe yesterday the collection of $10,834,170 from stockholders under the Illinois double liability statute. The company is the liquidating shell for the old Central Republic Bank and Trust company which received the 90 million dollar "Dawes loan" from the Reconstruction Finance corporation in June, 1932.

Albers said his receivership also produced earnings of $453,639 in excess of expenses, yielding $11,287,000 to the RFC on behalf of stockholders.

When accounts finally are closed, the RFC will have received about 100 millions on the 90 million loan, the difference representing interest approximating 2½ per cent. The stockholders' liability was established in court at 14 millions.

MAY PRODUCTION OF BUTTER SETS LOW SINCE 1928

Washington, D. C., June 5 (AP)—Butter production in May was about 6 per cent less than the 173 million pound output in May, 1944, and the lowest since 1928, the war food administration said today.

Consumer demand continued low because of the 24 point per pound ration requirement. Fifty-five per cent of the May production was set aside for government purchase.

STANDARD OIL PLANS REBUILT UNITS IN EUROPE

Tells War Damage in France, Italy

Flemington, N. J., June 5 (AP)—Properties of the Standard Oil company [New Jersey] in France and Italy were heavily damaged during the European war, but present indications are that the company's European holdings eventually can be restored to operation, Ralph W. Gallagher, chairman, said at the annual stockholders' meeting today.

In France the lubricating blending plant at Rouen was destroyed. The refinery at Port Jerome, in which the company has an important interest, was 40 per cent destroyed, partly by bombs and further by removal of equipment by the Germans.

"Of particular interest there," said Gallagher, "were the signs of the apparently desperate need of the Germans for steel. They broke up concrete blocks to get the reinforcing steel and even sawed off foundation bolts down to the level of the concrete footings."

Helped Blast Own Property

In Hungary where Standard had just started a substantial producing operation prior to the war the Germans apparently were able to increase output beyond pre-war levels.

Definite information from Italy has been scant, but Gallagher said company properties apparently were damaged substantially by bombing. Information from Rumania has been meager but "we have hope that our producing properties there are in reasonably good condition."

"Heavy damage was suffered by the refinery at Ploesti," he said, "but this is not surprising as we coöperated actively with the army air forces there, as elsewhere thru Europe, in providing detailed information regarding the location and vulnerability of our facilities.

Earning About Steady

"Taken as a whole it would appear that our properties in Europe can be restored to operation. Financial reserves set aside for the reconstruction of our properties in the European area seem adequate."

The company has no new advice about the large refinery at Palembang, Sumatra, in which it has a 50 per cent interest and which was largely destroyed by its personnel as the Japs approached.

Gallagher reported Standard long had been operating at capacity in all branches and that still heavier demands were to be expected as the war shifted to the Pacific in force. Earnings in the first half of 1945 were about equal to those in the last half of 1944 which exceeded 80 million dollars.

Gallagher said 90 per cent of former employes discharged from military service had returned to the company.

U. S. PLYWOOD HIKES DIVIDEND ON NEW STOCK

The United States Plywood corporation yesterday declared a quarterly dividend of 20 cents, placing the new common stock on an 80 cents annual basis. Prior to a recent 2 for 1 split, payments had been on a $1.20 annual basis since 1940, equal to 60 cents on the new stock.

Two quarterly dividends of 20 cents each were authorized by Consolidated Retail Stores. Its previous payment this year was 15 cents, the same as in the first three quarters last year, when the final quarter disbursement was 25 cents.
